THE JOHNSON PIONEERS OF THE WEST

WE BELIEVE THAT THIS JOHNSON FAMILY:
Is the largest family in the world with a written record.
Is the oldest family of Johnsons in the L.D.S. Church.
Has made a record as Pioneers and Colonizers of Western America that will never be duplicated.

Ezekiel Johnson, born January 12, 1776 at Uxbridge, Massachusetts. Married Julia Hills, January 12, 1801. Died January 12, 1848 at Nauvoo, Illinois. Julia Hill, born January 26, 1783 at Upton, Massachusetts. Married to Ezekiel Johnson, January 12 1801. Died May 30, 1853 at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

THE JOHNSON PIONEERS OF THE WEST

"The Big Book"

Rolla V. Johnson (#j526), compiler

It was my father, Milas E. Johnson (#jl25), of Huntington, Utah, who started this great collection of family records and it was he who first called it, "The Big Book." I have been able to make a lot of additions since his death but there are many lines which have not been extended since about 1920.

We have between 2500 and 3000 family records, each on a separate sheet. In most cases the record is complete with date and place of birth, date of death and place of burial, date and place of marriage, to whom married and the father and mother of the bride or groom. It is not a Temple Record, but a Family Record, therefore we have not asked for ordinance dates.

We have however, asked for and received several brief life histories of our older relatives. In these papers we have welcomed dates in connection with promotion to church offices; bishop, stake president, patriarch, etc., as well as baptism dates of those who joined the church at an early time, also civic offices held like, mayor, congress or legislative representatives, club offices, etc., and we have asked how many homes each couple has built which would show pioneering. In some cases this information has been written on the back of the FG sheet.

The Big Book is not limited to the "Five Brothers." We hope that we can find and record all the descendents of Ezekiel and Julia (Hills) Johnson wherever they may be. There is such a duplication of names that a number must be given to each descendent, in order to give him proper identification. My job from the start was the numbering and cataloging. You can readily see that we cannot number the next generation until after the previous one has been numbered. I have gone about as far as I can go without more information. Some of the FG sheets that I have show only the older which in most cases was about 1920.

Will you, my cousins, who are interested in the success of this project, help by sending the records of your families since that time? For children it is not necessary to send in another complete FG sheet; just a list of the children with their date and place of birth or of death. They must of course, be identified with the right parent's names. Any marriages that have been consumated since that time should be reported on a new FG sheet completely filled out to show the parents, of each parent, and children.

The newly-adopted Church Temple Record will, with a slight change, make a good Family Record. We do not need the ordinance data but we do need "Where Married" and "where Buried" therefore just divide the 3 ordinance columns into 2 parts with a line drawn down through the "endowment" column. At the top on the left of your line, write "married where" and on the right of your line at the head, write "buried where." Of course "where died" is also acceptable but when one dies in a hospital where he is far from home it is not as good as the burial information.

My experience with genealogical research has confirmed my belief that the death date and the place of burial are the most important, if any one can be more important, for it is about the last that we can do for a loved one. In the years to come, this record may be their only monument. Help us to give them this honor.

For all of the Johnson surname whose fathers and grandfathers were descendents of Ezekiel, we have used the standard numbering system. It works well and is easy to follow with a single family name. An extension of this system has been worked out for the numerous allied surnames like: Sherman, LeBaron, Babbitt, Martiniau, Wilson, Shumway, Eager, Smith, Richards, Openshaw, Pickett, Carlton, Wingate, Laws, Bay, Tucker, Wakefield, Jones, Newell, Morrill, et al., which shows the descent from the Johnson line and the connection therewith. These numbers, however, get more bulky with each generation so the sensible thing to do is to get this family record published as early as possible. When you get used to the numbering system you will like it for it will show almost at a glance, the relationship of the two numbers compared.

Here is how it works. Each allied number starts with the Johnson number of the girl who first married the man with the allied surname. For example: #5 Delcena D. Johnson M. Lyman R. Sherman. Their 7th child was #5S7 Susan Julia Sherman M. J.H. Martineau. All the Sherman descendents use the index number 6S which shows that they are descendents of a Johnson girl who married a man whose surname had the initial S. All the Martineaux use the same index number plus 7M. There is an exception to this rule if a Martineau marries a Johnson girl farther down the line which will be explained another time.

More examples: #6L11B5 Earl H. Bay was a descendent of #16 Esther Meleta Johnson m. D.T. LeBaron; whose 11th child #16L11 Eva LeBaron m. J.W. Bay; they were the parents of several children the 5th of whom was #16L11B5 Earl H. Bay. Only the descendents of Ezekiel Johnson have numbers. When the married sign, (#) is placed before the number, then both husband and wife use the same number as a team. Here are a few other numbers for your interest: #348 Hyrum J. and Irene Riggs; #144P3C3 Eva C. and Loyde Mackay; (Their oldest child whose record they must send to me, will before marriage, have the number 144P3C3M1. After marriage the number will be #144P3C3M1. #144P2H2 Arvilla Tucker is much like Eva's for they are cousins and their mothers #144P3 and #144P2 were twin sisters, Effie and Eva Pulsipher (no wonder they work so well together). #144P2H2T1 Clyde C. Tucker has another generation added on to his mother's number. #269 Leona Jolley; 533 Mildred Johnson (M.E.-G.W.-Ez) The initials in parenthesis is called a lineal descent from the oldest known ancestor.

In some of the early issues of the BULLETIN we will publish all the numbers so you may know what yours is, but if you wish to know sooner, just to be helpful, fill out a family group sheet with your name on it either as a child, as a parent or as a grandparent. Send it with a self addressed envelope, stamped or a post card, to Rolla V. Johnson, 624 Lake Street, Reno, Nevada. We would also like to know who would like to be assistant compilers and what records you will be able to help gather. Let us know.

Now, Zeke and his wife, Julia Hills,
Surely made history.
Of sixteen children born to them
One died in infancy.
Those fifteen others all survived
Their childhood aches and pains:
And nine reached full maturity
And treked on across the plains.

While Zeke was looking for more land,
His family joined the church.
Tradition says it roused his ire
To be left in the lurch.
They say he never shed his huff
Until the day he died;
But his posterity, today,
All look on him with pride.

Old Betsy was his shotgun's name.
He kept her oiled and near.
His enemies respected Zeke
And feared that gun so dear.
When painted men the Prophet sought,
Zeke grimly faced that mob.
"It's safer, men, if you move on.
Old Betsy's on the job!

One hundred years since Julia died.
Oh, my, how things have changed.
No Indians ride those dusty trails.
Wheat grows where wild bull ranged.
A mighty caravan.
Today our Johnson tribe could match
That army, man for man.

EZEKIEL JOHNSON

Boyhood and Marriage

by

Rolla V. Johnson

Ezekiel Johnson was born in Uxbridge, Massachusetts, January 12th 1776, as the family record states, and there is no other record of his birth available to us. The Uxbridge Vital Record does not mention it, for the reason that it does not mention anything for a period of years, including 1776. There is no explanation for the loss, just a void. Whether the boy grew up thinking that King was his father and ran away about the time that he was told the truth, or whether he was told distasteful things that made him dishonor his father because he was ashamed of him; whether his dislike for his father was due to the fact that he deserted his mother and himself and went to war; whether all or none of these; he refused to talk about his father except to say that he was killed in the Revolutionary War and that he had never seen him.

His mother's name was Sethiah Garnsy. He knew that, and he remembered it because it was the signature on one of the documents in the purse that he carried. He could remember his stepfather for many things but there was no need of forgetting his name either, for it was the name stamped on the purse, "James King." The date on the purse did not mean anything for it was something to do with his stepfather and should therefore be forgotten, if possible.

An old pocket book with the name, "James King," stamped on one side, and the date, "April 1742," stamped on the other side, together with its contents, documents with dates, places and signatures, has come down to us from the past. The wallet was made of rawhide and the name and date were stamped in gold leaf. The documents are faded with age and partly illegible, but the purse and its contents bear out the story that was told by Ezekiel Johnson to his children. He said that he didn't know his father for he had never seen him. His father had gone to the Revolutionary War before he was born, shortly after marrying his mother; that he did not even know his name for he had never heard it. In short he had never had a father; only a stepfather, and he did not have any use for either.

He disliked that man so thoroughly and completely, that he could tear himself away from his mother and all that was dear to him in order to be removed from his hated stepfather. He told his children that his chance to escape came when he was sent to a neighbor's with the old purse to collect an account due the head of the household; that instead of returning to the abuse and rough treatment of his childhood, he kept on going and separated himself from his home farther at every step; that he had never seen his mother since and for years knew nothing of her. In fact he did not return to the neighborhood until many years afterwards, and when he did hear from her again it was only the report of the neighbors, who told him that she had gone with his stepfather across the river into Canada. He undoubtedly collected the money to use it to his advantage.

He would have conferred a great favor upon his thousands of descendants if he had written his father's name on something and left it in the old rawhide pocketbook. But so far as is known, he did not write anything for his posterity or for anybody else. It is probable that he couldn't write for he ran away from home at a time when he should have been in school, and it is doubtful if he ever attended school at all.

Where he went and what he did from the time he left his mother until the year 1797 is a complete mystery, but there are notes in the old pocket book dated at Albany, New York, March the 1st and March 2nd of that year which show that one, John Pilling, promies to pay to Ezekiel Johnson the sum of thirty pounds, five shillings on December 1st next; another given by Peter Jasbrough, promises to pay Ezekiel Johnson, the sum of twenty-five pounds, five shillings and six-pence within three months. On the 11th of November of the same year, three notes were made and signed by one Caleb Noble of Floyd (state not mentioned) one for fifteen dollars is to be paid in cash or grain by March next; the other two were each for twelve cow bells worth twelve shillings per bell with interest, also to be paid by March 1st next. The fact that he sold twenty-four cowbells to the same fellow and took notes for the same, gives the inference that Ezekiel was in the cowbell business.

From the notes we learn that our progenitor was rather a thrifty young man and had a nice tidy sum coming to him in his twenty-first year. Whether or not he was already acquainted with a certain young lady by the name of Julia Hills, who was living with her mother in Grafton, Massachusetts, and was laying away a little cash for his future marriage, we do not know, but the following year, the intention of their marriage is recorded in Grafton on December 19th 1800 and they were married there January 12th, 1801 on his twenty-fifth birthday. Julia had become 17 years of age on the 26th of September previous. We don't know if he collected on the notes or not, but we think not, for they were not surrendered nor were they marked "paid in full" and our guess is that it was a long walk back to Albany and Floyd (New York) where he would have to have gone if he had collected on them. His wedding would certainly have been merrier with that money and those cowbells.

"Westward Ho!"

The sojourn of Ezekiel Johnson and his wife Julia, at Grafton, Mass. did not continue long after the birth of their first son, 1802 March 23rd, whom they named Joel Hills after Julia's brother. The little family began what eventually became a series of long treks and short stops. The record of the births of their children furnishes a good part of the information by which their trail is marked. Their second child, a daughter, was born 1803 August 7th at Northborough, Mass. They gave her the name of Nancy Maria. Nancy was the name of Julia's sister who was the wife of George Washington Taft. We have not been able to learn why she was given her second name, Maria. They could not have remained long at Northbourough for long as their third child was born 1805 Feb. 14th at Royalton, Mass. He was named Seth Guernsey in honor of Ezekiel's maternal grandfather. The next child was born at Westford, Vermont. 1806 November 19th. They gave her the name of Delcena Diadamia. We are not informed as to where they obtained the name of Delcena, but Diadamia Forbush was Julia's half sister who eventually married Antipearce Wheeler. This half sister was greatly loved by Julia and through their later correspondence we get some of the valuable family history.

They remained at Westford for about seven years. Ezekiel worked at his carpentry trade, building cabins for the new settlers and helping clear the timber from farming land.

Two more daughters and a son were born to them while they lived at Westford; Julia Ann, November 9th, 1808. Julia for her mother, the Ann not accounted for. David who was named for Julia's cousin, David Partridge, was born September 10th, 1810. Almira Woodward born Oct. 12th 1812 named after Julia's cousin and playmate, Almira, the daughter of Lois Woodward.

Julia's brother, Joel, who had married his cousin, Rhoda Partridge, moved into Canada, but because of the loyalty to the United States, he forfeited all his property and holdings and returned to the states when the War of 1812 broke out. He visited Ezekiel and Julia at Westford, Vermont. He told them that he was traveling to Cincinnati, where Julia's sister, Nancy (Ellis) Taft was living with her husband and family. The son, Joel Hills was permitted to travel with his uncle who upon arriving at Cincinnati, selected a place to settle just across the Ohio River at Newport, Kentucky. Ezekiel left his family at Pomphret, went to Cincinnati, looked over the country, was not satisfied, so he and Joel, then almost 13 years old made the five hundred mile journey on foot through new and heavily timbered wilderness and joined the family at Pomphret, New York, about the 1st of June 1815, and Joel saw for the first time his baby sister, Susan Ellen, who was born the 16th December 1814 at Pomphret, New York.

On the 27th of June 1813 they left Westford, Vermont and started again for the west. The next halt along the trail of which we have any record was a little town in Chataque County, New York, which is no longer to be found on the map, called Pomphret. Fortunately a letter has come down to us from the long age, written by Julia to her mother, Esther (Ellis) Hills Forbush, who still lived at the old home town, Grafton, Mass. The letter is dated October 13th, 1814 and reads as follows:

My dear Mother: After my love to you, I would inform you of our welfare, and hope these few lines will find you in health and prosperity. Through our journey we have been blest with health and we are now all well and hearty. We started from Westford, Vermont on the 27th June and came on over some one hundred miles and one of our horses became lame and we laid by for a week. We then came awhile but was obliged to stop again for three or four days, and then come on as far as Hamburg, this side of Buffalo where we stopped about seven weeks. I was very discontented there, yet the people urged us to stay. They gave Mr. Johnson one dollar a day with house rent, garden vegetables, milk etc. He thought it was best to stay until our horses got recruited up and we got rested, as he had the money for his work, But I could not be contented to stay any longer for there was no neighbors short of about two miles, and all Sabbath breakers and I could not feel at home there. We started from there on the 24th day of September, and was four days coming to this place on account of bad roads. This is a beautiful Country and we have concluded to stay here until spring if not longer. (They built a house on block 21.) Mr. Johnson intends to go on himself and see the country before he moves his family any further for fear he would not like it so well as he does here.

There are many moving to the west, some days ten or twelve wagons in company and some have come back to this place. This country is very healthy indeed and good for grain which is plenty and cheap, markets at present are distant. Such corn I never saw before as I have seen here. It is only seven years since the first settlements were made here. There begins to be fruit of almost every kind; I never saw such sights of peaches before, thousands of bushels rot on the ground, they make sauce of them, and brandy. The trees bear in three years from the stones, and apples in six. We have hired a little house about two miles and a half from the village of Canadaway (now Fredonia) which contains three Societies, Baptists, Presbyterians and Methodists. There is also mills and schools is near at hand with neighbors who appear very friendly and kind. If Mr. Johnson does not like it better at Cincinnati he intends to settle here before any other country he ever saw. It is a good place for his trade which demands one dollar and fifty cents per day, but the Lord knows what is best and I hope that I shall be reconciled to his will. The Lord only knows whether we shall see each other again on this earth. I hope we shall put our trust in him and be reconciled to his will for he knows what is best for us. All things shall work together for the good of those who love him. If we are afflicted it is for our good, for he doth not afflict willingly nor grieve the children of men. Therefore, let us put our trust in him, for He hath said "They that put their trust in Him shall be as Mount Zion which shall not be removed."

My children send their love to you all, Remember my love to all inquiring friends. Tell Almera I wish they would write to me. Do write as soon as possible. I shall write as soon as Mr. Johnson gets back, if not before.

This from your affectionate children.

E. and J. Johnson

Pioneer

Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson were the parents of sixteen children. The record of the births of the children shows the places where the family lived as it pioneered the western wilderness. Ezekiel's youth had been spent roving from place to place as he made his way in the world. This roving did not come with marriage, for he took his family with him into the wilds of the new territory recently added to the United States as a result of the second war with England. When it was necessary for his wife and family to rent for a short time to catch up on sewing, mending or other necessary tasks, Ezekiel would wander off alone into the wilderness and find a new home. After breaking ground, planting crops and erecting a rude cabin on the frontier, he would return and load the family with their few household goods into his wagon and move them into the new prospect. As soon as a neighbor or two settled along side, the place would be too crowded for Ezekiel. He would be seized with an itching desire to see the country farther west and the exploring and moving continued. He was a pioneer.

Clearing the timber and brush from the land was a strenuous job which taxed Ezekiel's strength to the utmost, as he was not a large man physically. A page from the life Review of his son, Benjamin F. Johnson, gives us a rather vivid picture of the situation at that time.

"At this early period so soon after the war of 1812, and in what was then a wild and almost frontier region with heavy primeval forests to clear away before a crop of any kind could be planted or taken from the virgin soil for food, it seemed to require a giant fortitude, and a great patience on the part of all to wait for results. My father, Ezekiel Johnson, for a series of years, wrestled with the Herculean task of clearing off the forest, but worn with the incessant labor, and the care of so numerous a family, he sought for a stimulant and in my earliest childhood, became addicted to the use of ardent spirits. Neither his labors or the love for his family seemed to diminish, yet the fiend of intemperance had entered our home to break the bonds of union between our parents and to destroy their happiness.

My father, Ezekiel Johnson, was a man of full middle stature, about five feet and ten inches in height, and of solid build, fine light brown hair, a mild but piercing blue eye, with light, smooth skin, and of natural personal attractions. He was beloved and sought after by his friends, and for his words only was he feared and avoided, for with no other blow than words, was he ever known to strike any living thing."

Times were difficult and it was next to impossible to care for such a large family. All their food, clothing and what few comforts of home they possessed were produced with the labor of their own hands. Flax was grown and prepared for clothing, table linen, towels, sheets, etc. Butter and bread making were tasks for mother and older children. Cheese was made and stored for winter. Lye was processed from ashes to be used later in the manufacture of soap, and as candles furnished their only means of lighting the home in the evening, it was necessary that the children be trained in the art of candle making. The hot tallow had to be poured into the molds and wicks trimmed. No doubt the small children took trips into the woods where they helped the father pile and burn the brush to make the clearing and they must have aided in the dropping of the seeds and the cultivation of the small field. Nuts and wild fruits were gathered and prepared for winter. It would be very interesting indeed to peek into their small cabin and watch them spend the evening hours around the winter fire after the toil of a busy day.

It might seem easy to criticize as we look back more than one hundred years into the lives of these early settlers, but when we think that little was known of the evils of intemperance in that day; in fact the use of a drink was rather common, it is doubtful if Ezekiel had the slightest idea that he was injuring himself or his family. There is so much fine timbre in his character that we would like to justify his notion and his belief that the use of ardent spirits gave him more strength and more courage to meet the tasks before him. It is indeed sad to note what developed from the habits which he established, but we must not blame nor condemn him because he did not have the foresight to see what the result would be. The day came when he had to pay for his mistake which he had made. His son Benjamin, does not reprove him; we, his descendants, should not.

The courage and stamina of the man is shown by the undertaking of a journey of one thousand miles from Pomphret to Cincinnati and back. Such a trip would be considered as somewhat of an achievement in this generation, and although Ezekiel took it as a matter of course, the boy, Joel, remembered his experience and wrote of it in his journal. His description, while vague due to the fact that he did not write it earlier, gives us a rather complete picture of the trip to Cincinnati with his uncle and back to Pomphret with his father. We copy it as follows:

> "In the fall of the 1813 my parents, concluding to move to the west, let me go with my uncle Joel Hills (for whom I was named) who was then on his way from Canada to the western country. I cannot recall many of the incidents of the journey, being small, but recollect passing the Alleghany mountains in Pennsylvania and coming to Pittsburg, Pa. where my uncle bought a flatboat or, what was then called an "ark," into which he took his family with several other families who had sent their teams by land. We descended the Ohio River to Cincinatti, Ohio, which was then a small town. My uncle located himself in the town of Newport in the State of Kentucky on the opposite side of the river from Cincinnati, where I lived with him until the spring of 1815, when my father, Ezekiel Johnson, came to Newport to look at the country, having moved his family from Vermont to Pomphret, Chataqa County, New York, and not liking the Country at Newport, he concluded to return to New York. Accordingly, about the first of May, my father and myself, about thirteen years old, started on foot to accomplish a journey of about five hundred miles to the state of New York, through then mostly a new and heavily timbered country. We passed several houses where the inhabitants had been butchered the year before by the Indians. We arrived at Pomphret, New York about the first of June, 1815."

What a rare opportunity young Joel had in making this journey with his father as a companion. What Boy Scout of the present age would not like such an adventure? What pals they must have been, thrown as they were upon their own resourcefulness, depending only upon themselves and each other for companionship and help. Imagine their thoughts and feeling: their conversation, when they came upon the charred homes of the massacred settlers. Certain it was that the boy Joel drew closer to his father on these occassions and the friendship thus established held through the years.

It is probable that Ezekiel took little or no interest in religious matters, but the older brothers and sisters attended the Presbyterian Church with their mother, where they learned to read the Bible. Every letter written by Julia expressed a keen religious temperment. Her letters to her mother show an abiding faith in God and always contain a prayer which seeks the blessings of the Lord upon her family and friends. While father and son were away from home, the following letter was addressed to her mother and stepfather:

My Dear Parents;

After my love to you I will inform you that through the blessings of God, we are all in good health and hope this will find you so. I have not heard a word from you for more than a year. I have written to you four letters since I have received any. Mr. Johnson has gone to Cincinnati, Ohio. He started on the last day of January. I have not heard a word from Joel for a year or more. I am very anxious to hear from my friends. I wrote the particulars of our journey thus far in my last letter. If Mr. Johnson likes that country we calculate to move on in the spring, if we live and are well. Many are passing here almost every day for that place. We like this country first rate upon many accounts. It is not as cold as Vermont and is excellent for grain, grass and all kinds of produce. With good inhabitants and good schools, my children go to school and learn very fast. Seth and Nancy want to write to their grandmother, but it will cost too much to pay for their letters. I had a daughter born on the 16th of December who is smart and well. I want you to write how you enjoy religion. Whether you are cold and stupid like myself, or you engaged in the good cause of Christ. I hope you are like Mary and have chosen the better part, which shall not be taken away. I hope we shall be prepared to meet in Heaven to dwell with the righteous forever. I hope we shall see each other again in a few years, but this life is uncertain. I want you to give my love to Aunt Woodward's family, tell the girls to write to me.

I remain your affectionate child.

I have another chance to write to you, which I improve. I have written several times but received no answer. I have heard of the death of our mother which was very heavy news to me. We have lost a very kind, affectionate parent of which no doubt you are sensible, but we have no right to murmur, God will do all things right. We must be submissive and prepare to follow our dear deceased mother. I wish you write the particulars concerning her death ti,e. Almera Woodward (Julia's cousin) wrote to me that you was keeping house for your father and made out very well, which I was glad to hear. I send this letter by Mr. Johnson: he will tell you the particulars of our affairs. I want your father to send me that Great Dictionary that was my father's, and if Joel (Hills) has a chance to get it from here he shall have it, for that was my mother's desire as she expressed it when she was up to Vermont. And I wish you would send me some straw braid for a bonet and Mr. Johnson will pay you for it. Such things are very scarce here. Remember my love to your father and family and take a good share yourself.

Julia Johnson

The Pomphret Home

Ezekiel and Julia, were parents of sixteen children. They all grew to maturity except Elmer Wood who lived but a few months. Joel Hills, the eldest, married before the last two were born, so that there was never a time when all of the family were at home together. After Julia's mother died she carried on an intermittant correspondence with her half sister, Diadamia (Forebush) Wheeler, in which she told of the birth of a son, Joseph Ellis, born the 27th of April, 1817, and of another son, Benjamin Franklin, born 28th of July, 1818. When Ezekiel went back to Grafton, where he spent the winter of 1818-1819 he carried with him the news of home and returning, brought back to the family an account of the happenings of the old home state.

A daughter, Mary, was born on the 7th day of February, 1820. A son, Elmer Wood, was born May 26th, 1822 and died the 14th of the following September, the first death to be written into their family records. Their other four children, three boys and a girl, were also born in Pomphret. They were George Washington, born February 19th, 1823; William Derby, born October 27th, 1824; Esther Maletia, born on her father's birthday, January 12th, 1827 and Amos Partridge, born January 15th, 1829.

During these years Ezekiel and the older boys cleared the timber and underbrush from two large farms. These they fenced and improved with buildings. The children attended school and learned to read and write. Several of them showed a talent for poetry which manifested itself in later life. Joel H. poured forth his songs of praise to his Lord and maker in a religious ecstasy of high and lofty ferver. Those of Joseph E. show keen intellect and fine education of the school teacher and printer. The homely rhymes of George W. are full of sentiment and feeling, though they sometimes glow with the pride of achievement and occasionally paint vivid pictures from a rich experience.

George W. lived alone in his later years and had evenings to himself. These were filled with reveries and retrospections which make his poems. He never forgot his boyhood home, the happiest home he had ever known, and from his memory, he gives to us in his poems, our only picture of it. A brown cottage surrounded by an orchard, with a large room, a hall, and other rooms, including a kitchen cellar filled with substantial food which his mother made into appetizing meals. Here is the picture as he paints it in a lovely poem.

My Boyhood Home
by George W. Johnson

The home of my boyhood, the place of my birth
It is dearer to me than all others on earth
Its charms are still with me wherever I roam
I'll never forget my own boyhood home.

My dear loving mother; she watched o'er my youth
And taught me the lessons of honor and truth.
Her voice, in my fancy, in accents so low
Is whispering to me wherever I go.

The voice of my father still sounds in my ear;
The laugh of my brothers and sisters so dear.
The cow bell's gingle; the old dinner horn,
The crow of the cock to awake us each morn.

The hoot of the owl, the lone whip-poor-will
At evening we heard from the woodland and hill,
They still ring in my ears though long years have past
Since I saw the dear home of my infancy last.

Altho many a mile have I wandered away,
My body grown feeble, my hair turning grav;
Yet the happy scenes linger; I dream of them yet;
The home of my boyhood I'll never forget.

Their frontier farm was really quite developed. His poem "Childhood" gives a good description of the house, the orchard, the well and the path which led to the schoolhouse. Can you imagine their evening of fun around the old fireplace?

Childhood

Oh don't you remember the home of our childhood,
That bright sunny spot where we first saw the light,
Where oft we have wandered o'er fields and o'er wildwood?
No spot on the earth can to me be so bright.

Oh don't you remember the dear old brown cottage,
The kitchen, the square room, the bedroom and hall,
The well at the door and the orchard near by it,
The garden, the barn and the corn house and all?

Oh don't you remember the old dingy schoolhouse,
With benches and desks, all defaced with the knife,
Where we learned the first lessons in reading and spelling
That did mark out the way that has followed through life?

Oh don't you remember, the old kitchen fireplace,
Where oft we have met when our days work was done,
With brothers and sisters and friends we loved dearly,
To pass off the evening with all sorts of fun?

Altho long years have passed and I've far from there wandered
Yet often in Fancy's bright dream, I am there;
Then bright rays of happiness over me lingers
As I gaze with delight on the visions so fair.

The Pomphret home of Ezekiel and Julia had changed from the frontier setting to a well developed farm by the time George W. played and worked there. We have heard the oft repeated statement that the farmer's life is the only independent one, a saying which was more true in the old days than it would be of our time, and the Pomphret home supplied all they had in the way of food, clothing and other necessities. The orchard supplied the fruits which were dried for winter. The meadow filled the barn with hay. The maple grove and the honey bee gave them syrup and honey. They milked cows which had to be driven to the pasture. They kept horses with which to work their farm, one Old Katy, was ridden by George when they furrowed the corn. Some of our modern farm homes are equipped with bells that call the farm hands to the noon day meal, but George and his brothers listened with pleasure to the old dinner horn.

Fifty Years Ago
by George W. Johnson

I dreamed I was a boy again and by my mother's knee.
I listened to the fervent prayer she offered up for me.
Again I saw my childhood home, the place that gave me birth.
With friends and kindred gathered round the old familiar hearth.
The Bible lay upon the stand just as it used to do
When I was in my childhood home--Just fifty years ago.

The old Dutch clock hung on the wall; the cupboard, too, was there;
The pictures on the mantlepiece and mother's old arm chair;
Again I wandered through the woods where oft in childhood's hours,
I've wandered forth to gather nuts or cull the fragrant flowers.
I wandered o'er the meadows, too where berries used to grow;
'Twas just the same as when a boy--Just fifty years ago.

The orchard, too where oft I have sat to watch the busy bee,
  Was just the same, the bees were there just as they used to be,
The barn, the corn house and the spring, where oft in summer's day.
  The gulf lot where I drove the cows as I to school did go
To learn to read my alphabet-- Just fifty years ago.

Ah me, that was a happy dream that dream of childhood hours
  When all the thorns of life were gone and left the brights flowers
But those bright days will no more come while I on earth remain;
  My childhood home, my early friends, I'll never see again;
A few more days of toil and strife ere I am called to go
  To meet those friends I loved so well-- Just fifty years ago.

The Old Dinner Horn
by George W. Johnson

How well I remember the home of my childhood
That bright sunny spot where I first saw the light,
The orchard, the meadow, the fields and the wildwood;
No spot on the earth could be to me so bright.
How oft I have wondered o'er the fields and o'er meadows
To gather the flowers, wet with dew of the morn
And list to the song of the lark and the robin
Till called to return by the old dinner horn.

How well I remember each tree in the orchard,
Each shrub and each flower in the garden that grew,
The well and the spring and the brick yard near by it,
And the meadow bedecked with the bright morning dew
And the bees, when they swarmed, oh what din and what clatter,
To cause them to light on the old apple thorn;
What ringing of bells and what dashing of water
And the sweetest of music, the old dinner horn.

How well I remember the path through the gulf lot,
Which I have followed in going to school:
To drive off the cows and to leave them in pasture,
Until I was released from the rod and the rule.
To scatter the hay, I would go to the meadow
Or ride Old Katy to plough out the corn
Or pile up the brush in the clearing and burn it,
Till I'd hear the sweet sound of the old dinner horn.

Since then I have listened to strains of sweet music,
The sweetest that nature or art can produce,
The song of the birds, the harp, or organ and viol,
The sweetest of singing, but then, tis no use
To compare with the notes that I heard in my childhood
On that bright sunny spot in the place I was born.
Give me back the sweet strains of that dear cherished music
To mother to blow it, The Old Dinner Horn.

The mention of the brick yard, gives us the inference that the old brown cottage was built of brick, which was perhaps true of well curb and some of the other out buildings. It was a common belief in the old days that loud noises were helpful in causing bees to cluster after swarming, which accounts for the ringing of the bells. We are reminded too, that apple trees of that early time bore thorns which have been eliminated from their modern descendents by plant breeding and propagation.

The tribute which is paid to his mother's cooking in the next poem, gives us a very definite idea that their fare was wholesome and well prepared. There is no mention of a stove and as fireplace cooking was the rule one hundred years ago, which is the time of our picture, we wonder how his mother could make such tasty delicacies as are described therein. Our heart goes out to George W. as we picture him an old man in a lonely cabin where he undoubtedly did some of his own cooking, remembering the pleasant dishes and desserts which his mother prepared in his boyhood. The picture is beautifully painted. He makes our own mouths water as he describes the pot of hulled corn.

The Pot of Hulled Corn

Fond memories will come of the scenes of my childhood;
How well I remember the dear old brown cot
Surrounded by orchard, by fields and by wildwood,
I cannot forget, the dear hallowed spot.
How well I remember the old cellar kitchen,
Where mother presided at night, noon and morn
And always had puddings and pies and turnovers
And the best things of all was a pot of hulled corn.

Some times she would make us meal-mush for our supper
With milk from the dairy or fresh from the cow
Or a pudding, well sweetened with maple molasses;
It was made of corn meal but I cannot tell how;
Or a pot of baked beans, smoking hot from the oven
With a chunk of fat pork with rind sliced and torn
Or a loaf of brown bread with sweet yellow butter
But nothing compared with the pot of hulled corn.

It is many long years since I saw the old cottage,
And many a mile I have wandered away;
Yet the home of my childhood, the voice of my mother
In fancy I hear it wherever I stray,
And oft at the table with dainties before me,
I think of my childhood, the place I was born,
Then I sigh for the fare of the old cellar kitchen
And the best of it all was the pot of hulled corn.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints was organized in the spring of 1830. This event, destined to change the life story of Ezekiel and his family, made no noticeable impression upon them at the time. About a year before, a newspaper account appeared in their village paper, telling of a young man who claimed to have seen an angel which showed him to a hill where the golden Bible was buried. If this new story impressed them at the time there is no mention made of it in any of the letters that have come down to us.

The oldest son Joel had married Anna P. Johnson in 1828, and had for years been operating a sawmill. In 1829 he invented a method of cutting shingles from a block of steamed wood. This process he patented, and had moved his family to Amhurst, Ohio and built another sawmill and sold patent rights on his invention.

During the winter of 1831, Joel and a young man by the name of Almon W. Babbit came from Ohio and brought with the the Book of Mormon. Other Elders soon followed and the results was that Ezekiel and wife Julia and some of the older children were converted. However, these facts were not discussed in the family circle on account of the unpopularity of the doctrine.

While Ezekiel was thinking and pondering over the matter a few days as to whether he was converted sufficiently for baptism, and if he should advise with his wife and family on the subject or not. He was quietly informed that his wife had been baptized in the middle of the night. This information staggered Ezekiel who was not prepared to believe that his wife, the idol of his heart, the light of his life, and the mother of his sixteen children, would at this time of thirty-two years of happy wedded life, act so deceptive. He would not believe it, he would go to her, which he did, and she explained that she was advised it to avoid publicity. He was not in a humor to accept it charitably. He told her that as she had been so hasty and secret about her baptism, apparently not wanting him to know about it, or take part in the blessings of the Gospel, she could have it to herself, that he would never be baptized as long as he lived, and from that time on he took no part in religion.

My Dear Sister; (To Diadama Forbush, Wheeler, my half-sister)

How long a time it is since I received a line from you, and how much longer since I saw you? I have waited long for a letter, but getting none, I improve this opportunity of informing you that myself and family (these about home) are as well as has been usual for us to be for sometime and I do really hope that this may find you enjoying the best of earthly blessings, health. Mr. Johnson is now gone to Ohio. Joel and family have moved to that state, Loriance County, Amhurst Township. David is with them. Its about two months since I heard from them. Mr. Johnson and Seth went last fall to Cincinnati and Newport and spent the winter at or near these places. Seth taught school.

They found sister Nancy and Rhoda with their families well and left them so. I think I wrote to you that my family consists of fifteen children. Two married, Joel and Delcena, both have two children and each have lost one, the rest as I said generally live at home. Nancy had the misfortune last August to be thrown from a horse which dislocated or broke her hip. She will probably have to use crutches as long as she lives. For the most of the time she is able to sew, paint, etc. We are in rather low circumstances as it respects the good things of this world, but through the good providence of God we have a comfortable living, and knowing that we need but little here below nor want but little long as we endeavor to be content with such things as we have and give thanks to the giver and seek that durable riches and righteousness which shall never fail. Dear Sister, how oft have I wished that you and I were so situated that we might often see each other and speak to each other of the things most interesting and dear to us, and of our trials and cares and mutually share in each other's joys and sorrows, etc. But since we are separated let us be thankful for the mercies and that we do enjoy and ever bear in mind that this earth is not our abiding place, and let us seek earnestly for one to come, whose builder and maker is God. That we may soon meet again where parting and separation shall be known no more forever - - - this is my prayer.

Oh! my sister do not put off writing as you have done, but write soon and inform me of your present circumstances and situation, and your future prospects and hopes. I very much want to know how you get along with your family and whatever else would be interesting to us respecting your situation and prospect, etc. And also what are your views of futurity and how you get along in your mind, etc. I want you should give me what information you have respecting Aunt Woodward and family; Where is Almera and Family? How do they do and if you know whether Uncle Samuel Hills is living, and tell me about Mrs. Roberts, and my cousins and friends in that country. Give my love and best wishes to them all and accept the same yourself as well as the love and respect of all my children who are at home. Remember Enoch, Polly and Chloe (Diadama's brother and sisters) and inform me of them and their families. Now, my dear sister, I must draw to a close by requesting an interest in your prayers and by subscribing myself as ever, your affectionate sister-in-haste.

Julia Johnson

Julia's letters are the expression of a clear mind and heart. Her reference to Nancy's sewing and painting gives us a hint of refinement and culture of their home life. She missed the association of her friends and relatives and yearned to know more of their interests. What a fine splendid woman she was. The mother of a large family; the center of their home circle; the inspiration of their reverence in God; genuine; complete. We, her descendents, may well revere her for the courage she manifested in taking such a foward leadership in the early days of the church.

Ezekiel had already sold the home and farm in New York with the idea that they would be delivered to the purchaser in June. He went "up the Lakes" to Fort Dearborn (now Chicago) where he bought a one-quarter section of land and sent a letter to the family advising them to give possession of the Pomphret property and come to him. The letter did not reach the family and in June, when they were forced to vacate, they traded the teams for a home on the Kirtland flats near the school house, and gathered with the church and the Prophet. As they did not receive the letter, they did not write him one, for which he waited. He became homesick, eventually, sold his property and returned to find them nearer the church than before. Julia's religious nature held her to her home in Kirtland where she was happy with her new found creed and its activities. Ezekiel was angry, broken hearted, and bitter to think that he must now sacrifice his hope, his place in the family, his self respect and pride of manhood, or else give in and join this hated religion; hated because it had robbed him of all that was dear to him. It might have been different if she had only given him his right to be the leader of his household. He was a disappointed man; thoroughly disappointed, and "Here I will say that," quoting his son, Benjamin Franklin, "although my father was apparently opposed to the truth and had imbided habits, yet he was a man of the highest organization as a husband and parent. He was by nature the most tender and affectionate. As a neighbor and friend, most obliging and true and a man of honor and truth among men, never was a question known to be raised as to his integrity, for his word was his bond, and in all things he was a gentleman in the fullest sense of the word, except only in the habit of intemperance, which would at times seemed to change his nature."

The heart had gone out of Ezekiel. The Pomphret home was no more and he had no incentive to start again under the existing circumstance. He was a misfit in the society of the Mormon group and there was no place where he could go without leaving all that was dear to him in the world. He loved his children and wife but to stay in the city of the saints was agony. He was a man without a country. Forgive him if he tried to find solace in drink.

> Mr. Town's folks went by us without calling, to a great disappointment of Nancy & Julia who had got their things all ready & were waiting for them. We had quite a number of Letters ready. Esq Johnson wrote one. Your business I think needs your immediate presence, I have had two summonses & one execution nearly put from Bardsley for coat making and I am now, this very hour to attend the Trial of Barratts Wagon concern. Old Houghton has sued the Note, and I believe I must go to Jail, I know not what to do, indeed, Father came home last Wednesday. He says he will go again, I think you had best come quickly, Esquire Johnson says he will give me the Deed when I get his recorded - - - - Things go wrong - - - - Come Quick - - - -
> Mother and all would write but can't - - - They send their Love & say they fear for you, but if you Enjoy Pure Religion go on, forgive my Harshness if I have been too harsh & My brevity if I've been too short. Farewell.

Oh my Dear Children, I want to address you but know not how far as it is impossible to describe my feelings, I was very glad to hear from you and when I heard that you was well Soul & body, my soul rejoiced, for I long to see all my children enjoy pure & undefiled religion, but when I understood you had embraced a new doctrine I fear lest you are deceived, but hope you will strive for the truth, they hurry me so that I can write no more.

Your Affectionate Mother
Julia Johnson

Do write or Come Quick

All your Deal must necessarily be settled immediately, tis a public thing that all your property is exposed to the law, and a law is passed now, abolishing imprisonment for debt, and punishing fraudulent creditors and comes in force February next ---

The "Saints were starting work on the Kirtland Temple, David was helping with the brick making. He took sick and died after a short illness October 30th, 1833, the first truly great sorrow of the family, for he was twenty-three years old.

In 1834 as Seth, Lyman R. Sherman, Delcena's husband, Almon W. Babbett, a young man who later married Julia Ann, and Elder Jared Carter were preparing to leave for Zion's Camp, Elder Carter administered to Nancy. He "commandered her, in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, to leave her crutches and walk, which she did at once and never did she use them, although for years she had borne no weight upon her broken joint." This recorded in the Church History as one of the first miracles of modern times and certainly Ezekiel must have rejoiced with the family because of it, but whether he thought of it as a miracle or not, he did not give in.

Seth had hardly returned from Zion's Camp when his health failed him and he died February 19th, 1835. This year also marked the complete divorcement of Ezekiel from his home. Due to his disbelief and continued intemperance, it was decided that he should live away from the others; a plan to which he reluctantly consented. He bought a home in the town of Mentor, Ohio, where his daughter kept house for him and the younger children would some times go and stay temporarily, but his exile from the hearthstone of the family was now complete.

In 1836 death called for Susan and Nancy. Lung fever, the same illness that had taken the others took Susan, March 16th and Nancy the 30th of the following October. Lung fever, or tuberculosis of the lungs, as it is called today, was little known in those days. One tubercular cow in Kirtland could have been the cause of it all.

In order to make ends meet, Julia and the older girls began to manufacture of stocks, "a fine article of men's neckwear" and hats made from palm leaves, which were sold by local merchants.

The great tragedy of it all was that these two fine people did not join the church together and go hand in hand through the early trials and tribulations of that period; what a comfort they could have been to each other, and how lonely they must have been each brooding over the sorrows they had encountered alone. But such was their situation. Julia at Nauvoo finding comfort in her church duties, ministering to the poor and the needy, nursing the sick, and Ezekiel alone in his cabin, or wandering aimlessly about the streets of Mentor, just waiting, waiting.

Kirtland Camp

The temple was hardly finished before the saints became unwelcome at Kirtland and mobs began to torment them. The Prophet advocated a westward movement and with his father, his brother, Hyrum, and some others, started in that direction. Julia, whose life was now completely tied with the church, decided to follow the Prophet and began making plans in the spring of 1836. By July 4th they had obtained teams and wagons with which to travel and were ready to start. Their furniture and other items of value had been sent by water to Richmond, Clay County, Missouri. This company, consisting of five hundred fifteen souls with fifty-eight wagons is known in church history as the "Kirtland Camp." All were of poor circumstances. The trip was a hard and trying one; they were often without food and there was much sickness among them.

They stopped at Dayton, Ohio for a month while some of the men earned money by working on the National Turnpike. Here many of the company died of typhoid fever. While the Kirtland Camp remained at Dayton, Joel and his mother, Julia, made a trip to Cincinnati, Ohio, to visit her sister, Nancy, her brother, Joel, and other kindred. The main purpose of the journey was without doubt, to take the gospel message while the opportunity was so near at hand.

They were near Springfield, Illinois in the early part of October where Samuel Hale and his wife died, leaving a ten year old daughter, Mary Ann, which Julia adopted. Here also Delcina's husband, Lyman R. Sherman, died of pneumonia, leaving her with six small children and she decided to remain at Quincy, Illinois.

Joel, Joseph and some others, were detailed to remain at Springfield, to care for the sick through the winter and the camp moved on. They stayed at Springfield for about two years. Julia and her son, George W. contracted typhoid fever and nearly died. Benjamin F. had remained at Kirtland where he married Malissa LeBaron on Christmas Day in 1841 at the home of the Prophet. He immediately began preparation to follow the saints westward.

About the middle of May, 1842, Ezekiel left Kirtland, Ohio, bound for Nauvoo, Illinois in company with his youngest daughter, Esther, and her husband, David T. LeBaron, with whom he now made his home, his son, Benjamin, and his wife, and his son-in-law, Almon W. Babbitt. They arrived at Nauvoo June 1st. An incident which made an impression upon Ezekiel, who had never believed in working on the Sabbath day, is noteworthy. When they camped for noon one Sunday, he accidently removed the bridle from the horse's head before unhitching the traces from the buggy. A piece of paper blown by the wind frightened the horse causing him to run away, smashing the buggy and harness to pieces. It took the whole week to make repairs and they started on their journey again the following Sunday, they had driven about fifteen miles and were camped for dinner when a similar incident occurred. The horse took fright again and ran back to the former camp ground. They had gained nothing by attempting to travel on Sunday. Ezekiel often quoted this incident as an argument when trying to pursuade his neighbors to not work on Sunday.

Joel left the others at Springfield and went as far as Commerce, a small village at the rapids of the Mississippi River. He was greatly "taken up" with the land, the climate and the general beauty of the place. The company had gone two years earlier had been driven from Jackson County, Missouri and the leaders were looking about for a place to settle. Joel intercepted the Prophet and others of his party when they came to Commerce and persuaded them to settle there. They were also pleased with the beautiful setting and the village of Commerce became Nauvoo, "the City Beautiful."

Those at Springfield took heart again, for there was but one hundred miles yet to go. Julia felt that it would be a splendid idea if she and her children could get land together to build a town of their own. They decided to settle at Ramos, a small town twenty miles east of Nauvoo. They were soon joined by Ezekiel and the others and the town began to grow. Ramos was later called Macedonia and Joel became stake president. After a month at Ramos, Ezekiel decided to go with Esther and her husband to Nauvoo where he made his home. He worked at the carpenter trade. Almera married a no account fellow who deserted her soon after. The youngest son, Amos Partridge, died May 19th, 1842, he was a lad of thirteen years. In 1843 Mary, Esther, Joseph and George were married. Mary married George Wilson, Esther married David T. LeBaron, Joseph married Harriet Snyder, and George married Maria Jane Johnston, a convert to the church from Tennessee who was doing housework at the home of the Prophet, Joseph, in Nauvoo. Julia sent the following letter to her sister, Diadamia, from Springfield, Illinois, March 13, 1839;

Springfield, Illinois

Dear Sister;

Having an opportunity of sending a few lines to you, or rather to send them where we last heard of you, we improve it. It is now six years since we last heard from you in any way. We have written several times, but have been moving about so much that we could not have received one even though you had written. You must know we have been very anxious to hear from you as the last news we heard was that you have lost your husband. Oh! My dear sister, how shall I use words to express my feelings when I look back to the time in life, the change of seasons, places and nations, the commotion of the earth and the disposition of men, deceiving and being deceived-- the signs of the last days, the fulfillment of scriptures, etc.---- I will say we are all well and those with us as usual. And though strange it may appear, I am happy to inform you that we have the misfortune (if it may be called one) to belong to that poor deluded (as the world says) despised sect of beings called Mormons, or Latter-Day Saints, who were verily persecuted for righteousness sake. We left the State of New York about six years ago and went to Kirtland, Ohio, where the Lord saw fit to afflict us by taking from us four of the elderly members of my family, Seth, David, and Susan, and Nancy, were all taken from us within four years. How shall, how can, I express my feelings, "But the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away and blessed be the name of the Lord."

We have suffered a great deal of sickness, I was very extremely sick last fall in this place with the fevers almost unto death, but the Lord saw fit to spare my life and measurably restored me to health. Joel is about one hundred miles west of here with his family; Julia and Almera are married. They both did very well, married respected men. Delcena has lost her husband, he died last winter 27th of January. She is in Missouri, we expect her here soon. I have three sons unmarried men grown up. Joseph, Benjamin, and George. Two of them are with me, the other with Delcina. I have two daughters with me, Mary and Esther.

I went to Cincinnati last summer and there found Nancy and Rhoda, Rhoda is in Newport across the river from Cincinnati they are all well.

I have not time to write much more, the gentleman who is expected to bear this is one of these Mormons and as yet has never preached a sermon, but probably will before you receive this, I bet, I pray and entreat you as one who loves you to search into these things "Prove all things, and hold fast to that which is good." Study the scriptures, the prophecies and then you will learn that the Lord in the last days will bring forth his work, his strange work, his act, his strange act, that truth shall out of the earth and righteousness "shall look down from Heaven." That Zion will be built the Saints gathered and possess the land promised to their fathers and build Jerusalem again, etc. Recollect that the Lord's work was always a strange work in the eyes of the people, that he chooses the poor, the weak, the illiterate of this world, to confound the wisdom or the wise and bring to naught the wisdom of the world. Therefore, I will close, by begging you to inquire into the truth of these things. Ask the Lord in sincerity to show you the right way. As for persecution, the Lord has said he that live Godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution, also who the Lord loveth, him he chastiseth, etc. Nevertheless, these seem not for the present. Joyous but grievious--- Look into the Lord and not to men, (cursed is he that putteth his trust in man or maketh flesh his aim." Write immediately on the reception of this. Direct your letter to this place, give all our respects to our friends or your acquaintance.

I remain in affliction, your sister.
Julia Johnson

This letter is wholly different from Julia's previous letters in that it lacks the joyousness of the others. Her testimony is stronger and her greatest desire seems to be to present the gospel message to her kindred. She suffered affliction, endured persecution and sorrow, but she is still valiant to the cause and there is no suggestion that she regrets having cast her lot with the persecuted Saints. What a fine, splendid mother she was; a member of the first women's Relief Society of the Church; filling a useful niche in the work of the Prophet.

The Royal Family

It was in 1843 also that the Prophet, Joseph Smith received the revelation on Celestial Marriage. Julia had shown such faith and confidence in the Prophet that Joseph went to her and explained the new doctrine immediately. There is a tradition in the family which says that the Lord advised him to do so. She understood the significance of the doctrine and gave her consent for her daughter, Almera, to become the Prophet's first plural wife,(the first plural marriage in the church). The Prophet was now her son-in-law, and undoubtedly he spent much time at the home of the family in Macedonia. Almera's patriarchial blessing given to her by Patriarch John Smith, the Prophet's father, promised her that she should be the mother of a large posterity and that one of her sons should be a Prophet, Seer and Revelator. For some reason which we do not attempt to explain, the promises of the blessing were not fulfilled due, perhaps, to the early death of the Prophet.

As the Prophet was now a member of the family through marriage, envious people nicknamed them "The Royal Family." Uncle Ben's Life Review mentions the incident as follows:

> "In Macedonia the family were quite numerous and influential and envious people sometimes dubbed as the 'Royal Family.' When the Prophet Joseph Smith heard of this honor conferred upon us by our neighbors, he said, 'The name is and should be a reality that they were a royal family,' and 'he, knowing the intemperance of my father, said that 'he should yet be a great man and sit at the head of a kingdom,' and on one occasion he blessed my mother and made her this promise; 'For your faithfulness and acceptance of so unpopular a doctrine, and bringing such a numerous family into the church, that when the crown should be made for your brow in the Eternal world, everyone of her jewels (children) would be there.'"

Another quotation from Uncle Ben says: "At this time Father John Smith lived at and was President at Macedonia and by him I was ordained to the high priesthood, and being sent for by the Prophet to receive the Patriarchal Priesthood, I accompanied him to Nauvoo for that purpose and obtained, under it, his first blessing and, my mother having fully separated from my father, by the suggestion or counsel of the Prophet, accepted of and was sealed by him to Father John Smith. In this I felt not a little sorrow, for I loved my father and knew him to be naturally a kind and loving parent, a just and noble spirited man, but yet, not believing the Gospel, had fought it with his words, and as I know a stream must have a fountain and does not rise above it, so I consoled myself, assured by the Prophet's words, that a better day would come to my father."

Certain it is that few women have received such a promise as that given to Julia, "It is a blessing short in words, but long in promise which effects her children, her grandchildren and reaches to the last of her descendants. It gives us, her offspring, the assurance that though we are wayward and play by the wayside, that in the ultimate end, we will find our places in the great arrangement. There is no doubt that her descendants comprise one of the largest families of the west and so far as we know at the present time, not a single one has been dropped from fellowship in the Church.

Some of us are wayward, some are careless, others indifferent, many are not interested, but from her each has inherited a small spark which may yet be kindle to a greater light. It may be the spirit of this prophecy also, which has enabled us to do the genealogical work on her ancestral lines when we find it so difficult to find the father of Ezekiel. It is hard for us to understand why the Prophet should advise Julia to be sealed to Father John Smith, when he knew, through the gift of prophecy, that Ezekiel would "yet be a great man and sit at the head of a kingdom." There are many things which cannot be explained. This prophecy, while full of promise, was not fulfilled during the natural life of Ezekiel, who survived the Prophet nearly four years. During this time, Ezekiel had a change of heart, but it is doubtful if any peace came into his life, to give him happiness, unless he found consolation in the peace of mind which came to him as he lay suffering to a martyr's death.

Old Bess

"During the year 1843, mobs broke out, burned houses, destroyed property and drove the Saints from place to place. Joseph and Hyrum were imprisoned in Carthage Jail and on the 27th day of June, 1844, were murdered by a mob, while under the pledge of the state for protection." The foregoing is from the journal of his son, George W. Johnson. The following is from page 100 of the Life Review of Uncle Ben.

> "The cruel death of the Prophet now brought a new feeling and spirit over my father. Instead of joy in his death, he greatly sorrowed that he had ever been his enemy. He deplored his death and cursed bitterly his murderers and would gladly have assisted in bringing them to justice and this feeling never again left him, but on the contrary, he defended the Saints whenever an opportunity came to him."

Uncle David T. LeBaron fell heir to Ezekiel's shot gun which he called "Old Bess." It was a small double barreled gun with silver mountings. Uncle David took the shot gun with him to St. George, Utah, and his nephew, Milas E. Johnson, who was driving the team for him, tells the following story, as related to him by Uncle David.

> "On one occasion it was reported that a company of soldiers, under a captain, was marching on Nauvoo to compel the Saints to leave the city at once, even before the time set by the agreement of the commissioners who made the treaty of expulsion. Ezekiel heard of treachery on the part of the mob, and his anger knew no bounds. He swore by all the powers of good and evil that those soldiers should not come into the city of Nauvoo that night. Acting on his word which he was never known to break, accompanied by his ever present companion, 'Old Bess,' a small double barreled shot gun with silver mountings, that Ezekiel had carried for years, he met the men just as they were entering, the city. He stepped behind a tree until the Captain came close to him. Cocking both barrels of his gun he stepped out in front of the Captain and ordered, 'Hault hands up.' The Captain at once saw his disadvantage and with hands high in the air, ordered, 'Hault, attention.' It is said by those who listened, that Ezekiel in his wrath poured forth such a tirade of abuse and vituperation, together with warnings, 'that they must cross his dead body before they entered further into the city, and as he was homeless and friendless and cared nothing for life, that if they did not at once 'about face' and march out of the city limits, he would pull the trigger and blow the head off their Captain, and to make no argument but go.' The Captain, realizing his helpless position, ordered 'about face and march.' They did, until they were out of sight. They again entered the city on a side street, where Ezekiel again covered the Captain as before. He told him that he would shoot him on the spot if he tried to say one word of explanation, and if he tried to enter the city, he would shoot him from behind a tree without further warning. The mob seemed to believe what he said, for they went into quarters outside the city limits for the night.

This delay gave the Saints time to prepare for the surprise that was intended by the soldiers who, after a conference held with the leading men of Nauvoo the next morning decided to return home without firing a gun."

That episode was not kept a secret and Ezekiel became a marked man. Joel knew this and when he was driven from Hancock County to Knox County by the mob in 1846, he sent his boys back to Hancock County to get their grandfather. The winter was spent in poverty and discomfort, for there were eight persons of them living together in a floorless cabin twelve feet by sixteen feet square. When Joel left Knox County and prepared to start for the west, Ezekiel decided to return to Nauvoo to live with his daughter, Esther, where Esther's husband, David LeBaron, and her brother, George were still living. They were custodians of the Nauvoo Temple, which was being shown to tourists and visitors. They were still in charge of it when it was burned November 19th, 1848. The two keys are still kept as keepsakes by the family.

It is doubtful if Ezekiel realized the danger that awaited his return to Nauvoo, or he could have avoided it. It is possible that he knew and determined to hold his ground and have it out with the mob, due to the element of determination in his character. If he knew, he was certainly not afraid; he walked right back into the fight, but his enemies overpowered him.

The circumstances attending his whipping by the mob are not known, but whipped he was, and beaten so brutally that after a period of suffering he died from the effect. His death came near the midnight of his seventy-second birthday at the home of his daughter, Esther LeBaron, in Nauvoo, "The City Beautiful," and he was buried in the old Mormon Cemetary.

Uncle Ben's Life Review, page 15, gives the following:

> "It was the first of January, 1848 and Brother Babbitt, with some others, was going to visit Winter Quarters, and I arranged to go with them. On his arrival, which was about the 20th of January, he brought the sad news of the death of my father, but with this great grief, there was such consolation, for during the last year of his life, he had ceased the use of ardent spirits, and realized the great wrong he had done to himself and his family by his opposition. He knew the gospel was true and had asked for baptism, of which his sudden death deprived him, leaving all his work for his children."

The following excerpt is from a letter recently received from David Ellis Johnson concerning Ezekiel. It is most interesting:

> "I have heard my father, (Sixtus Ellis Johnson, son of Joel) tell of his grandfather, Ezekiel Johnson. He was there when Ezekiel was whipped by the mob which caused his death. I heard father and President Wilford Woodruff talk about it when I was only ten years old, but it made such an impression on me that I asked father about it when I was grown. I have often wondered who did his temple work. Brother Woodruff was very anxious about it and he told father to be sure and see that it was done, if it had not been done. We were on our way to Arizona at the time. Brother Woodruff said to father, 'I know your grandfather was one of the first martyrs to the cause of Christ in this dispensation.'
> "Ezekiel's temple work was done by his grandson, Milas E. Johnson. By permission of the First Presidency of the Church, his wife and children were sealed to him. He stands at the head of his Kingdom."

JULIA HILLS JOHNSON

Julia Hills Johnson, was born September 26, 1783, at Upton, Mass., was the daughter of Joseph and Esther Ellis who was a descendant of early Massachusetts settlers. This Joseph died at the age of 29, of tuberculosis. His family suffered from the disease later on at Kirtland. The Hills and the Ellis families were neighbors at Wrentham. After the death of Joseph, Esther became the wife of Enoch Forbush.

In 1801 Julia Hills of Upton, who was then living with her mother, Esther Ellis Hills, in Grafton. Upton is a village lying a few miles southeast of Grafton.

Julia Hills was an attractive girl of eighteen years old of a substantial New England family, intelligent and reasonably well educated, became acquainted and was courted by Ezekiel Johnson, who was a "realtor," wherein he acquired tracts of land, cleared them and built cabins which he sold to the new settlers who were beginning to swarm into the new western lands. His interest in Julia had probably caused him to cease roving and settle down in Grafton. The notice of their intention to marry was recorded in Grafton December 18, 1800, also at Upton, and the wedding took place on January 12, 1801. It is not likely that she would have taken up with Ezekiel had he been a "roughneck" such as his years of roaming could have made him. He must have had a certain refinement and sufficient charm to cause her to accept a man ten years her senior.

The newly married couple remained in Grafton for a year or more. Their first child was born, a son Joel Hills, named in honor of Julia's much loved brother. He was born March 23, 1802. Julia was a very devout Presbyterian, and raised her family in strict observance to the principles laid down in the bible. Nancy Maria was born August 7, 1803. Seth Guernsey was born February 14, 1805 at Royalston, Mass. Delcena Diadamia was born November 19, 1806 at Westford, Vermont, also, Julia Ann November 9, 1808. David was born September 10, 1810. Almera Woodward was born October 12, 1812. Susan Ellen was born December 16, 1814 at Pomphret, New York. Joseph Ellis was born April 20, 1817, at Pomphret, New York. Benjamin Franklin was born July 28, 1818. Mary Ellen was born February 7, 1820. Elmer Wood was born May 26, 1821. George Washington was born February 19, 1823. William Derby was born October 27, 1824. Esther Maletia was born January 12, 1827. Amos Patridge was born January 15, 1829, at Pomphret, New York.

A picture of this home has been painted in the poetry composed by this family as they grew up. This town lies on the east bank of Canadaway Creek, which rises in Cassadaga Lake. This country has a lush beauty of any woodland region where rainfall is sufficient to keep grass green, also the growth of shrubs and flowers.

At an early age the children were taught to be helpful and while their father cleared the land, the children could pile and burn brush, gathered nuts and berries. The dear old brown cottage, with the kitchen fireplace, the square room, the bedroom and hall. The orchard nearby, the garden, barn and the dinner horn that called them in at mealtime, the well, spring and brick yard nearby, the cellar, and old Katy who plowed out the corn.

This family of Ezekiel and Julia seems to have been an exceptionally well knit one as far as family affection was concerned, love for one another is expressed in all their journals. The mother was particularly venerated and the father was well spoken of. While gathering forest nuts, wild flowers, fruits, with the tender care of a beloved and beautiful mother, loving elder sisters and companionship of older brothers made happy childhood and early youth.

During the winter of 1831 her oldest son Joel and a young man by the name of Almon W. Babbit came from Ohio and brought with them the Book of Mormon. Other Elders soon followed and the result was that Mother and Father and some of the children were converted. However, these facts were not discussed in the family circle on account of self-consciousness and the unpopularity of the doctrine.

But father took it under advisement and while thinking and pondering over the matter a few days later, as to whether he was converted sufficiently for baptism, and if he should advise with his wife and family on the subject or not. He was quietly informed that his wife had been baptized in the middle of the night. This information staggered her husband who was not prepared to believe that his wife, the idol of his heart, the light of his life, and mother of his sixteen children, would at this remote time of thirty two years of happy wedded life, act so deceptive and subtle. He would not believe it, he would go to her, which he did, and she explained that her son Joel and the other Elders had advised it to avoid publicity. He was not in the humor to accept it charitably. He told her that as she had been so hasty and secret about her baptism, apparently not wanting him to know about it, or take part in the blessings of the Gospel, she could have it to herself that he would never be baptized as long as he lived, and from that time on he took no part in religion.

Mother grieved very much because her husband would not join the church and feared lest her family would drift away. The Prophet gave her a blessing in which he promised her that none of her posterity would apostatize. This was a great comfort to her and it seemed to fill her soul with such joy that she was inspired to write the words of the song found on page 116 of the Sunday School Songs, entitled "The Joy and the Song."

On one occasion Prophet Joseph Smith blessed mother as she had been designated by the Lord to the Prophet, as one who would accept of the principles of doctrine of Celestial marriage at the time the revelation was given to the Prophet who had at once converted her and received her consent for her daughter Almera Woodward Johnson to become his plural wife and made her this promise. For your faithfulness, and acceptance of so unpopular doctrine, and bringing of such a numerous family into the church, "That when the crown should be made for your brow in the eternal world, every one of her jewels (children) would be there," and which up to this year of 1894 has not been the case, and now that as a family we number not less than one thousand one, of the kindred by blood has ever yet apostatized. The descendents of this wonderful family of pioneers now number over three thousand (3,000) in 1929.

Julia and her daughters were faithful workers making hats, neckties and much needle work to help in the building of the Kirtland Temple. Julia with her family started for Utah. Mother Julia lived much of the time with Joseph, but she had a home of her own. At times she stayed for intervals with her daughter Esther LeBaron. Also living in the vicinity lived other family members, Almon and Julia Babbitt, Delcena Sherman (Lymon R. was buried in Kirtland), William D. and wife Jane and Ruben and Almera Barton.

The death of Mother Julia, occurred May 30th, 1853. Few details of her passing are in the letters to her son Benjamin F. where he was serving a Church mission to the Sandwich Islands. She was scarcely seventy years old. She was truly a matriarch, a benevolent one and the entire family was under her sway. She has gone to receive the crown that was prepared for her. Her severe sufferings for a few of the last weeks of her life, she seemed perfectly willing to go.

JOEL HILLS JOHNSON

Ezekial Johnson was my father's name; he was born at Uxbridge, in the state of Massachusetts, January the 12th A.D. 1776. My mother's name was Julia Hills, daughter of Joseph Hills. She was born at Upton, Massachusetts, September 26th, A.D. 1783. They were married at Grafton, Massachusetts, January the 23rd, 1802.

When I was a small child, my parents emigrated to the town of Westford, County of Chittendon, in the State of Vermont, where they lived about nine years. In the fall of the year 1813, my parents, concluding to move to the west, let me go with my Uncle Joel Hills, (for whom I was named) who was then on his way from Canada to the western country. I cannot relate many incidents of the journey, being small, but recollect passing the Alleghany Mountains in the State of Pennsylvania and coming to Pittsburgh, where my Uncle bought a flat boat, or what was then called an ark, into which he took his family with several other families who had sent their teams by land. We then descended the Ohio River to Cincinnati, which was then a small town.

My Uncle located himself in the town of Newport, in the State of Kentucky, on the opposite side of the river from Cincinnati where I lived with him until the spring of 1815, when my father came to Newport to look at the country, having moved his family from Vermont to Pomphret, Chautauqua County, New York, about the first of June.

My father soon bought land and located himself in that town where I remained and lived with him until I was 21 years of age, which was on the 23rd day of March, 1823. I then, like most other young men, concluded property, I neglected education, which I now consider would have been more needful to me. My father, being very poor, was not able to give me but very little schooling. I purchased a sawmill, with a piece of land and a yoke of oxen on credit, and went to work for myself by hiring my board, and in two years I had paid for the whole by hard work. I then built me a house and my sisters kept house for me until the 2nd day of November, 1826, when I took to wife by marriage, Miss Anna P. Johnson, daughter of Timothy Johnson. She was born at Canaan, New Hampshire, August 7, 1800. Her mother's maiden name was Dimmis Welch.

I shall now relate a few incidents of my religious experiences up to the date of my marriage. When I was a very small child, my mother, being a very strict Presbyterian, would often converse with me and tell me about heaven and hell, God, Jesus Christ, the Devil, etc., and when but eight years of age I had quite a correct idea of those things according to the precept of men in those days, and sometimes when meditating upon them, I would weep bitterly, considering myself a sinner in the sight of God. I well recollect a time when my parents both gave me a scolding upon some trifling occasion. I thought I had not a friend in Heaven, earth or hell, and went out by myself and wept.

And thought unto the brook I'd go,
And drown myself and end my woe,
For if I drowned myself, thought I
My soul will under water die.

So I started and went to a small brook not far distant, and selected a place for that purpose, but while reflecting upon the subject a thought occurred to me that it was a temptation from the devil, and so I desisted from my purpose and returned home.

When reading the New Testament I would often wonder why people did not baptize for the remission of sins and why the gifts of the gospel did not follow the believer as anciently and thought if ever I became a Servant of God, I would never be satisfied without the power to preach the gospel and heal the sick that the ancients had. I sought every opportunity to attend religious meetings of every denomination with no other motive than to obtain a knowledge of the religion of Jesus Christ. When fifteen and sixteen years of age, my mind was greatly wrought up in reference to this subject. I would often sit up all night to read religious tracts and papers by firelight, for my father, being poor, could spare me no time to read by daylight. I also read the Bible with much attention, and a joy would often spring up in my heart with a testimony that the time would come when I should come in possession of that which I most desired; namely, the faith that was once delivered to the Saints.

When eighteen years of age, my mind became more at rest because professors of religion, of all denominations told me that I had experienced religion. But yet I was not fully satisfied myself, because I had not been baptized for the remission of my sins and received the holy spirit according to the New Testament but was told that all these things were done away, so I concluded to content myself for the time being, seeing that they were not practiced. About this time I commenced writing religious songs and hymns upon various subjects, some of which may be found in Zions Songster, or the Songs of Joel, a work of my own, but many are lost. I will here insert two short acrostics on my own name written in my nineteenth year.

Jesus my Savior and My King,
O How I love his praise to sing,
E'n now in youth and through my days,
Like David I will sing his praise.
He is my Prophet, priest and Head,
Jesus for me a ransom paid.

O, I will love him and serve him, too,
He is my Portion here below---
Now since my Lord hath died for me
Shall I to him ungrateful be?
"O no," My heart doth quick reply,
"No, never no, far sooner, Die."

(Another)

Jesus is precious to my soul,
O! yes he died for me.
Ever shall he my life control
Love shall my prompter be.
He is my helper and my friend.
Jesus to me is dear.
On Him I ever will depend.
He bids me not to fear.
Now since my Lord first loved my soul,
Shall I e'er from Him flee,
O! No a thousand worlds of gold
No tempter would they be.

In my twenty-third year, I was baptized by Elder Richard M. Carey, a Free-Will Baptist preacher, and united with the Free-Will Baptist Church at Forest Ville, Chautauqua County, New York. About this time the Universalists had formed a church in the neighborhood where I lived and was making many proselytes, upon this subject, of which I wrote a poem entitled "Anti-Universalism" which put a damper on their proselytizing and gained me much credit among the different religionists of other denominations.

Having gained some credit as a poet, (though I took none to myself) the Presbyterians offered to give me a collegiate education if I would embrace their tenets and become a preacher of their sect. I thanked them and told them I could not bring myself under an obligation of that kind to any people.

I have now related the principal incidents of my life, both in temporal and religious affairs, up to the date of my marriage in 1826. My circumstances at this time were good for a young man; having paid for my farm and mill but being anxious to obtain this world's goods, I purchased an adjoining farm which brought me several hundred dollars in debt, and to pay these debts in 1827, I took a job to build a sawmill, which I agreed to do, and furnish all the materials myself and warrant the dam against the floods for one year. With great anticipation I hired hands, bought materials myself, and warranted the dam against the floods, bought materials on credit, and went to work and soon put the mill in operation; but for the want of a rock to build upon I had built upon the sand, and when the floods came my mill dam was torn from its foundation, and great was the fall to me; for when my creditors saw my situation, they came upon me and took away all that I had, and left me worse than nothing, and with the fall of property, fell my constitution also on account of excessive fatigue and labor in the water, etc.

In the year 1929, I invented and patented a machine for striking shingles from a block at one blow, being the original inventor of this principle, I sold many rights which helped me considerably, but being honest myself and supposing every one else to be the same, I was soon swindled out of the largest part of my rights, and being highly disappointed and discouraged on account of my misfortunes, I concluded to leave the home of my youth and seek an asylum among strangers. Accordingly in the fall of 1830 I left home for the state of Ohio, and after traveling the state mostly over to find a location for my family, I found an old acquaintance of my boyhood in the town of Amherst, Lorain County by the name of John Clay, who invited me to move my family to his house and join him in building a sawmill. I accordingly entered into company with him and went to work. I sent for my family who arrived in the month of January. By the first of April, 1831, we had a sawmill nearly half completed.

About this time there was considerable excitement about the Mormons at Kirtland, Geauga County, where there had been a branch of the church built up, and Joseph Smith had arrived at that place, and held a conference, and was sending out Elders through the country, and many evil reports were in circulation concerning them which most of the people believed to be true. I obtained here "The Book of Mormon" and read it some but was so filled with prejudice on account of the evil reports in circulation that I returned it before I had read it through. But soon there arrived two Mormon Elders in the neighborhood by the names of Harvey Whitlock and Edson Fuller who preached in a school house nearby. Myself and wife went out to hear them. They preached upon the first principles of the Gospel, treating upon faith, repentance, and baptism for the remission of sins with the laying on of hands for the gift of the Holy Ghost with signs following the believer, etc. This preaching filled me with astonishment, it being the first discourse that I had ever heard that corresponded with the New Testament. But when they spoke of the "Book of Mormon" they made it equal to the Bible. But my prejudice was so great against the Book, that I would not receive their testimony. I heard them twice and concluded to stay at home, but they continued preaching in the vicinity and soon commenced baptizing. In a few days Lyman Wight, Samuel H. Smith and others came to their assistance and in a few weeks they baptized about fifty in the vicinity.

All this time I had kept at home except the two first meetings. My wife, who had always been a strong Methodist, had a desire at this time to attend their meetings which were held every day, and I gave my consent, for I never would abridge anyone's liberty in religious matters.

She attended several meetings and began to believe in the work, and myself having searched the Bible daily while staying at home, began to think that the work might possibly be true. I therefore concluded to adhere to the advice of Paul "to prove all things and hold fast the good." I accordingly came to the conclusion to take my Bible in my hand and attend all their meetings and investigate the subject thoroughly with prayer for Divine direction which I did for several days, comparing their preaching with the Scriptures which brought me to the following conclusions: Firstly, that as all Protestant Sects had sprung from the Church of Rome, they have no more authority to administer in the Ordinances of the Church of Christ than the Church of Rome had, and if she was the "Mother of Harlots," they must consequently be her daughters; therefore, none of them could be the Church of Christ. Secondly, that a Supernatural Power did attend the Mormon Church and it had risen independent of all denominations; therefore, its origin must be from Heaven or Hell. Thirdly, that it is unreasonable to suppose that God would suffer the devil to bring forth a work with the gifts and blessings of the ancient Church of Christ corresponding with that which he has promised to bring forth in the last days for the gathering of the house of Israel and by that means lead astray all the honest men of the earth. And fourthly, that as the principles taught in the Book of Mormon corresponded with the Bible and the doctrine of the Church was the same that was taught by Christ and his apostles with signs following the believer, I concluded that the work was of God, and embraced with all my heart and soul, and was baptized on the first day of June 1831, by Elder Sylvester Smith. My wife had been baptized a few days previous.

I then immediately sold out my share in the sawmill and endeavored to prepare myself for whatever my calling might be and on the 24th day of August, 1831, I was ordained a teacher and on the 20th day of September of the same year, I was ordained an Elder and received the following license:

> A license, liberty and authority, given to Joel H. Johnson, certifying and proving that he is an Elder of this Church of Christ, established and regularly organized in these last days, A.D. 1830, on the 6th day of April. All of which has been done by the will of God the Father, according to His holy calling and the gift and the power of the Holy Ghost, agreeable to the revelations of Jesus Christ given to Joseph Smith, Jr. the first Elder of the Church according to the articles and covenants of the Church and ordained under the hand of Jared Carter, who is an Elder of this Church. Done on the 20th day of September, in Amherst, Loraine County, and State of Ohio, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one.

Directly after I embraced the work, I wrote a very lengthy letter to my brother, Seth Johnson, and other friends in Pomfret, Chautauqua County, New York, my former place of residence, upon the subject of Joseph Smith being a prophet, the Book of Mormon, etc.

Having lost my health and property (as before mentioned in 1827 and 1828) and not being able to do any labor, and having but little means to sustain my family, it was thought best for me to stay at home and not travel, and I was appointed to preside over the church at Amherst and labor what I could in its vicinity until the Lord should open my way for further usefulness. I attended the conference held in the town of Orange in Ohio in the month of October where I first beheld the face of the Prophet and Seer, Joseph Smith. When I was introduced to him, he laid his hands upon my shoulders and said to me, "I suppose you think that I am a great green lubberly fellow." His expression was an exact representation of his person, being large and tall and not having a particle of beard about his face. I conversed very freely with him upon many subjects relative to his mission, and received much instruction and was highly edified and blessed of the Lord during the conference and returned home rejoicing.

In the following January (1832), I went to visit my friends in the town of Pomfret, County of Chautauqua, State of New York, in company with my brother Almon W. Babbitt, who was then a private member of the church. We visited and preached from house to house and found some believing and others very hard against the work of the Lord.

During our stay there, Brother Joseph Brakenburg and Edmund Durfee (High Priest from New London in Huron County, Ohio) being on their way to the east called on us, which filled our hearts with joy. We held several meetings and some believed the gospel and two were baptized. One of them was my mother, Julia Johnson, and the other my brother-in-law, Lyman R. Sherman. Both were baptized by Elder Brackenridge, and there appeared to be quite an enquiry among the people. But, alas, in the midst of fair prospects and great expectations, disappointment often blasts our hopes and proves the saying true that in the midst of life we are in death. For our beloved brother, Joseph Brackenridge, was taken sick with what was supposed to be the bilious cholic and remained in great distress, which he bore with the fortitude of a saint for one week and expired with an unshaken confidence in the fullness of the Gospel which he had preached, and a firm hope of a glorious resurrection among the just. The sectarian priests taking advantage of this circumstance and howling like wolves, seemed to slacken the faith of those who were believing, which caused the work to stop for a while, for we were obliged to return directly home and could not stay to combat the enemy.

On my return home, I was appointed to preside over the branch of the church at Amherst, which duty I performed according to the best of my abilities, laboring for the benefit of the Saints in its vicinity and other branches until May 1833, having baptized in all twelve persons and ordained two elders and two priests. I then went to Kirtland and being counseled by President Joseph Smith, I made a purchase of land and moved my family to Kirtland about the last of July and commenced making brick for the House of the Lord, then to be built in that place, in which business I labored until the 25th of September of the same year. But the brick was not used for that purpose because the church concluded to build the house of stone.

About the last of October, I was taken sick with the bilious fever and was confined to my house for several weeks. After my recovery I was under the necessity of building a house and laboring for the benefit of my family. I also built a sawmill to put lumber for the Lord's House on a small stream near Kirtland Village and labored for the benefit of my fellow creatures by preaching the Gospel wherever opportunity presented within the vicinity of Kirtland. My labors were mostly in the towns of Montville, Concord, Huntsburgh, Russel, Leroy, Hampden and Chagrin, (New Willoughby). In some of these towns I preached almost every Sabbath until the first of August 1835, having baptized five persons; but many others were baptized in Huntsburgh and other places who were the fruits of my labors. I also ordained two Elders and one Priest.

On the 26th of August 1835, I left home in company with Elder Ezra Thornton to travel and preach the gospel for a short time in the southeast part of the state of Ohio, preached in Huntsburgh, Parkman, and Paris, and on the 29th came to Palmyra and stopped at Ezra Gilbert's and found himself and family, some believing. In the evening we were visited by a (would be) learned Baptist Priest, by the name of James Macalva who swelled himself up like the toad in the fable spoke many swelling words about his college learning, knowledge of language, etc., and said that he had held debates and whipped out the best of the Mormon preachers and was acquainted with the Book of Mormon, and its origin and placed many anathemes upon its author, etc., and then gave us a challenge for a debate. We told him that we were ready to establish at all times the Gospel and necessity of the Book of Mormon, from the scriptures. I then asked him what fault he found with the book. He answered that it was ungrammatical. I told him that we might condemn the Bible upon the same principle. He then said that there was not an ungrammatical sentence in the Bible. I referred him to a few passages and asked him if they were written according to the rules of grammar but could not get him to say anything more upon the subject, but began to back out from his challenge by saying if we would go to the town of Hyrum he would debate with us there. But we told him that we should not go there where Joseph Smith, Sidney Rigdon and others of the Saints had been shamefully mobbed, but would debate with him in Palmyra at any time and place he would mention, but he would not agree to that so we went home. This took place in August 1835.

Sunday the 20th, preached at Mr. Gilbert's at 2 o'clock and also in the evening.

Monday the 31st, traveled among the Hicksite Quakers and could not get a place for preaching.

Tuesday, September the 1st, 1835, tried to get a preaching place at New Lisbon but failed and came to Wellsville on the Ohio River and stopped at Samuel Bunwell's.

Wednesday the 2nd, preached at Wellsville.

Thursday the 3rd, went to Franklin, 20 miles from Wellsville. On the way we met with a company of people raising a house to whom we introduced the subject of our mission and tried to get a preaching place in the neighborhood, but the priests and Deacons present put their heads together and prevented us and then told us to shake the dust from our feet as a testimony against them and leave them and their own blood should be upon their own heads. And after warning them sufficiently we left them and went on our way and came to Brother Boutzons, Franklin Township, where Brother David Evans had labored and baptized six. We found them in good faith and preached to them two evenings in succession.

Sunday the 6th, preached in the village of Hanover at 2 o'clock and had a good congregation and good attention. Several Campbellite priests were present. I thought it a good opportunity to preach upon the subject of Priesthood. I commenced by saying that there were only three Priesthoods mentioned in the Bible and only two of them were given by the God of Heaven for the benefit of mankind, and they two were the Melchizedek and Aaronic Priesthoods, showing that it was through them only that mankind could obtain salvation. I then introduced the Priesthood of Baal as the third Priesthood mentioned in the Bible and brought up the circumstance of Elija the Prophet and the Priest of Baal to show the contrast between the Priesthood of God and that of Baal. I then said, "If I ask the Priests of modern days if they have received the Melchizedek Priesthood their answer will be no, for that is too holy for men in these days. Then if I ask if they have received the Aaronic, No, is their reply again for that was done away at the coming of Christ." Then said I, "They must have received the Baalan Priesthood for they have claim upon no other."

While making these remarks the people stared at me with profound silence at the close of which I told the people that there was liberty for remarks, but no reply was made.

Wednesday, 16th, Went to hear a Campbellite preacher who compared the gospel to glass and said as sun glasses are used to light pipes and cigars with, so we may use the gospel to light our souls with the love of God and said it was a good magnifying glass to magnify our sins by, and might be used as spectacles, etc.

Monday 21st, Started for home where I arrived September 1835, the 23rd day. I have not labored but a little with my own hands on the Lord's House on the account of bodily infirmity, but yet I have contributed of my means, such as cash, lumber, stock and other property, all that lay in my power consistant with my poor health and indigent circumstances.

The building of the temple in Kirtland was a great undertaking considering the poverty and minority of the church and it required the utmost exertion of every member to accomplish so great an undertaking for we had but very few friends among the world, while we had thousands of enemies who were holding their secret meetings to devise plans to thwart and overthrow all our arrangements. We were obliged to keep up night watches to prevent being mobbed and our works being overthrown, but the Lord had promised to keep a strong hold in Kirtland for the space of five years; therefore, we were warned of all the devices of our enemies in time to elude them until the temple was completed, the saints endowed, and the five years expired.

On the 8th day of March 1835, all the male members of the church were called together to be blessed under the hands of the First Presidency of the Church for their faithfulness in building the Lord's House. I was also blessed with the rest of the brethren at the same time. I was present at nearly all the most important meetings and councils of the Church; was present at the calling and ordination of the Twelve Apostles; also at the calling and ordination of the First Seventy Elders and their presidents. I also received my endowments in the House of the Lord in the winter and spring of 1836 with the rest of the Elders by ordinations, washings, annointings, sealings, etc. I attended all the metings previous to the dedication and also the dedication on the 27th of March 1836, with the meetings and councils that followed and saw and heard much of the power of God manifested as mentioned in the life of Joseph Smith. I was also chosen a member of the second quorum of Seventies and received ordination as such.

My health continued very poorly as it had done for many years, and the brethren thought that I was declining with the pulmonary consumption in consequence of which I told them at a fast meeting in the Lord's House (Father Joseph Smith presiding) that I was contending against all their faith for they all believed that I would not live long, but I believed that I should live many years, and if they would pray for and exercise faith with me, I believed that I should measurably recover, to which they all agreed and from that time I began to enjoy better health.

In the summer of 1836, the brethren in Kirtland formed themselves into a banking institution called the Kirtland Safety Society. This institution would have proved the slavation of the nation if it had been left to carry out its own measures, but the enemies of the church crushed it in its bud which proves that no institution founded upon righteous principles can flourish in so corrupt a nation as the United States. (Not very patriotic).

From the above date to December the 7th, 1837, I have traveled but a little, but preached in company with Father Joseph Smith and other places whenever opportunity offered and baptized during the time ten persons.

January the 3rd, 1838, I left home to go to Sandusky City on business and on the 7th preached in Amherst, Loraine County, Ohio.

Wednesday the 10th, I arrived in the city of Sandusky and on the 13th preached in the Academy on the subject of the Gospel, but the people were very hard and did not want to hear any further on the subject. On Monday the 15th started homeward.

April 2nd, preached in the Lord's House at Kirtland on the subject of the gathering of the Saints and building up Zion in North America.

July 2nd, Attended to the ordinance of baptism. I will here insert a letter that appeared in the fifth number of the 1st volume of the "Times and Seasons" published at Commerce (since Nauvoo), Hancock County, Illinois.

Carthage, Hancock County, Illinois, February 6th, 1840, to the Editors of the "Times and Seasons" and all the Saints of our God and fellow laborers in the dispensation of the fullness of times. Greetings.

Dear Brethren,

Realizing that all the faithful are wishing to hear from the Elders abroad and to know how the work of pruning the vineyard progresses in the last days, I had thought proper to give you a short sketch of my labors since the 6th day of July 1838, for on that day I started from Kirtland, Ohio, with my family in company with the camp of the Saints, called the Kirtland Camp, numbering in all, men, women, and children, five hundred and fifteen souls; fifty-eight teams with a large number of cows. This company consisted principally of the poor Saints of Kirtland, with the sick, poor, lame, blind, etc. with all that could not move without help.

We had a fine journey to Dayton, Ohio, where we stopped and labored four weeks on the turnpike; then resumed our journey and arrived at Springfield, the seat of Government for Illinois, September the 15th, and finding that several persons in the camp were sick with fevers, the managers thought best for me to stop and take care of them, which I accordingly did, by renting a house for their benefit and making other necessary provisions for their comfort. I then commenced preaching in Springfield in my own hired house, but the prejudice of the people, (on account of the difficulties at Far West) was so great they generally would not hear, but few were inquiring. Many of the brethren who were coming from the east, when they heard that I was at Springfield stopped there also, and soon organized them into a branch of the church, called the Springfield Branch, over which I was chosen to preside, after which we held our meetings in the Campbellite meeting house.

I continued preaching in Springfield and its vicinity until January 8th, 1839. The church at this time membered about forty members in good standing. I then removed my family to Carthage, the county seat of Hancock County, Illinois, the vicinity of which I soon commenced preaching, and also near Crooked Creek, and in April I baptized and confirmed several members and organized a branch of the church called the Crooked Creek Branch, over which I was chosen to preside, which I have endeavored to do, preaching to the church and in other places until the present time, having had many calls for preaching which I could not attend to on account of my ill health and indigent circumstances. I have baptized and confirmed in this vicinity 15 members, and brothers John E. Page has baptized several, and James Carle, two. This branch numbers about fifty members in good standing, and many more appear to be believing, whom I hope will soon become Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise, by being baptized for the remission of their sins.

Now let thy servants, O our God,
  Be clothed with power divine,
That they may spread thy truth abroad,
  And cause the light to shine
Among nations who in darkness are
  For darkness fills the earth,
That they may shun the devil's snare,
  By having a new birth,
And gathering home to Zion's land,
  Which was to Joseph given.
Than they in safety there may stand,
  When Christ descends from heaven,
To burn the wicked in his wrath,
  And to receive his bride
With righteousness to fill the earth,
  Which then is purified.

From your fellow laborer in the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Joel H. Johnson

I would here remark in addition to the above that when I first came to Carthage in January 1839, I rented an old vacant store house with several rooms into which I moved my family. I had not been here long before Sidney Rigdon, Bishop Partridge and others who had fled from Far West on account of mob violence called on me while on their way to Old Commerce to seek a location for the Saints, who were then being driven from the state of Missouri. And as soon as the authorities of the Church had concluded to make Old Commerce, (since Nauvoo), a location for the Saints, they came flocking into Hancock County and on hearing that I was in Carthage bent their course thither and made my house a stopping place until they could find a suitable location for the Saints for the time being. I had by this time, through my labor and blessings of my Heavenly Father, rooted out much of the prejudice existing in the minds of the people in reference to the difficulties at Far West and gained many warm friends to the Saints in exile who were seeking in Hancock County an Asylum from mob violence; for I had baptized several in the vicinity of Carthage, and also I had baptized several members and organized a branch of the church at Crooked Creek, eight miles distant in what was called the Perkins Settlement.

On the eighteenth of February 1840, I moved my family on to the West Branch of Crooked Creek, having previously purchased a sawmill and piece of land where I labored during the spring and the summer for the support of my family and preached on the Sabbath to the brethren. About the first of July I appointed a meeting of the church to take into consideration the subject of organizing a Stake in the Crooked Creek Branch. The Saints met and unanimously agreed that to establish a Stake if it agreed with the minds of the First Presidency. Accordingly we appointed a committee of three to visit the Presidency and ascertain his mind on the subject and adjourned our meeting to the 9th of the month. Accordingly on the 9th, the church met and heard the report of the committee from the President, which not only corresponded with our wishes but urged the necessity of a Stake and gave directions for its organization.

I was elected the President of the Stake and _____ was elected my first counselor and Ebenezer Page was elected my second counselor, or was chosen Bishop, and Elijah B. Gaylord and William G. Perkins his counselors. The High Council was then elected and after some other business the meeting was adjourned until the 15th when President Hyrum Smith was expected to be present to ordain those who had been elected to office. Met on the 15th; agreeable to adjournment when Hyrum Smith took the chair and called for those who had been appointed to office to come forward and receive their ordination. I was accordingly ordained to the President of the Stake, and all the rest were ordained to their several appointments. The location being fixed upon for a town it was soon laid out and called Ramus.

From this time on I began to make arrangements to build me a house in town so as to move in before fall, but sometime in August my wife was taken sick with the nervous fever, and my family one after another was taken sick with the chills and fever, until they were all sick but myself. My wife lingered about five weeks and expired. In the fore part of her sickness she manifested some uneasiness about her future state until one morning she awoke with a smile on her countenance and said to me that the Lord had spoken to her that night and said to her, "Go, daughter, sleep in peace and rest." From that time her mind was at rest about her future state but said that she should not live. Her greatest anxiety was about her friends that had not received the Gospel, for which she almost constantly prayed. She also manifested much anxiety about her family. She talked to and about her children much; she would often throw her arms around my neck and exclaim, "O, Joel, how I feel for you. It will soon be well with me, but what will you do with the children when I am gone?"

A few days before she died, she clasped her arms around my neck and said, "I have been all night thinking about you and the chidlren. I know that you cannot take care of them all alone when I am gone, you must get you another companion. I have been trying to think of one for you, but you must select one for yourself. I now feel satisfied to leave my children for the Lord has told me that they will be as well taken care of as they would be if I had the care of them myself."

After this she manifested no more uneasiness about her family, and fell asleep on the 11th day of September 1840, rejoicing in the hope of a glorious resurrection among the just. She was a kind and attentive companion and a tender and affectionate mother. She was interred in the graveyard at Ramus (now Macedonia), Hancock County, Illinois. The following epitaph was inscribed on her tombstone: "She heard the Lord unto her say, 'Go daughter, and sleep in peace and rest, Until the morning of that day when Micahel's trumpet awakes the blest."

Lines written on her death:

Saw the shrouded form before me,
White as in the evening tide,
When, with marriage vow upon thee,
I then took her for my bride.

While I look thus on my loved one
Soon to moulder in the dust,
I can say with a clear conscience
I have kept my vow and trust.

Though I now must wander mournful,
'Round my lone and silent home,
Ever listening for my loved one,
Which to me no more can come.

Still in those dear babes she left me
I can see her smile and form,
Which shall bring to sweet remembrance,
Her fond heart so kind and warm.

Short the time my Father gave me,
To be blest with her sweet love,
Yet the golden link thus severed
Shall unite again above.

Another Poem:

O lovely one and hast thou gone
While in life's early bloom,
And left me here to weep alone
My loved one in the tomb;

Must I in life ne'er see thee more
Thow lovely one so dear,
Has death thee from my bosom tore
No more my heart to cheer?

Yes, death has chilled thy loving heart,
And thou art from me torn;
Yet we shall meet, no more to part
Where none are left to mourn.

Then I shall cease my grief and woe
Nor let my heart repine,
The loving gem I've lost below
Shall soon again be mine.

Shine on, thou lovely gem so dear,
In yon sweet world of light,
I soon shall come to meet thee there
And claim thee as my right.

After my family had recovered their health a little so that I could leave home, I went to work again on my house which I had been building in Ramus. On the 20th of October, I took my wife by marriage Miss Susan Bryant, Daughter of Charles Bryant. (She had assisted in taking care of my former wife through her sickness.) She was born at Vergenes in the state of Vermont, August 28th, 1812. Her mother's name was Susan Fuller.

In the month of November I moved my family into Ramus, having previously sold my farm and sawmill, etc. I continued to preach to the church almost every Sabbath during the winter and spring of 1841, while our town increased rapidly and love and union seemed to prevail and peace and plenty filled our hearts with joy, but in the latter part of the summer we began to discover that false brethren had crept in among us unaware, who began to preach things contrary to the revelations of God by saying it was no harm to steal from our enemies especially the Missourians and there was no harm in meeting together and drinking ordinance spirits and having a spree now and then, shiveriering our neighbors upon wedding occasions to make them hand over the grog and good things. To carry out their object of stealing and other wickedness more fully, they formed themselves into a secret combination and held their secret weekly meetings. I protested against their teachings and proceedings both in public and in private, and warned the brothers against such principles as they taught which caused them to try to influence the brethren against me which they in part succeeded to do by their smooth words and fair speeches, for some of them stood high in office both ecclesiastical and miliary. One of them was my first counselor and captain of a rifle company in the Nauvoo Legion, and another was a Bishop of the Stake and Brevet Major of the Nauvoo Legion with four of the High Council, one of which was a captain of a company of lancers in the Nauvoo Legion, with ten or twelve Elders which formed a quorum which thought themselves. some.

At the September muster of the Nauvoo Legion, the companies from Ramus encamped by themselves and the officers suffering drunkenness and lewd conduct in the camp, disgusted many of the Brethren, who on their return to Ramus, made bitter complaint to me of their conduct. Therefore, on the next Sabbath I took the stand and commenced preaching on the subject of intemperance whereupon the Bishop arose and ordered me to desist, declaring that I should not preach upon that subject. I told him if the Church had appointed him to preside that I would sit down and let him go ahead, if not to sit down himself and pay attention to his own business, upon which my first counselor arose and declared that they had heard that I was going to preach upon that subject and had come to stop me -- upon which I called a vote of the congregation to know whether I should proceed with my discourse or not. The vote carried in the affirmative. I then called for order, but the Bishop and his colleagues kept up such a confusion that no order was to be had. After hearing their abuses for a while, I left the house and went home.

A few days afterward I called the Church together to know what was to be done, upon which some of their men brought a complaint against me for leaving the house on the Sabbath before. I acknowledged that I had done wrong in leaving the house and accordingly asked forgiveness of the Church which was unanimously granted. I told them that I had ought to have sent for a peace officer and had those peace breakers punished according to law instead of leaving the house, for which neglect I felt regret; but the clan being determined to justify themselves in their proceedings, we concluded to adjourn the meeting for a few days for further consideration at which time the Church came together again to see what could be done in reference to our difficulties, upon which those men, (after finding with all their eloquence and smooth words they could not gain the majority of the Church in their favor) concluded to make a partial confession which they did to keep themselves from being disfellowshipped by the Church. But I soon found that their hatred towards me was not diminished in the least, for upon all occasions when we met in council to transact Church and other business, they would lay a snare for me by trying to make me an offender for a word, etc.

On the 4th of November 1841, the High Council met (this meeting proved to be its last) to transact business, when the Bishop (though not a member of the Council) endeavored to take the lead of all the business for which I rebuked him, which made him very angry with me. Upon which my first counselor with the other four High Counselors (before alluded to) took sides with him and seemed very much pleased at the disagreement. My first counselor then said that he had been praying that something would transpire that would place the odium of all the difficulties in Ramus on the right one, to which I responded, "Amen," insinuating that I was the black sheep. The next day after this meeting my first counselor, with four others of the clan, left Ramus upon some business of their own secret concoting, and in a few days we received a letter from some of them stating that the whole five were in Mammoth jail for stealing. I then saw that my first counselor's prayers were answered upon his own head, he being one of the principal leaders of the clan. On the 18th of November the Church being together with Elder Brigham Young, Richards and Savage from Nauvoo and having examined witnesses on the case of the above named five persons who were in jail, it was unanimously resolved that the five be expelled from the church. On the 4th of December 1841, the church met in conference. Hyrum Smith, Brigham Young, John Taylor, H.C. Kimball, Willard Richards, and others from Nauvoo were present. After considering our difficulties it was resolved to disorganize the Stake after which John Lauson was appointed to preside which relieved me from cares and perplexities of mind from which I had long wished to be honorably released on account of my poor health.

I have said but very little in regard to the mobs that have followed the Church from its organization on the 6th of April 1830, to its final expulsion from the United States to the valleys of the mountains in 1847, my main object having been to relate a few of the principal incidents of my own life. But I would here say that after the massacre of the Patriarch, Hyrum Smith and Joseph, the Prophet, by an armed mob in Carthage Jail, on the 27th of June 1844, there was a short rest for the Saints in Hancock for the mob supposed that after the heads of the Church were dead that the Church would be broken up and scattered, and that would be an end of Mormonism. But in this they found that the members of the Church were more determined than ever to carry out the measures of their ever beloved and martyred Patriarch and Prophet. When they saw this, they were infuriated more than ever, and in September 1845 they commenced burning houses and other buildings and destroying property and driving the Saints from their homes with a full determination to drive the whole society, which they succeeded to accomplish in the spring of 1846. I was then running my sawmill on Crooked Creek, and sometime in March while myself and wife were absent to Nauvoo, an armed mob surrounded my house and told my little children that if their father and family did not leave the country immediately that their lives would be taken and property destroyed. But I had no means to get away with, for I could not sell my property for anything that would move me away. So I kept on running the mill and fulfilling a few small contracts that I had made in order to raise a little means to help to get away by the first of May, when about 2 o'clock in the morning I was awakened by the tramping of horses and heard a voice calling me to the door. I arose went to the door and discovered that my house was surrounded by a mob of about one hundred men armed with guns, swords, pistols and dirks. They asked me if I was preparing to leave, I told them that I was. They then said if I did not leave the country by the first day of June that my life would be taken and my property destroyed, and after warning and threatening me very sharply they left.

I made every exertion in my power to get away by this time specified by the mob and the last week in May I left the mill and went up to Masedonia and stopped at the house of my father until the 30th, when I left for Knox County, but the night after I left an armed mob surrounded the house where they supposed that I was and called for me, but I had gone the morning before and saved them the trouble of killing me as they anticipated.

On October 25, 1845 I was married and sealed to Miss Janet Fife, by Father John Smith, Patriarch, officiated. Janet was born at Leith in Scotland, February 17th, 1827, and emigrated to America in 1842.

In the spring of 1848, I sold the land that I obtained in exchange for my Hancock property for the sum of ninety dollars in cash and trade. I then made every necessary arrangement in my power for my move to the west, and having obtained three wagons, five yoke of oxen and steers, and a few cows and sheep with necessary provisions, etc. I loaded my wagons and started on the 6th day of May 1848, for the City of Great Salt Lake in Upper California.

I joined another family by name of David Rowe. His family consisted of himself, wife and four children. My family consisted of my two wives and six children. We stopped in Nauvoo and visited with our friends. We crossed over the river to Montrose and visited with my brother Joseph for a week, sheared my sheep, sold the wool, etc. We traveled to Winter Quarters on a crooked bad road we repaired and built many bridges.

We stayed in Winter Quarters a month, waiting for Doctor Richards and Amasa Lyman's company. After much fatigue, many hardships, and difficulties, and the loss of one yoke of oxen, one heifer and twenty-two sheep, we arrived in the city of Great Salt Lake on the 19th day of October 1848, having accomplished a journey of fifteen hundred miles from Knox County, Illinois, to Great Salt Lake City in Upper Calif.

I soon built me a small cabin at the mouth of Mill Creek Canyon, eight miles southeast of the city, into which I moved my family on the 19th day of November 1848. I was ordained Bishop of the Mill Creek Ward, and also elected Justice of the Peace.

It was a hard winter having lost one yoke of my oxen and had to sell the rest, cows and sheep to prevent them from starving to death. I kept a small yoke of steers. In the spring having to fence and break new land, I raised but little grain thru the summer. In the fall I selected land for a farm near the big Cottonwood Creek, eight miles south of the City. I built another house and moved into it the first of December, which was the first house fit for human abode since I was driven from Hancock County in May 1846.

In the summer of 1849 the State of Deseret was organized with all its official members and I was elected a member of the House of Representatives, the first session of which commenced on the 8th of December 1849.

Having been selected by G.A. Smith to assist in forming a settlement at the Little Salt Lake Valley, in the fall of 1850, I sent out with the expedition my two eldest sons, Sixtus and Nephi, with two teams laden with iron for mill building, necessary tools and provisions, and in the course of the winter, I sold my farm and made other necessary arrangements, and started on the 14th of March 1851 with a part of my family and three teams laden with provisions for the settlement, and arrived April 10th, and found the boys had taken land in the field, and were putting in crops and had done very well. I joined them and took more land and put in all the grain and potatoes that we could.

On the 15th of May, President Brigham Young and many of the Brethren of Salt Lake arrived at the beautiful valley. During their stay they organized our settlement into the city of Parowan, I consulted George A. Smith about me taking up the land and make the springs the seat of my farming operations and future home for my family. He gave me permission to survey all the land I wanted. Our crops were tolerable good considering the dryness of the season and lack of water to irrigate, we had a frost in August that injured the potatoes and corn.

About the middle of September, I sent Sixtus to Salt Lake in 1852 for the rest of my family who arrived 27th of October, all in good health and spirits.

At this time George A. Smith counciled me to build a house and corral at the springs and herd the cattle for the brethren at Parowan and Cedar through the winter and establish at that place a sugar beet plantation and sugar factory as soon as I could. I built a house at the springs and moved some of my family in and later moved the balance of my family to my new home at the springs, which is no January 1st, 1852 known by the name of Johnson Springs.

Arrived in Salt Lake City 5th October, 1860, camped on Public Square. Attended General Conference and heard some good instruction and felt to rejoice and thank my Heavenly Father for his protecting care in returning me safe back to the Valley's of Ephraim, and for the prospect of soon enjoying the society of my family and friends in my sweet mountain home.

After attending the business of the load of freight at tithing office, went to Brigham Young's office and had Margarett Therekeld sealed to me.

On our way to Parowan we stopped at brother Benjamin's at Santaquin. My family met us consisting of two wives, Susan and Janet, and three of my sons, Seth, James and Almon and Brother Thomas Smith. My sons drove the wagons while I road home with a horse team.

Went to my old farm at the springs and found my orchard and fences broken down and scattered abroad, my houses stripped of windows, locks, hinges, latches etc. and otherwise torn to pieces. My stock reduced to a small number and in debt. This because of the grasshoppers and worms destroying the crops on the farm for two or three years in succession, which forced my family to abandon it. But I decided to go to work and repair the houses and move my family back as soon as possible and get ready for winter.

Very cloudy and cold, some clouds indoors as well as out on account of some little jealousies among the women, (which is apt to be the case when a new one comes into the family) but think they will soon disperse. How much more pleasant and beautiful is love and friendship than old bag jealousy which the wise man say is more cruel than the grave.

My wife Susan and I went down to Virgin City and planted out my City lot to fruit trees and grape vines.

In April I went with my wife Janet to Salt Lake where she was sealed to me in the Endowment House by Brigham Young.

In June I went down to Virgin City with my wife Margarett and my son Nephi to clear land and fence and make water ditches and planted four acres to sugar cane. In October I moved Margarett down to Virgin City. I obtained a good cane mill and made my cane into molasses.

While going to cut timber to build a house I was met by Brother Erastus Snow Senior and he told me to go up North Creek and build a sawmill. So I gave up my land and moved my wife Janet and livestock at North Creek.

My wife Margarett's first child was born at Virgin City 23rd December 1861. She was given the name of Esther Ellis.

Had just moved my stock up to North Creek by the sawmill and rained forty days and caused the North Creek and Virgin River to rise so high that hundreds of acres was carried away. When the house was done I moved Janet and family in, then moved my orchard and nursery trees and stock up to North Creek. I then went to work with hired hands, it was completed and running in good order. The town was laid out on North Creek and was named Mountain Dell with ten to fifteen families.

In the fall of 1863 I took my wives Susan and Margarett to attend Conference and Margarett and I were sealed in the Endowment House by Brother Wilford Woodruff.

A branch of the church was organized at the Mountain Dell Branch and I was appointed as President.

Because of Indian troubles the new Mountain Dell Branch had to move to Virgin City.

In June 1870, myself and three wives Susan, Janet, Margarett and my son James with two wagons went to Salt Lake City stopping at my brother William D. Johnson home. Susan and myself and sister Esther M. LeBaron went to the Endowment House to do baptisms and sealing for our dead relatives.

In the fall my brother William D. Johnson from Salt Lake City with his family, moved down to Washington, and my brother-in-law David T. LeBaron and family came from the City on a visit for the winter and also my brother Benjamin F. Johnson and family from Spring Lake Villa, and brother George W. Johnson and family from Mona Juab County, Utah all came down on a visit through the winter, and at Christmas we had a general family meeting in the St. George Hall. Pres. Brigham Young, George A. Smith and Erastus Snow were present. The house was crowded. We had a supper in the evening, after which we had speeches, dancing, singing, etc. Had a good time and broke up about twelve o'clock.

January 2nd, 1871. I was ordained a Patriarch in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, under the hands of President Brigham Young and George A. Smith in the house of Pres. Brigham Young, George A. Smith being mouth. About this time Pres. Young suggested to us that the Johnson family have what was called the Spring Canyon Ranch, twelve miles north of Kanab, for a stock ranch and for all the family who wished to settle there and requested us to go and look at it, which we agreed to do as soon as we could.

I made arrangements to meet my brothers and some others at Virgin City on our way out to look at Spring Canyon Ranch near Kanab, agreeable to the request of Pres. Young. We went out and found a beautiful canyon from half to a mile wide, several miles long and covered with grass, with small springs coming out at the foot of bluffs on each side and a small beautiful stream running from the mouth of the canyon, with plenty of building rock, fencing timber, and firewood, and a plenty of excellent grass for meadow and stock range extending for many miles around. We were highly pleased with the place and concluded to accept of the president's offer; therefore we made arrangements for some of us to move there in the spring and start a cooperative stock association for herding, stock-raising, and dairy purposes, after which we all returned home and my friends from the north, who came down on a winter's visit returned home.

In the latter part of March I moved my wife Susan and her two boys, Joel and Almon out to Johnson. and my Brother William who was stopping at Washington, moved his family out also, and my Brother Joseph sent out three young men. We took tools, grain and seeds of many kinds for farming and gardening and also trees and vines for orchards and vineyards. My two eldest sons, Sixtus and Nephi, also moved part of their families out and all went to work. Some to planting out fruit trees and vines, some to building cabins, others to plowing, planting, garden making, etc. I then started for home and met my brother Benjamin at Virgin City on his way out to Johnson with farming tools or implements, grain, seeds, etc.

My brother-in-law, George Wilson, came to my house and was ill with the Mountain fever, after a few weeks had recovered. He went with me to Johnson and found that the water had mostly dried up and the boys were hoping for rain. In returning home found that Grasshoppers had destroyed all he had planted.

Again I am compelled to find a new home in last years. I had found a place on the Sevier River which I call Hillsdale, it being a valley between the hills, Hills also being a part of my own name. I moved my wife Janet to Hillsdale; Brother George Wilson and family took the house and Janet and family went into the blacksmith shop. The next day we commenced anew our labors on the mill. Joel went to Johnson and brought over most of my stock, and then to Red Creek to Mill. I labored hauling timber for the mill, making garden, etc., Edward Dalton, county surveyor for Iron County, came over to survey land for the Hillsdale settlement; laid out a small town plat and surveyed a strip of land about five miles long, about equal distance each way from the mill up and down the river and one hundred and ninety rods wide. I expected to have started the mill before I left, but when we let the water into the race or ditch, we found it would not carry a sufficient quantity to run it; therefore had to enlarge the race.

This is the eleven settlements I have made in my life of about eight-two years.

Joel Hills Johnson moved his family from Bellevue to Johnson in October of 1880. He died there in the eighty second year of his life, September 24, 1882 in Johnson, Kane County, Utah. He was 80 years, six months and a day. He was the father of twenty-four children and his three oldest sons were ordained patriarchs, as he had been.

CONTRIBUTIONS AND WORKS OF JOEL HILLS JOHNSON

Joel Hills Johnson, was an inventor and builder, a colonizer, a horticulturist, a storekeeper, pharmacist and publisher, a civic leader and friend to the Indians, a preacher, church leader and patriarch, a writer and poet and finally; A man ready to meet his Maker. He was ingenious in his ability to utilize his environment to meet human needs. When a home was needed he utilized materials available and built it with his own hands.

Over the years, many homes were built by him. Some were constructed of native rock set together with mud and water while others used fine timber growing on the mountains, wooden pegs and homemade nails were used in all building.

When shingles were needed, Joel invented a shingle mill which he patented and used.

Joel Hills Johnson was called by Church authorities in 1850 to help colonize what was then the territory of Southern Utah. To Joel, this was a sacred calling which he carried through, faithfully, to the end. Pioneering was a fact of life in those early days. Before joining the Church, and while still a young man, Joel had left his home in New York and had ventured westward to build a new life.

After becoming an active member in just one year since the Church was organized, Joel was called by the authorities to help in organizing church members into communities where people could work and worship together. Among the numerous communities Joel helped to organize were Crooked Creek and Ramus, Illinois in 1840.

In Utah, Mill Creek was the first settlement over which Joel had responsibility, Parowan, in Iron County, Southern Utah and later as Bishop Johnson Springs were places where Joel and his family led settlers. The publication, "Our Pioneer Heritage" has recorded that "Johnson's Fort was built between Cedar City and Parowan as a protective stockade for the cattle from both settlements. To this spot with its generous spring, had ventured pioneer Joel Hills Johnson in the spring of 1851."

Records show that for the following twenty twenty-five years Joel and his family were "prime movers" in colonization of some eleven settlements. Besides those previously mentioned, some of them included: Mountain Dell in 1861, Bellevue in 1868, Hillsdale, Garfield Co. in 1871, Johnson, Kane Co. Settled by the Johnson brothers, (later called Enoch).

Undaunted, each time a call would come, Joel would start over with that same pioneering spirit which followed him throughout his life.

"When Joel first purchased his land in 1866, he sent to France for choice grape roots, and enlarged his acreage by planting cuttings from them. Cuttings were given to neighbors and friends, so in time many fine vineyards of high quality grapes were found throughout the section." He also imported many choice fruit trees of all varieties. With the knowledge of budding, many farmers developed find orchards. The introduction of alfalfa as feed for cattle was also accredited to Joel Hills Johnson.

As time went on and moves continued, Joel devotedly left his mark on the land and its inhabitants.

As a storekeeper, pharmacist and publisher: During the three years from 1857-1860 while Joel was in his mission to Iowa, and Nebraska, his health became poor and much effort was spent in his attempt to regain it. At the same time Joel worked with his brother Joseph in the mercantile and publishing business in an effort to maintain his livelihood and obtain enough money for his return trip home.

Joel's brother, Joseph had remained in the Council Bluffs area and had established a thriving mercantile business together with a printing shop where the Huntsman Echo was published. It was here that Joel had many opportunities to demonstrate his industrious and ingenious nature. He made the ferry and found the place for it and helped the saints as they came in to cross safely. Sold merchandise to Indians, and immigrants and passing travelers. Mixed and dispersed drugs for the sick, wrote and published articles in the Huntsman Echo, worked on the farm and ran the sawmill.

Joel Hills was always interested in improving conditions to make life better wherever he lived. People recognized him in leadership qualities which they supported. He built a sawmill to assist in the building of the Nauvoo Temple. He helped to lay out Parowan and was a councilman.

As writer and poet, he wrote close to one hundred poems.

5 Then hail to Deseret!
A refuge for the good,
And safety for the great,
If they but understood
That God with plagues will shake the world
Till all its thrones shall down be hurled.

6 In Deseret doth truth
Rear up its royal head;
Though nations may oppose,
Still wider it shall spread;
Yes, truth and justice, love and grace,
In Deseret find ample place.

Joel Hills Johnson

Joel Hills Johnson was one of the sons of Julia Hills Johnson who crossed the plains coming to Utah with his mother and brothers and sisters and his own family October 19, 1848. He helped to bury his mother in Council Bluffs, Iowa. Joel had the dauntless courage and strong faith of his mother along with the spark of poetic talent she had. He published a book of humns written by himself. The following is copied from the preface of his book.

Hymns of praise for the youth. Selected from the songs of Joel by Joel H. Johnson. Let the children learn to sing
Hymns of praise to Zion sing.
Salt Lake City published in 1882

The Preface:

The author of this volume was born on March 23, 1802 in the town of Grafton, state of Mass. North America.

He was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints on the 1st of June 1831. From his youth he had suffered much from sickness and (since his connection with the Church) from persecution and mobs, for the truths sake.

He has been driven from all he possessed several times, many wicked men have sought his life, but God has been with him. Most of the hymns in this volume have been written under very trying circumstances. The spirit that indited them would some times rest so powerfully upon the author that his sleep would depart from him at these times the words of John the Revelator, when on the Isle of Patmos would often be impressed on his mind, "And he said unto me Write."

In this book he has sought, in all simplicity, to teach the fine principles of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It is his testimony.

Last of all, to the Sons and Daughters of Zion and to the world, of the fullness of the Gospel of Christ. And of the building up of Zion in the latter days, through the ministration of the Prophet Joseph Smith.

The words of this book are true and faithful, being dictated by the Holy Spirit of Promise. And they will all be fulfilled.

I humbly dedicate this book to the youth of Zion, hoping that it may do much good in establishing the truth in their hearts.

Joel H. Johnson

Joel Hills Johnson came to Utah in 1848 and settled in Parowan and then he colonized Enoch (Fort Johnson) then he started three of four towns on the Virgin River, selling out each time and moving on. Finally started Hillsdale but he was too old to stay there so he went back to Johnson and some of his sons and daughters stayed at Hillsdale.

The songs of Joel H. Johnson's to be found in the L.D.S. Hymns are: All Hail the Glorious Day, Glorious Gospel Light has Shown, High On The Mountain Top.

HYMN 4

Praise God, all saints that dewll on earth,
All men of high or lowly birth;
Praise him,ye beasts and things that creep,
And all the fish that swim the deep.

Praise God, thou sun, while on your way
To light the world with glorious day;
Praise him, thou moon, with borrowed light,
And all ye glitt'ring stars of night.

Praise God, ye oceans, seas and lakes;
Ye tiny pools, that rivers make;
Praise him, ye fields of golden grain,
With all the treasures of the plain.

Praise God, ye mountains, capt with snow
And all ye streams that from them flow;
Praise him,all things on earth that can.
Vie with the tongue and voice of man.

HYMN 5

I'll praise the Lord from day to day;
How good are all his ways!
And while he gives me life to pray,
My lips shall sing his praise.

As long as I my tongue can move,
My feeble voice I'll raise;
Rememb'ring his redeeming love,
I'll shout and sing his praise.

I'll praise him for his mercies past,
In sweet and joyful lays;
And while my life and being last,
I'll write and sing his praise.

I'll praise him while he lends me breath,
For his redeeming grace;
And when my life is lost in death,
I hope to see his face.

HYMN 6

Praise the King of Zion's land;
Praise him, in the gathered crowd;
Praise him, when the crowd you leave;
Praise him, morning, noon and eve.

Praise him, when alone you stay;
Praise him, when you meet to pray;
Praise him, for the truth reveal'd;
Praise him, when you plow the field.

Praise him, in the peaceful dance,
Praise him, for the truth's advance;
Praise him, for his love and care,
Praise him, for the peace you share.

Praise him daily, and rejoice,
Praise him for his Prophet's voice;
Praise him when you wake at night,
Praise him for the Gospel light.

Praise him Saints, in solemn lays,
Praise him throughout all your days;
Praise him still when life is o'er,
Praise his name forever more.

HYMN 15

So Zion now is bringing forth;
Behold her children come,
From east and west, from south and north,
Oh! see them gather home.

From Babylon, behold they flee,
Like clouds before a storm,
To Zion's land where they can be Secure from every harm.

For Zion is a home of rest
Where none in bondage are,
Where all with union now are blest,
And peace and plenty share.

The house of God in Zion too,
Doth now begin to rise,
The Gentile nations soon will view
Its glory with surprise.

And many people now are heard
In distant lands to say,
We'll now go up unto the Lord
And learn his wondrous way.

Though Zion's enemies have sought
To keep his sons in awe,
They do not know Jehovah's thought,
Nor understand his law.

HYMN 63

Come, listen to the news
That comes from Zion's hill,
Ye bond and free, Gentiles and Jews,
And learn your Father's will.

From Zion he has sent
His heralds, to declare
That all the nations must repent,
And for the Lord prepare:

For soon he will appear,
As shepherd of his fold,
To usher in the jubile year,
As prophets have foretold.

Now Zion's light has come,
With wisdom, love and power,
To bring her scattered children home,
Like bees before a shower.

How blessed, then, are we,
Who now enjoy the light,
That kings and prophets longed to see,
But died without the sight.

HYMN 64

O how happy was I
When I head the Saints cry,
"We will bid our sweet homes all farewell;
We will flee to the west,
To the vales that are blest,
In the mountains of Ephraim to dwell.

"Ah! we long have been mobbed,
Scattered, plundered and robbed,
In the land where the Saints should be free.
From the land of our birth,
That we loved most on earth,
To the height of Mount Zion we'll flee.

"To the chambers prepared,
Where the prophets declared
That the Saints should be gather'd in peace;
While the plagues should go forth
Through the nations on earth,
We will flee while God's judments increase.

"Then, old Bab'lon, adieu!
We have no love for you,
But the Kingdom of peace we will love:
For that kingdom is ours,

With its Priesthood and powers,
As Jehovah declares from above."

"Now a house we will rear
To his holy name, here,
As the prophets did anciently show;
And their words to fulfil,
Unto Zion's blest hill
The Saints are beginning to go.

"There a font we'll prepare,
That our dead, too, may share,
In the blessings we hope to obtain,
In the mansions of love,
With our Father above,
When o'er kingdoms of glory we reign."

HYMN 65

Ye Saints of God, arise and flee
To Zion's peaceful hill;
There plenty, peace and joy are free
To all who do his will.

There, all who will his law obey
Shall soon with joy decide
That blest are they, and only they,
Who in his law abide.

And when you do, by faith and might,
To Zion's hill repair,
To make his service your delight,
Your wants will be his care.

Then come, Oh! come to Zion's hill!
Come to the shepherd's fold!
And there the law of God fulfil,
As prophets have foretold.

HYMN 52

I thought of the place where the two martyrs rest,
Both Hyrum, and Joseph, the Seer,
In sentences clearly methought they expressed,
"How sweet we are both, resting here.

"When called by Jehovah, and sent forth to sound
The Gospel, with book as the plan--
Moroni revealed unto us from the ground-
The only salvation for man;

"We published our mission abroad to the world,
For Peter, with James too, and John,
Ordained us with Priesthood, the truth to unfold,
The standard that makes the Saints one.

"The church of Jehovah we soon organized,
From warning we none did exempt;
While we with our brethren were mobbed and despised,
And treated with sneers and contempt.

"Imprisoned, and driven afar from our homes,
To Kirtland, our way did pursue,

And built up a temple, that Jesus might come
With wisdom his Saints to endue.

"We then to Missouri were forced to repair,
For wrath in our enemies burned;
No assylum for us was to be found there,
To Illinois then we returned.

"We built up the city of Nauvoo, the fair,
And sent forth the Elders abroad,
The standard of truth among nations to bear,
And build up the kingdom of God.

"While thus we're obeying our Master's command,
Our enemies all were agreed
In Carthage to slay us--a boasted free land--
While government winked at the deed.

"Our testament now with our blood we have sealed,
No better on earth can be found.
And all who oppose what the Lord has revealed
Through us, to destruction are bound."

HYMN 53

Crown him; yes, the blessed Savior,
Who for our redemption came;
And has died that we forever
Our salvation may obtain.

Crown him; Father, with thy glory,
Thy first born, forever blest!
Who in faithfulness before thee,
Brought salvation to the rest.

Crown him; is by all repeated,
With all honor heav'n can give.
Let his glory be completed;
He has died that all may live.

Crown thy sons, thy faithful martyrs,
Who now from the altar call,
Who from truth made no departures,
Hyrum, Joseph too, and all!

Crown the Saints; yes every servant
Who is faithful in thy cause;
Who in truth and love are fervent,
To fulfil thy righteous laws.

Crown thy faithful ones who know thee,
Crown them with celestial wives;
Crown them with thy sons in glory;
Crown them with eternal lives!

HYMN 54

Yes, Zion has awoke at length,
And now is putting on her strength;
And, being clothed with light divine,
In truth and love begins to shine.

On her, the Lord begins to raise
His glory as in former days;
For now her glorious light is come
To bring her sons and daughters home.

The nations now begin to see
Her institutions just and free;
Her wisdom, union, courage bold,
With fearfulness they now behold.

Now soon her glory shall be spread
Far as her heralds' feet can tread,
And Gentile kings, with all their gold,
Shall come, her glory to behold.

HYMN 45

O Father, still control my ways,
And be my constant friend.
As thou hast lead my youthful days
Still lead me to the end.

For thou with love and watchful care,
Did gently lead my youth,
While I with fear,with faith and prayer
Have sought to find the truth.

And when I saw religious men,
Diverse in point of creed,
The right way sought, and cried again,
My steps, O Father, lead.

He wispered,"Search the scriptures o'er,"
I did, and saw the way,
But none could find to ope' the door,
For all had gone astray.

Till Joseph came, with light and truth,
And words of endless life;
Which I received while still in youth,
And ended doubt and strife.

O Father, give me voice and strength,
In age, as youth, the same;
That I, a thousand songs, at length,
May sing to thy great name.

HYMN 46

In ancient days, by scorn,
The Saints were forced to roam,
Imprisoned, whipt, forlorn,
Without a house or home;
Were clothed with skins, in mountains, dens,
And forced to hide for want of friends.

And in meridian time,
Behold the Son of God,
Who never knew a crime--
Was taken by a mob;
Was by his enemies belied,
Arraigned, condemned, and crucified.

And many Saints were stoned,
Imprisoned, whipt and bled;
And many, too, were burned;
While some to mountains fled.
The blest Apostles martyred too;
And scores of holy men they slew.

Now in this latter day
Of boasted Gospel light,
The Saints are forced away
From ev'ry lawful right.
Those scenes are o'er again;
The Saints, by thousands, mobbed and slain.

Yes: Joseph Smith, the Seer,
And Hyrum, Patriarch, too;
Though both from sin were clear,
Were forced from sweet Nauvoo;
Like Jesus, by a mob were killed:
In Carthage jail their blood was spilled.

Then Saints, do not repine,
Although your lot is sore,
For soon your crowns will shine,
Like those who're gone before.
Then faithful be, and never yield,
Till forced by death to quit the field.

HYMN 47

The two martyrs, sent of God,
To proclaim the truth abroad;
To restore the Gospel light;
To redeem the world from night;
The Millennial day bring in,
And release the world from sin.

The two martyrs, loved by me,
Oh, that I again could see!
Oft with them I used to meet,
Sat with them in counsel sweet;
Heard them preach, and sing, and pray,
Taught me, too, the heav'nly way.

The two martyrs, I bewail,
Massacred in Carthage jail,
By a lawless mob--though great
Priests and officers of state--
Armed they came with swords and guns,
Killed the Lord's anointed ones.

The two martyrs, where are they?
From the altar hear, they pray
That the time they soon may see,
When their blood revenged shall be.
With the Saints arrayed in white,
See them shine in worlds of light.

HYMN 48

Whatever may befall,
Or wheresoever cast,
The testament of martyrs, shall
Be gathered up at last.

With all that ever sealed
Their testament with blood;
Ther names are to the world revealed,
As witnesses of God.

HYMN 23

All hail! the Gospel's joyful sound,
Dispelling shades of night!
While list'ning thousands gather round
To share the glorious light.

From heaven it came, by angels brought,
In this, the latter day,
And is the same the ancients taught,
When Jesus led the way.

It brings to light the ancient seed
Of Joseph, on this land;
And tells them they must soon be freed
From every Gentile band.

It brings the light of Zion, too,
And says the time has come
When Zion must be brought to view,
And Israel gathered home.

Ye wanderers, come from ev're land
Unto your Father's rest.
The time has come by his command,
That Israel shall be blest.

The Gentiles, too, may share a part
In Israel's great reward,
If they will turn, with all their heart
And ask it of the Lord.

HYMN 25

Zion's daughters, take your harps
From the willows,where they've hung.
Long, with melancholly hearts,
You have left them there unstrung.

Now to Zion's hill return,
Zion's peaceful, happy place;
Teaching all who wish to learn,
Music, virtue, love and grace.

Zion's songs again repeat;
Let your mirth and joy appear;
Playing on your harps so sweet,
Unto all who wish to hear.

In captivity no more
Shall your bosom heave the sigh;
With the Saints on Zion's shore,
You shall soon see eye to eye.

HYMN 26

The days have arrived,by prophets foretold,
In which many secrets the Lord will unfold,
And lift up an ensign,a standard on earth,
And call for his Israel, and bring them
all forth.

He'll plant them again in old Palestine,
In Zion, also, where the true light will shine.
And now, in fulfilment of what he has said,
Has raised up a prophet to stand at their head.

He's brought forth a record, a book of great worth,
The true stick of Ephraim,long hid in the earth,
And joined it with Judah's, that both may be one,
The Priesthood restored, and to many made known.

The kingdom's established in Jesus great name,
Apostles and prophets to govern the same.

The Holy Ghost given, as Peter has told
With gifts of rich blessings, more precious than gold.

The ensign's now reared, as prophets have shown,
That nations may see, while the trumpet is blown;
And servants sent forth to proclaim the glad news,
With this invitation to Gentiles and Jews:

Come, repent of your sins, the Gospel
espouse,
And bring up your riches to build the Lord's house;
Your silver and gold, your gems, zinc and brass,
Your copper and iron, your lead, tin and glass,

Your cedar, your boxwood, your fir tree and pine,
Your beasts, too, of burden, your wheat, oil and wine;
And also your workmen of art, skill and taste,
The house of our God to ~~rear~~ in great haste.

NANCY MARIA JOHNSON

Nancy Maria was born August 2, 1803 at Northborough, Mass. to Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson. She was named for her mother's sister.

They soon moved to Royalton, Mass.

Her mother possessed a high religious nature and belonged to the Presbyterian Church. On the Sabbath Day they attended Sunday School and learned to read and write from the Bible.

In early childhood they gathered forest nuts and wild flowers. She learned to be industrious and work side by side with her mother with the management of the home to help provide for her brothers and sisters. From wool they made their winter clothing and from the flax their summer clothing.

At this time, young women were not thought qualified for marriage who could not, through their own industry provide all these things. Their cheese, butter and honey were home products. Also sugar, thousands of pounds of which they made from maple forest. Soap and candle making, with beer brewing were homelike events. Also making hats and socks.

She was very studious and at an early age taught school. She taught most of her brothers and sisters.

Nancy met with a serious accident. She was thrown from a horse and broke her hip bone so near the joint that all the doctors nearby decided it could not be set and told her she would never have the use of that limb again or be able to walk without crutches and for four years she had borne no weight upon her broken joint.

In 1830 it was rumored about a Golden Bible. Her brothers, Joel H. and David were in Amherst, Ohio and had been converted and were baptized. Their mother had written a letter of caution to them about the new religion, but they answered saying they had already joined, and sent her a Book of Mormon. The family felt disgraced, but the Book was secretly read by the family and some devout neighbors, deploring the delusion into which the brothers had fallen.

When Joel and David returned home in the fall of 1831, the mother and the older children who were old enough were baptized. The father who was employed in Freedonia as a carpenter, was not at home. When he was informed of their baptism, he was very disappointed and deeply hurt that his wife did not wait his return and he never accepted the Gospel.

In the summer of 1834 Elder Jared Carter, a man of mighty faith, came with other Elders to their home and seeing Nancy on crutches, gave her a blessing and commanded her in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth to leave her crutches and walk and she did. Her family knew it to be the power of God and almost felt to shout "Hosanna." There was much rejoicing that Nancy was able to walk again.

In the fall of 1836, Nancy who had been mother and sister to her brothers and sisters in infancy and childhood, who had taught their first lessons, both on the Sabbath and in the schools, who had been always self sacrificing and uncomplaining through her lameness, now suffering with a disease (Consumption) which had already taken three and another sinking fast, until the 30th of October 1836, leaving her life's example as a testimony to the truth of the Gospel. She was one of the very faithful members.

SETH GURNSEY JOHNSON

Seth Gurnsey Johnson was born February 14th, 1805 at Royalton, Mass. Second son and third child of Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson. He was named for his Mother's Father.

He went with his family on the sabbath day to Sunday School of the Presbyterian Church where he learned to read and write from the Bible.

He learned in early childhood to be helpful. He followed his father in the summer time to the forest and fields to pile and burn brush. In planting time, to drop seeds, in haying to open the swath for drying the hay. They also gathered nuts and picked berries. There was no time to be idle.

While in Cincinnati with his father, Seth taught school. When he was about twenty one, the family was living at Pomphret, New York. It was here that Seth received a letter and Book of Morman from his brother Joel H. This letter reveals his religious integrity. At this time there was a rumor about a GOLDEN BIBLE. A new religion called the MORMANS.

Joel had already joined the church, when he received a letter of caution to him about the new religion. The family felt disgraced, but secretly read the Book of Mormon.

When Joel and David returned home in the fall, also other Elders, his Mother and all of the children who were old enough, were baptized in 1831.

Seth's Father was employed as a carpenter in Freedonia. When he returned and learned that the family had been baptized, he was very disappointed and deeply hurt that his wife had not waited for his return. He felt left out and now was not inclined to accept the Gospel.

In 1832, Seth visited Kirtland and the Prophet. He helped lay the corner stone and building of the Temple.

When the Prophet JOSEPH SMITH made the call in 1833, for all middle aged men and young men of the church go to Missouri to assist in restoring order, they were known as "ZIONS CAMP." The first contingent left Kirtland May 1, 1834.

Seth was now twenty nine years of age when called to this mission. Also two brother's-in-law (Lyman R. Sherman and Almon W. Babbitt). Due to sickness and privations endured on this journey, Seth returned home in a weakened condition. He related many marvelous manifestations and experiences which he had witnessed and related in detail as to how the enemy was dispersed and the Lord gave protecting care to the camp.

He was a valiant man and witnessed many marvelous manifestations and was beloved by the Prophet JOSEPH SMITH.

He lingered until February 19, 1835. He passed away from the illness of Consumption.

His sister, Susan Ellen who was twenty two years old, died one year later with Consumption.

DELCENA DIDAMIA JOHNSON SHERMAN

Delcena Didamia Johnson Sherman was the fourth child of a family of sixteen children, born to Ezekiel Johnson and Julia Hills.

In 1806 her parents moved from Royalton, Massachusetts to Westford Chittenden County, Vermont, where Delcena was born November 19, 1806. In 1814 they moved to western New York to Pomphret, Chautauqua County where she met and married Lyman Royal Sherman, 16th January 1829. He was born 22 May 1804, Monkton Addison County, Vermont. Son of Elkanah Sherman and Asenath Hulbert.

In the year 1829 in the village paper, was published an account of some young man professing to have seen an angel, who had shown and delivered to him golden plates, engraved in a strange language and hid up in the earth, from which he had translated a "New Bible."

About 1830 her oldest brother Joel H. Johnson sold his property and moved to Amherst, Ohio and her brother David had gone to visit him there. About this time they began to hear rumors about the "Golden Bible" that had been found by "Joe Smith," the money digger etc.

In the spring of 1831 some Elders going from Kirtland to Missouri stopped at Amherst and converted many people to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints into which both Joel and David were baptized.

Previous to this, rumors had come from Ohio, of the spread of what was called Campbellism, a new sect of which Sidney Rigdon was then the leader.

Her mother had written a letter of caution to her sons to beware of this new doctorine, which was soon answered to say that they had joined the Mormons. This news came upon them almost as a horror and disgrace. The first news was followed by a Book of Mormon and a letter of explanation.

Delcena and her husband, Lyman R. Sherman, her mother and the older members of the family and some of the neighbors who were devoted to religion would meet secretly to read the Book of Mormon and the accompanying letter. Their reading soon lead to a marveling of the simplicity and purity of what they read, and at the spirit that accompanied it, bearing witness to its truth.

In the fall of 1831 her brothers came home from Ohio to see their folks and bear their testimony and try to teach them, when unexpectedly there came to them, two Elders, James Brackinbury and Jabez Durfee, who taught them the gospel. Julia Hills Johnson and Lyman R. Sherman, Delcena's mother and husband were the first to be baptized, followed shortly by Delcena and the rest of her brothers and sisters that had attained maturity. The father did not allow the minor children to be baptized at that time.

Persecution began as soon as they had accepted the gospel and the powers of evil were turned loose against them to do everything possible to turn them away from the truth but their testimonies were not shaken. The persecution became so great that the prophet received a revelation that the church should move to Ohio. Delcena and her husband moved to Kirtland, Ohio. Her husband Lyman R. Sherman assisted with the laying of the cornerstone of the Kirtland Temple in the spring of 1834. They went through many hardships in Kirtland. Her husband made the famous trip as a member of Zions Camp, from Ohio to Missouri May 1834.

After his return to Kirtland he was ordained a seventy February 28, 1835, by Joseph the prophet and others. He became one of the first seven presidents of seventy of the church. He also became a high councilman at Kirtland. He visited the Prophet Joseph Smith and other brothers at Richmond, Missouri where they were in jail in the winter of 1838-39. At this time he was called to the apostleship but took cold on this mission and died before receiving his ordination into the Quorum. He died Jan. or Feb. 1839 at Far West, Missouri, leaving Delcena a widow with six small children.

She received a patriarchal blessing April 9, 1836 under the hands of Joseph Smith Sr. the Prophet's father. Her husband and other members of the family received blessings at the same time.

About the last of March 1839 due to the persecution she left for the Far West to cross the river with the Saints to find a home elsewhere as best they might. Assisted by her brother Benjamin E. Johnson and her brother-in-law Almon W. Babbit. They crossed the river at Quincy, Illinois where the citizens were showing great kindness to the persecuted Saints. Here Delcena decided to remain with her children until it should be known where the next gathering place of the Saints would be.

She moved to Nauvoo where she did baptisms for the dead for many of her people in the Nauvoo Temple.

On the 24th of January 1846 she was sealed in the Nauvoo Temple to her husband Lyman Royal Sherman for eternity and was married to Almon W. Babbit for time.

She was in Nauvoo at the time their beloved Temple was burned and her son Alby Lyman Sherman said that it was so light that they could see to read a newspaper several blocks away.

They arrived in Council Bluffs July 11, 1849. Here she went through many hardships and much sorrow. Three of her children died. Mary E. age 20, Elvira age 19, and seth age 15, all in the year of 1850. Also her beloved Mother Julia Hills Johnson passed away on May 30, 1853.

In company with her son Alby Lyman Sherman and her daughter Susan Julia who later married James H. Martineau, and probably her husband Almon W. Babbit, in poor health she struggled across the plains to Salt Lake Valley in 1854 with two of her six children. While crossing the plains her son Alby Lyman married Mary Elvira Swan at the North Platte River.

It had been reported that there had been a birth and a death on the trip and it was suggested that they have a marriage so they were married June 10, 1854.

Delcina died October 21, 1854 at the age of forty eight years at Salt Lake City and is buried there.

JULIA ANN JOHNSON BABBITT

Julia Ann Johnson Babbitt was born November 9th, 1808 in Westford, Vermont, the fifth child of Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson. Early in life she attended the Presbyterian Church with her family, where she learned to read the Bible along with her brothers and sisters.

She went with her family to the forest to gather nuts and pick wild berries. She was taught to be industrious in the home, helping to make cheese and butter. Sugar came from sugar cane and maple trees, soap and candle making. She also learned to make hats and socks.

She was trained in all the arts in the home. She was baptized into the Mormon Church with other members of her family, who are the early converts of the Church.

By 1828 she was a lovely young lady with dark hair and eyes, and rosy cheeks.

When the family moved to Pomphret, New York, where they lived longer than any other home. A brown cottage, with a large room, a hall, and other rooms, including a kitchen, cellar filled with the food the mother made into appetizing meals. The Pomphret home supplied all the food, clothing and the orchard supplied the fruit they dried for winter. The meadow filled the barn with hay, the maple grove and the honey bee gave them syrup and honey. They milked cows which had to be driven to the pasture. They kept horses to work the farm. Old Katy was ridden to furrow the corn. They listened to the old dinner horn that called them to the meals.

It was while they lived in this home where they first heard the Gospel. Her older brother Joel H. and some Elders who told this family the story of the New Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Her Mother and some of the family were baptized when the Church was only one year old.

Almon W. Babbitt was one of the first Mormon Missionaries in their home. When the family moved to Kirtland, Julia Ann met Almon W. Babbitt and mutual admiration ripened into love and they were married in 1834. With her husband she moved from place to place performing missions, and answering every call made by the Prophet Joseph, with whom they were very close. The Babbitts arrived in the Valley of Great Salt Lake in 1851, purchased land in the 16th Ward where Julia Ann planned to raise her family. She eventually became the mother of six children. During this time, Almon became interested in State affairs and on one of his trips to Washington, he was killed by Indians.

After the grim news reached the Valley, Julia decided to go to the scene of the disaster in an endeavor to find her husband's body and to salvage whatever might be left of his possessions. Her brother Joel furnished team and wagon, left his affairs and family and took her and the children back to the River country. There is little account of how she fared from this venture. She is mentioned several times in letters as being in various places, mostly at Ellisdale with Joseph or with the LeBarons at the Bluffs. The next news is a letter written by Joseph to his wife Eliza.

I have to announce to you the painful news of the death of my dear sister, Julia Ann Babbitt, who departed this life this morning at 4 o'clock. Oct. 23rd, 1857. My feelings of grief and sorrow for the so sudden loss of a sister most dear, I need not attempt to describe. It seems as though my last mother has gone. It is a time of sorrow indeed in our little family circle for the loss of our beloved by all who knew her, and most devotedly by all her relatives.

She had been slightly sick ever since she left Boonville, but had kept about and taken care of her children who also were sick. I came over on Friday in the night after my arrival, and she had been about all day. The next day whilst I was absent receiving goods she had a sinking chill and was getting worse daily, and I have been with her night and day.

I cannot write more now.

Joseph

Joel writes:

Saturday 17th, Sister Babbitt took a sinking or congestive chill and was confined to her bed until her death. She had medical attendance and all the care possible was given her by her relatives and friends, but she departed this life on Friday 23rd of October 1857, at 5 o'clock in the morning and was buried on Saturday 29th at Council Bluffs City near by her mother and other relatives. She died in the full faith of the doctrine of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, beloved and respected by all who knew her.

DAVID JOHNSON

David was born September 10, 1810 at Westford, Vt. The third son of Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson. He was named for his Mother's cousin David Partridge.

As a child he went with his Mother on the Sabbath to Sunday School at the Presbyterian Church. Here he learned to read the Bible.

He learned early to be helpful and followed his Father in the summer time to pick nut and berries in the forest. He learned to pile and burn brush and at planting time, to drop seeds. At having time to open the swaths for drying the hay. There was no time to be idle.

David went to visit his Brother Joel H. in Amerst, Loraine County, Ohio. It was about the time it was rumored about the Golden Bible.

Their Mother sent a letter of caution to them which was soon answered saying they had joined the Mormons and sent a Book of Mormon to their Mother. It was secretly read by the family and a few devout neighbors, deploring the delusion into which the brothers had fallen.

Joel and David returned home in the fall of 1831. Also some Elders, Almon W. Babbitt, James Brackinbury and Jabez Durfee.

David's Father was employed as a carpenter in Freedonia and was told that his wife and older children had been baptized. He was very disappointed and deeply hurt that she had not waited for his return. He felt left out and now was not inclined to accept the Gospel.

It was required by the Lord that a Temple be built in Kirtland. At first it was designed to be built of brick and David's brothers, Benjamin F. and Joel H. were called upon to burn them.

After obtaining a brickyard, David a young man of twenty three years of age, six feet three inches tall, straight and of finest build, through his ambition in labors upon the yard and in procuring wood with which to burn the brick, over taxed his strength. He took a severe cold and commenced bleeding from his lungs. He lingered for a few weeks in quick Consumption and died as he had lived, a true Latter-Day Saint.

His last testimony was given through the Gift of Tongues, which was interpreted by Brother Don Carlos Smith who as his friend and companion, was present at his death, October 30, 1833.

This bit of history was copied from (My Life's Review) by Benjamin Franklin Johnson.

A BRIEF SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF ALMERA WOODWARD JOHNSON SMITH BARTON SISTER OF PATRIARCH BENJAMIN F. JOHNSON

By Grandniece, Rose A. Openshaw
January 1958

Miss Almera Woodward Johnson, of Westford, Vermont, who became a plural wife of the Prophet Joseph Smith, while teaching school in Nauvoo, Illinois, the "City Beautiful" on August 1, 1843, was highly regarded by all mormondom, both for her appearance, character, and capability. Yet before a year had elapsed from the date of her marriage, Almera had become a sorrowing widow and without issue, for the martyrdom of the Prophet occurred on June 27th following the uniting ceremony.

Although born in Vermont, Almera, with her parents and other members of the family, had long resided in Pomphret, Chautauque County, New York. She was the seventh child and fourth daughter of Julia Hills and Ezekiel Johnson and was born in October of 1842. Her marriage to the prophet transpired near her thirty-first birthday.

On November 16, 1845 at Nauvoo, Illinois, approximately one and one-half years after the Prophet's death, she was persuaded to lay aside her widow's weeds and become the wife of James Reuben Barton. Barton's letters, written to Almera with their excellent penmanship, word dexterity and flawless spelling, indicates the writer to be an individual of considerable skill and attainment.

Five children, all daughters were born to Almera and James Reuben Barton, yet upon Almera's passing from this sphere, she was devoid of posterity. One by one her children had been called back to the spirit world, unmarried and childless, leaving her grief stricken and hope shattered.

Both her first daughter, Mary Ellen, born July 21, 1846 and named for her sister eight years younger than herself, wife of George D. Wilson, who died in her twenty-first year following with her second infant, and Almera Mellissa, who came December 12, 1852, died in infancy. Mary Ellen passed away August 19, 1842, a delightful little toddler of two years, and Mellissa, whose name was inspired by Almera's admiration for her sister-in-law, Mellissa Bloomfield LeBaron, died July 17, 1853 at the appealing age of seven months.

The second daughter, Sarah Delcena, a promising telegraph operator departed this life shortly before coming of age. Her birth occurred April 20, 1849 and she died twenty-one years later on March 24, 1870. Delcena, too, was named for a sister of Almera's, her senior by six years.

N. Elvira, her third daughter, whose birth was an event of April 19, 1851, remained a love burden to her mother for 42 years. Her retarded mentality made her incapable of either learning or caring for herself. Her spirit was mercifully released from it's bondage, September 2, 1893.

Harriett Julia, the baby and last of the five was born from her mother's care shortly after reaching age of accountability. Julia's birth transpired September 1, 1854 and her death occurred December 20, at eight years, saddening the Christmas season of 1864.

James Reuben Barton's belief and faith were apparently of but a superficial nature, for he eventually became an apostate, causing a rift that slowly widened, until a separation between nimself and Almera became inevitable. He wrote later, accusing her of stubbornness and self-will, insisting these were the causes of all domestic troubles, and hotly denying her accusation of ever having influenced his sons (by another marriage) against her, insisting her own coldness and unfriendly attitude were alone responsible.

He also wrote her a love poem in which he expressed doubt she had ever really cared for him, yet expressing his own unwavering devotion.

Almera was not only a homemaker of ability and an individual of taste and attraction, but like all her parent's children, her fingers dripped with service. To her nieces and nephews she was the adored "Aunt Mera" and showing his high regard for her, her brother, the Patriarch William Derby Johnson addressed her in his letters as "My Ever Dear and respected Sister Almera," and expressed hope that when called to the other side, he might be as well prepared for departure to a higher sphere as he was confident she was.

William Derby's wife, Jane Gadwalader Johnson, also wrote from Colonial Diaz where the couple moved, making their home later in life and building themselves a handsome dwelling, urging Almera to join them. They wished to look after her in her declining years, she said and provide the comforts they felt she so deserved and needed. They had everything, Jane declared to make her comfortable and happy.

Yet, although Almera's resources were at a low ebb and she was troubled greatly with rheumatism, her independent nature would not permit her to be a burden on anyone.

Death found both herself and William Derby in the self-same year with but a month separating them. The summons from the other side came to both in the spring of 1896, while Almera was in Utah, and William Derby in Mexico. William was the younger of the two by twelve years.

At her death, her brother, the patriarch Benjamin F. Johnson, wrote her, "Almera died beloved by all who knew her." Born in 1812 and becoming a member of the Church in 1831, she had experiences in all the vicissitudes of the church from that early period until the day of her death, in all of which she was true to God and His kingdom and to the nobility of her womanhood.

Almera received her lovely name from her mother's cousin and close childhood friend, a daughter of Lois Woodward. Her grandparents on her mother's side were Esther Ellis and Joseph Hills of Grafton, Massachusetts.

Almera was but one of three of the sixteen children of her parents permitted to remain on this earth until after reaching their 80th year. Death took her at eight four and her two brothers, Joel and Benjamin at eight and eighty seven, respectively. Almera's death and burial took place in Parowan, Utah, where she had made her home for many years.

Her sister Delcena Didemia, six years her senior, after being widowed by the death of her husband, Lyman Royal Sherman in January 27, 1839 likewise became a plural wife of the Prophet. This was effected some twelve or more months preceding his cruel martyrdom. Elder Sherman had been called to the apostleship of the Church shortly before his death. He was a man of integrity and influence and in addition to his widow was survived by two children, Susan Julia and Albey Lyman. Albey took as his mate, Mary Alvira Swan by whom he was blessed with fourteen offspring. Susan J., his sister became the wife of James Henry Martineau. Seven children came to this union and Delcena's progeny are still mutliplying in numbers on the earth.

At her death, her brother Benjamin wrote in his diary, "Delcena, who in feeble health struggled through to the Valley in hopes we would meet again, died soon after her arrival in Salt Lake City." Her death occurred October 21, 1854, at forty eight years, a year and a half before the death of her mother, Julia Hills Johnson. The latter died at seventy three years of age. Benjamin was filling a mission in the Sandwich Isles when the sad news of the deaths of both his sister and mother reached him.

Before his martyrdom, the Prophet Joseph had also requested the hand of Esther Meleta, another of the Johnson sisters, Esther was the youngest of the girls and had just reached her sixteenth birthday. She was fresh and attractive, but although pressing his suit he was obliged to withdraw for Esther's heart had already been won by David T. LeBaron, the man she eventually wedded and by whom she reared nine children. Esther's death occurred March 15, 1876 in Salt Lake City, Utah. She was forty-nine years of age.

The prophet had said that when plural marriage was revealed, among his first thoughts was to go to Sister Julia Johnson and ask her for some of her daughters. The Johnson family, was a Royal one, he said.

SUSAN ELLEN JOHNSON

Susan Ellen Johnson was born December 16th, 1814 at Pomphret, New York. She was the eighth child and fifth daughter of Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson.

Early in her life she attended the Presbyterian Church with her family where she learned to read the Bible along with her brothers and sisters.

She went with her family as a child to gather nuts in the forest and pick wild berries.

She learned to be industrious in the home, helping to make cheese and butter, sugar from cane and maple trees, soap and candle making. She also learned to make hats and socks.

She was very studious and taught school at an early age.

Susan was baptized into the Mormon Church with other members of her family, who are the early converts of the church.

The family moved to Kirtland, Ohio where she helped to make a living by teaching school and doing hand work to help build the Kirtland Temple.

When she was about twenty-two years old she was taken suddenly ill. All that was possible was done for her, that the loving sympathy of kindred, friends and physicians could suggest, but with no avail. She lingered but a few days and died as she had lived, faithful to her religion. Susan Ellen died from Consumption, March 16, 1836 at Kirtland, Ohio.

PROPHET JOSEPH SMITH Wrote:

> "At 10: a.m. Friday, the 18th of March 1936, went to the school house in Kirtland to attend the funeral of Susan Ellen Johnson, daughter of Ezekiel and Julia H. Johnson. She was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and remained strong in the faith until her spirit took its departure from time into eternity.
> May God bless and comfort her afflicted parents and family and friends.

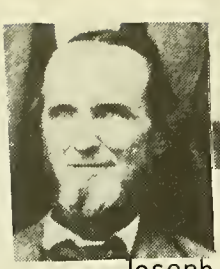
> President Rigdon delivered a fine discourse on the occasion and much solemnity prevailed."



JOSEPH ELLIS JOHNSON, PIONEER

Joseph Ellis Johnson, ninth of sixteen children, was born April 28, 1817 to Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson in a house on Canadaway Creek near the settlement of Laona about three miles south of Fredonia in Pomfret Township, Chautauqua County, New YOrk. It was through this beautiful and productive countryside where he roved "mid Wild Chautauqua's hills" for the first sixteen years of his life.

Joseph, as a child, was believed by his mother to be sickly. He was exempted from much of the hard work about the farm, consequently he had time on his hands which he spent in much study and reading. He was prize student in his school. Motivated by an intense desire to ward off the effects of his supposed illness he became particularly interested in finding out all he could about the medicinal properties of the many wild plants and shrubs that grew profusely in the area, collected them and studied them intensely.

It was sometime in his thirteenth year that a copy of the Book of Mormon was brought to the family by the eldest son, Joel, who had been converted to the Church at his home at Amherst, Ohio and had hastened to proselytize the rest of his family to the new faith. In autumn of 1831 Joel, his brother David and a young man of about seventeen years, named Almon W. Babbitt, came down from Amherst to bear to the family of Ezekiel their testimonies that Joseph was indeed a prophet of the Most High. Later in the fall they were followed by two Mormon Elders, officially missionaries, who completed the conversion. Julia was the first to request baptism. Shortly thereafter all of the children who had reached maturity were baptized, although the younger children were forbidden from it by Ezekiel who was unreceptive to the Restored Gospel.

Late in the summer of 1832 Ezekiel, in a bid to win back his family, sold the Pomfret farms to be given over to the purchaser "not later than June 1, 1833." He departed alone for newly opening lands near Fort Dearborn in Illinois (site of Chicago). He purposed to evaluate the prospects there and if he found them attractive, to send for his family. Meanwhile, Julia and the children were to remain at Pomfret until he either sent for them or returned.

In early spring he sent a letter on the way to Julia telling her to come, which, she said, she never received. She relinquished the lands to the new owners and departed to join the Church members who were gathering to the presence of the Prophet Joseph Smith at Kirtland, Ohio.

When they did not appear at Fort Dearborn, Ezekiel returned to Pomfret. He was able to track them to Kirtland, but there he was not able to persuade Julia to another course. He abandoned the Fort Dearborn dream and remained in Kirtland.

KIRTLAND

Joel had brought his sawmill down from Lorain, had purchased some timbered lands and had set up to produce framing lumber. He also accepted an assignment to burn bricks for construction of the Temple. He recruited his stripling brothers, Joseph and Benjamin to help in the projects. Joseph became aware that he was not as sickly as his mother had feared and he entered into what was later to be marked by prodigious energy and accomplishment. He helped Joel in clearing the land, tapping maple trees and making sugar, hauling logs and bricks, running the sawmill and learning many skills and work habits that would become of great advantage in the pioneer life.

With the gathering of the Saints and the building of the Temple, Kirtland was a boom town. The Johnsons prospered in all their activities. But Kirtland went from boom to bust when in 1837 a national financial panic struck. The moral fabric of the Church began to deteriorate when some of the leaders apostatized after defrauding both the members and some Gentiles, and the Church-operated Bank of Kirtland failed. Animosity against the Mormons grew into violence and by spring of 1838 matters had deteriorated to the point of forcing exodus of Saints toward Missouri.

Joel and the family were practically destitute after their assets were decimated. They were able to gather teams and wagons enough to start the trek by July. Early in October they arrived in Springfield, Illinois where the illnesses of Julia and the younger children forced a layover. Here they heard of the Missouri persecutions and the Extermination Order against the Mormons there. They were aware that the settlement of Commerce, Illinois was being considered as a new gathering place but had not yet been confirmed. They had no option but to wait in Springfield until the situation was clarified.

SPRINGFIELD

Later Joseph wrote of this period: ". . . with little means to help us we had a very hard time. I was forced to any light employment I could obtain, and among other things chopped wood, sawed stovewood, made axe handles and washboards, and was finally induced to act as 'Yankee Schoolmaster' which I did through the winter with much satisfaction and success, having 60 scholars, mostly small."

Thus he added another skill to his growing versatility. In the summer he crossed the river from Commerce (soon to become Nauvoo). He found some acquaintances at Montrose, many of whom were ill of malarial fever. He prepared medicines and nursed many of them. When the siege had abated somewhat he went on to a place called Nashville. He had begun to erect a store building when he was himself smitten with the fever which laid him low for weeks. Joel, in Carthage, got word of it, crossed the river and returned Joseph to Springfield and the care of his mother. Although he had not fully recovered from the ague and fever in September he agreed again to act as schoolmaster.

Somewhere, sometime during his illness he boarded with John Snider and his family; a daughter, Harriet, nursed Joseph until he regained mobility. He wrote of this: "Between the daughter and myself an acquaintance soon sprang up . . . and nothing intervened to hinder our often meeting and reunion. When sick, her lavishing and tender care won upon my sympathies and we were mutually betrothed."

Early in 1840 the family learned that Nauvoo had been declared the new gathering place. Shortly after the school year ended they started their move toward Nauvoo, but came to rest in a hamlet called Perkin's Settlement about 20 miles to the east, where they purchased land and changed its name to Ramus.

RAMUS/MACEDONIA

At Springfield Joseph reached his maturity; in Ramus he achieved manhood. He built a house forhis mother and the younger children, married, built a home for his bride, fathered his first child, obtained a post office for Ramus, was appointed postmaster, changed the name of the town from Ramus to Macedonia, became the first schoolmaster there, town trustee, school trustee, Church recorder and secretary to Patriarch John Smith, and acted as town clerk. He also developed a small farm with orchard, made bricks and was in the building business.

Much of this, however, was essentially peripheral activity. He had rented a large building in which he set up in coopering, cabinet making and the manufacturing of chairs. Later, joined by Benjamin, they developed a good business.

In the summer of 1844 he built his first small store and opened his career as a merchant.

(There is no record of how he spent his "spare" time.)

Of events around 1845 Joseph later wrote: "At and prior to this time I had written for publications which seemed to meet with favor. In my blessings under the hands of both Patriarchs . . . I was to be a noted writer. I began to reflect on this and became ambitious, wrote, studied, and yearned to become literary. I had many times written verses-why not become an author?"

In January of 1846 the family was forced out of Macedonia by mob actions. Joseph moved to Nauvoo, opened a drug store and went to work in the post office. His time here was short. In September after the surrender of Nauvoo to the mob, Joseph, Harriet and their two children fled, among the last to leave. They crossed to Montrose, then went up the Des Moines River to Bonaparte.

BONAPARTE

Here Joseph again established a general store with a medicinal dispensary - a forerunner of the present day "drug store" market. It was here that he met Hannah Goddard who would become his second wife, in 1847.

By the spring of 1848 Joseph began to feel a tugging from the current of migration flowing past his door; by summer he had resolved to "start again for sundown with 50 head of cattle, etc."

Apparently the trip across Iowa was uneventful. Whether Joseph had had the intention of going on to the Valley is not now known, but he settled in at Kanesville for eleven vigorous and venturesome years.

KANESVILLE/COUNCIL BLUFFS

Joseph began the repetition of a now familiar pattern, but on a larger scale than before. He erected the first framed store building in the area for his Emporium of the West, the grand opening of which was heralded in the Frontier Press under date of April 3, 1850 by an advertisement that proclaimed the availability of "a general assortment of staple goods (listing 25 kinds of fabrics from broadcloths to velvets). Also the best assortment and most fashionable patterns and varieties of FANCY GOODS, jewelry, toys, trinkets, flowers, laces, dress and bonnet trimmings, hosiery, gloves, musical instruments, dress patterns, delaines, alpacca's, lawns, muslin, and cambrics. Bonnets, shawls, etc. ALSO, school, miscellaneous and literary books...cards, stationery, pens, ink...boots, shoes, slips, hats and caps...ALSO, a very large and splendid assortment of family and patent medicines...ague and fever medicines...A variety of crockery and glassware, tools and cutlery, powder, shot, lead, caps, soap, candles, salt, flour, a variety of ready made clothing and a thousand articles too numerous to mention.

"There is also connected with the same establishment and in the same row an extensive BAKERY AND CONFECTIONERY ESTABLISHMENT. EMIGRANTS, LOOK HERE!"

In July of 1851 there would be added an "Ice Cream Saloon."

Joseph's other activities parallelled his previous ones. He started a farm, obtained a post office for Kanesville and a change of name to Council Bluffs, became postmaster and wrote for the newspaper published by Almon W. Babbitt.

In the autumn Joseph, Babbitt, and Henry Miller organized a band of Omaha Indians into a show troupe and took them on tour. The purpose was to get them to Washington, D.C. and obtain for the tribe a Federal grant to compensate them for the loss and damage to their lands from the effects of the White Man's migrations through their territories. Returning from their moderately successful mission Joseph and Almon met to purchase a new printing press in Cincinnati for the Council Bluffs paper.

Joseph later became editor, then owner and publisher of the Council Bluffs Bugle and of the Omaha Arrow, first newspaper in Nebraska Territory. In 1856 he married Eliza (Dean) Saunders as his third plural wife.

From his editorial chair Joseph to stir into politics and inevitably to make enemies. While he was on a trip to Denver these enemies began the process of squeezing him out of Council Bluffs by machinating a grand jury true bill against him for polygamy, and attaching his press. In an unrelated action his holdings-land and buildings-at Genoa were expropriated by the Federal Government, ostensibly for a Pawnee Indian reservation.

His eminent position in the community had seemed unassailable, but his attitude of "Independent in Everything - Neutral in Nothing" was not ingratiating to everybody; by this time nearly all his old friends had gone on westward. His polygamy had been generally known but quietly ignored until it was turned against him as a political weapon. It required everyone to take sides. He realized that the pressures would ultimately force him to leave Council Bluffs.

In February 1860 he crossed the Missouri into Nebraska and moved his families into Wood River where Joel was already settled.

WOOD RIVER

Here Joseph established an emigrant way-station named Johnson's Ranche which offered all sorts of supplies and services for the travelers. He set up his press again and published the Huntsman's Echo. The polygamy case against him in Iowa never came to trial, but together, he and Joel conceded that the anti-Mormon hostility would continue and that they should make their way to Deseret.

On August 5th Joel started across the plains taking with him Eliza and her small son, Charlie. In August a year later Joseph began his journey of seven weeks which brought them into the Valley near the end of September.

SALT LAKE CITY

Joseph made no move toward permanent residence in the Valley. He inquired and investigated and at length made the 70-mile trip to Santaquin where his brother Benjamin was pioneering. Ben introduced him to a well-watered cove at Spring Lake; Joseph was pleased with the potential. Encouraged by Brigham Young he made the move in the following spring. He bought land and buildings which he immediately began to augment. Again he started a store, made family medicines and began raising seeds and nursery stock. The printing press, left back at Kearney, Nebraska was sent for. In May of 1863 Joseph began publication of the Farmer's Oracle, the original Utah paper devoted to the cultivation of the soil.

However, no amount of innovation and energy could make up for the lack of market in the sparsely peopled area. The high altitude winters were onerous to Joseph and he began to look toward more clement surroundings. In 1865 the move was made to St. George.

ST. GEORGE

Again Joseph established general store, drugstore, built homes for his wives, a greenhouse, and for the next three years devoted his energies to the vineyards, gardens, and nursery. But in 1868 the long-supressed infusion of printer's ink in his blood erupted. The prospects of success for a new publication in Utah's Dixie were even less than at Spring Lake, nevertheless, on January 29 there appeared the first issue of Our Dixie Times, soon to become the Rio Virgin Times; another agricultural paper, the Utah Pomologist and Gardener followed a little later.

In 1872 Joseph and his brothers made an abortive attempt at colonizing the Skutumpah valley, a few miles east of Kanab. They made an investagative trip in January and found streams of excellent water and other desirable features that induced them to plan an extensive family project. But the water which seemed plentiful in January disappeared by June when they recognized that what they had thought to be permanent springs were underground channels of run-off water from the surrounding hills. Despite heroic efforts they were forced to abandon Skutumpah by late summer. It was a good effort, foredoomed to failure by the treacherous vagaries of desert water supply. So evaporated the dream of Johnson City, but the little valley of Skutumpah is now known as Johnson's Canyon.

Joseph had left his holdings at St. George intact. When he returned from the experiment he simply took up where he had left off and life for the next three and a half years followed pretty much the same pattern as before. Then in the spring of 1876 news came of the disvoery of rich silver ore in a sandstone reef about sixteen miles northeast of St. George.

Joseph quickly sensed the opportunities that would come from a mining boom town. His now reflexive procedure went into motion at Silver Reef with the building of a store-pharmacy attached, and a boarding house. Later the printing press would be brought over and the Silver Reef Echo published.

Joseph's family was now numerous enough and mature enough to perform much of the labor for operation of the enterprises. For the next three years affairs went smoothly-perhaps a little monotonously. Then in 1879 the store and boarding house were suddenly destroyed by fire. Joseph immediately moved to restore them "on a larger scale."

The restoration was a great drain on Joseph's energies. As his activities slipped back into routine at St. George and Silver Reef he assessed his situation. The boom at the Reef had stimulated his waning spirits which had begun to recognize that St. George had reached a plateau of development. The town was a blind pocket of the frontier with rigorous geographical limitations to expansion. There were no streams of hopeful emigrants passing through with a need for supplies, information and counsel. He felt an old restlessness.

He heard of new developments in the Salt River Valley near Phoenix in Arizona and mother Julia's old dream of a Johnson Dynasty was revived in him. In 1880 he broached it to his brothers but only Benjamin finally responded favorably. It was June 23, 1882 when their caravan left St. George to arrive near Phoenix 29 days later.

TEMPE

Joseph picked the area called Tempe, a little to the southeast of Phoenix, as the place to plant the land and build a new town. Here, on October 15, 1882, was born Joseph's 29th and last child who was named Rufus David.

On November 6th, after a long day of irrigating his plantings, Joseph contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia. For more than a month he valiantly struggled against his illness, but none of the medicines or treatments availed. On December 17, 1882 Joseph Ellis Johnson died at Tempe, Arizona. He is buried at Mesa.

In Salt Lake City on Tuesday December 19, 1882 the Salt Lake Herald carried this tribute under the simple heading:

Joseph E. Johnson Dead

> "It was with much surprise and great pain that news of the death of Joseph E. Johnson was received in this city on Monday. The sad event was learned of by telegraph, having taken place at 7 o'clock Sunday morning at Phoenix, Arizona... Very few persons in the Territory-or rather few of the older residents, but knew Joseph E. Johnson. The deceased came to the Territory in the early days and was constitutionally a pioneer and he died in the pioneer life. He was a man of restless temperament and indomitable will and energy. There are few things in life to which he had not at times turned his attention, and in all unceasing labor was the chief characteristic. He has engaged in a number of newspaper ventures in Utah as elsewhere, and was one of the best, briefest, and newsiest contributors to the columns of the Hearld. He had a remarkably clear idea of what constituted news and that is a rare quality even among men in the profession. Perhaps he was more passionately fond of the study and care of flowers than anything else, and in this he always had an eye to business. He was a man of intelligence, strictly upright, and as honest as the day is long. He had been trusted with important offices and invariably filled them with honor, intelligence, and with such scrupulous care as to win the confidence of all. Latterly he went as a pioneer into Arizona and was engaged in building up settlements there when he died. Since his departure from St. George frequent interesting communications regarding the new country have appeared in the Herald from his pen. His death is an irretrievable loss to any community, for it is rare indeed where one sees a man so active, so various in tastes and inclinations, so industrious, so hardy, so intelligent, and so honest. Many who knew him - and to know him was to hold him in esteem - will mourn his sudden and unexpected demise. Facts as to his age and other data are not at hand at present, but they add nothing to the worth of a good man. The Herald extends its heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved relatives, and mourns the loss of a friend and one of nature's noblemen."

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN JOHNSON

by Edwina L. Mohler

Benjamin Franklin Johnson a missionary, pioneer, colonizer, and Utah legislator, was born 28 July 1818, in Pomphret, Chattaqua County, New York, to Ezekiel and Julia Hills, Johnson. He was the 10th of 16 children, and all but one survived to maturity, and were among the first to embrace the fullness of the gospel.

His earliest recollections were of pioneer life, clearing deep forests, gathering forest nuts, wild fruits and flowers. With the tender care of a beloved and beautiful mother; loving, elder sisters; and companionship of an almost twin brother, Joseph Ellis; these, to him were the happy features of his childhood and early youth.

His mother possessed highly religious veneration, and early taught him faith in God and the necessity of prayer. With the deepest sympathies for their father's hard labors, all his boys early learned to be helpful, and even at six years of age they were accustomed to follow him in the summertime to the forests and fields, to pile and burn the brush, or in planting time, to drop the seeds, or, in haying, open the swaths for drying the hay. No one then old enough to become in any way a help was left to be idle. This carried through in later life with his own children and grandchildren. One grandchild, Ammon Lee Johnson, used to recite how his earliest memories were of going to Grandpa's where each child was given a hoe and expected to do his share before a treat was forthcoming from Grandpa's seemingly never ending source.

All support and home comforts were produced by home industry; from the wool, all winter clothing was made for the men and boys. Home grown flax was made into all the summer clothing worn by both men and women. All the bed and table linen and towling was also made at home. Cheese, butter, and honey were home products as well as sugar from the maple forests, while soap, and candle making, and beer brewing were common, homelike events.

In the year 1829, in his village paper, was published an account of some young man professing to have seen an angel, who had shown and delivered to him golden plates, engraved in a strange language and hidden up in the earth, from which he had translated a new Bible. "I could hardly refrain from wishing it or hoping it might be so. I think it was the year previous that there was seen at night in the heavens a large ball of light, like fire, which passed from the east to the west horizon. My older brothers, who were out hunting coons, saw it and came home to tell of the wonder they had seen. When I asked my mother what its cause or meaning was, she said it was one of the signs of the near approach of the coming of Christ, or the day of judgement." (My Life's Review, page 9) He later learned that this sign was given the night following the day on which the plates were taken from the earth by the Prophet Joseph.

In 1830, his older brother, Joel H., sold his farm and mill and moved out to Amherst, Loraine County, Ohio, where he soon came in contact with the elders going out from Kirtland, Ohio. By the fall of 1831, the family had joined the Church, except for Ezekiel and the minor children. Benjamin, only 13 years of age, was not allowed to join, but he did attend meetings, and his greatest fear was that it would not prove true.

In June, 1833, Julia Johnson took her family and moved to Kirtland, Ohio. From then on the family was closely tied to the fortunes of the Church. Benjamin had yet to be baptized because the Prophet deemed it best owing to the opposition of his father to the minor children joining the Church. Benjamin was assured by the Prophet Joseph that no loss should come to him for waiting, for, although not fully a member, he had partaken of every hope, desire, and spiritual influence with which those around him were animated. It was with joy almost unspeakable that he realized that he was living in a day when God had a prophet upon the earth.

It was spring of 1835 before Benjamin could be baptized by Elder Lyman Johnson. Prior to this he had received his Patriarchal blessing from Patriarch Joseph Smith, Sr. His blessing from Father Smith was to be realized in spiritual ministrations and labors.

Benjamin greatly desired to return to New York and acquaint his former friends and neighbors with the miracles of the Gospel. With this desire in mind, he saved his money and soon procured enough "Kirtland Script" to make the journey. No one would exchange it for him except at a great discount and that would leave him without enough for the trip. He then took his script to the Prophet Joseph, told him where he wanted to go, and asked if he would give him coin in place of it. He said, "Yes, Bennie, I will. It is right for you to go." He then comforted and blessed him, and his words made him more joyful than did the money, which he had so desired. He thus began to be better acquainted and more familiar with the Prophet. The trip was a disappointment, and Benjamin soon returned to Kirtland.

In the winter he attended the "School of the Prophets" with the Prophet and most of the first elders of the Church, where was first taught the Lectures on Faith, as contained in the Doctrine and Covenants.

Benjamin attended the dedication of the Temple and all subsequent public meetings. He knew of the endowments received by the elders, and learned of the ministering of the angels at the time of their appearance in the Temple. He had not yet received the Priesthood and thus did not receive the higher blessings, but was comforted with the thought that his time would come.

The time came for the Saints to leave Kirtland, and the family was soon on its way to Ray County, Missouri. Benjamin's health was improved to the point that on the journey, he was able to help the sick. He was also able to speak to strangers as they journeyed and testify of the Gospel. Such evidences of the favor of the Lord through which, by the power of His spirit, he could bear a faithful testimony to the world was of great worth and comfort to Benjamin.

In October they arrived near Springfield, Illinois, where Samuel Hale and wife (parents of Mary Ann, who afterwards became his second wife) were taken sick and soon died leaving Mary Ann, their only child, then some 10 years old, with Mother Julia. On the 13th of October they crossed the Missouri at Louisiana, and began to hear of great troubles among the Mormons at Far West. On the 20th of October they camped at Haun's Mill where the terrible massacre took place a few days later. On approaching Far West, they were met by the Prophet who, came to meet them, and they felt such joy at seeing him again. The family staved at Far West but the Prophet wanted Benjamin to go on to Diahman to assist the others in strengthening that place against mobs gathering there from the adjoining counties.

On his arrival he was at once introduced into active duties: on guard at night, scouting by day, or raiding upon the enemy, as the case might require. He was now nineteen years of age. At this the Saints seemed sanguine of their success in standing off all mobs and of ultimate triumph over their enemies in Missouri. Benjamin tried and did all that was asked of him but with a feeling of doom that they would be overcome by their enemies. General Wilson soon arrived with his 700 mob militia and every man in Diahman was marshaled into rank and marched with all arms into Wilson's Camp. His soldiers were formed into an open square. The men from Diahman were marched into that square, and, at the word of command, laid their arms inversely upon the ground. They were then, under guard, marched out upon the street to be insulted abused, and taunted by their enemies. As they were marching, Benjamin was pointed out as having been present when one of their farms had been burnt. He was then put under strong guard and marched off. He thus found himself in dire straits, as he was the only prisoner, and the army had great expectations of revenge. He was the only one to answer for all the burnings, and raids upon the old settlers. It was supposed that all the at Far West had been shot according to military decree. One of Benjamin's guards had been at Hauns Mill, bragged about his deeds there, and threatened Benjamin with a similar fate. "No fancied horor could equal the real horror of the presence and words of those fiends; and I have ever felt that their presence and their words, with the corn cutter covered with blood, was the most terrible ordeal through which I have passed.

Yet it was not the fear of their killing me, for I could think upon death calmly; but it was a something that grew out of being with and subject to those monsters; so much worse that there are no words to express it." (My Life's Review, page 46)

General Wilson finally gave Benjamin a pass, and he set out over the prairie to a house some four or five miles distant where he had been told he would find shelter. He had only the suit he wore, no overcoat, mittens, or blanket. Upon arriving at the house, he found it had been stripped. Even the chinks between the logs had been burned. He then proceeded to strike out across the prairie to a destination some ten miles further, to the houses of some brethern living in a skirt of timber between Diahman and Far West. The snow was over a foot deep. He lost his way and wandered for miles through the timber until, towards morning, he arrived at the home of Elisha H. Groves and was kindly received. After a small breakfast, he started for Far West. It was nearly twenty miles of bleak, rolling prairie with deep snow. He made it and ever after bore witness to the special providences that preserved his life. His whole experience in being imprisoned and the liberation was looked upon as the hand of the Lord and a testimony to his own purpose and glory.

Benjamin left Far West after only three days because it was not safe. He and others made their way to Fort Leavenworth where they went to work after asking General Kearney for his protection. Their work in general was the care and driving of six yoke of oxen, hauling supplies from place to place about the fort and reservation. Their food was good and quarters spacious. Others soon arrived. Some were seeking protection, and all were earning the means to prepare themselves to leave the state of Missouri, which had to be done by the first of April. Here Benjamin reaching his growth. He weighed 175 pounds and stood 6 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

In March, 1839, Benjamin returned to Far West and was ordained an Elder under the hands of Apostle Heber C. Kimball. He went from there to Springfield and stayed there until July when he went to Nauvoo. There he found the Prophet sick with a fever and was chosen to be his nurse and companion. By October the Prophet was well, but Benjamin was sick. Shortly he returned to Springfield where he stayed until February, 1840, when he left on his first mission.

After a successful mission of two years, Benjamin found himself in Kirtland at the home of Mr. Babbitt, his brother-in-law. A younger sister was also living with them. Closely associated with this younger sister was Melissa B. LeBaron. Benjamin soon took her to wife, and, a short while later, they all started for the west and Nauvoo.

His return, after an absence of two and a half years of such varied experience was a time of glad greeting for all. He had left home when but a boy in experience, the uneducated one - starting while sick and without money; and truly that promised Angel had been with him to preserve his life and to open the way for his return in health, not now alone, for a loved and loving wife accompanied him He was now not so poor, and felt truly that he Lord had given him more than he had earned and repaid all his sacrifices.

Benjamin soon visited with the Prophet who wished him to stay in Ramus, as it was then called, and act as trustee or agent for the Church property at that place, consisting of the then surveyed town plat and all the lands around the town site. The Prophet then made and executed to Benjamin a power of Attorny to use his name in buying, selling, and deeding property, which power he held and acted upon fully until the day of the Prophet's martyrdom.

About the first of April, 1843, the Prophet with some of the Twelve and others came to Macedonia to hold a meeting and put up as usual at Benjamin's home. Early on Sunday morning he said, "Come Brother Bennie, let us have a walk." They walked a way into the woods and then sat down upon a log. The Prophet began to tell him that the Lord had revealed to him that Plural, or patriarchal, marriage was according to His law and that the Lord had not only revealed it to him but had commanded him to obey it. He was required to take other wives. He wanted Benjamin's sister Almera for one of them and wished Benjamin to see and talk to her upon the subject. "But the shock was too great for me to comprehend anything, and, in almost an agony of feeling, I looked him squarely in the eye, and said, while my heart gushed up before him. "Brother Joseph, this is all new to me: it may all be true--you know. but I do not. To my education it is all wrong, but I am going, with the help of the Lord, to do just what you say, with this promise to you--that if ever I know you do this to degrade my sister I will kill you, as the Lord lives." He looked at me, oh so calmly, and said, "Brother Benjamin, you will never see that day, but you shall see the day you will know it is true, and you will fulfill the law and greatly rejoice in it." (My Life's Review, page 95) Shortly after that Benjamin and Almera journeyed to Nauvoo to visit their sister, the Widow Sherman, who had already been sealed to the Prophet. There, Hyrum Smith sealed Almera to the Prophet. Soon after this, the Prophet sealed Mary Ann Hale to Benjamin as his second wife.

The time leading up to the Prophet Joseph's death and afterward was a very sad and emotional period. "'Oh God! what will they orphan church and people now do! was the only feeling or thought that now burst out in groans. I did not go to see their mutilated bodies. I had no wish to look into their grave: I knew they were not there, and the words of Brother Joseph began to come back to me." I could do so much more for my friends if I were on the other side of the veil. These words 'my friends'--oh, how glad that he was my friend." (My Life's Review, page 102)

Benjamin was present when a conference was assembled to decide who should be Guardian of the Church. Many had put forth their claims. President Young arose and spoke. "I saw him arise, but as soon as he spoke, I jumped up on my feet, for in every possible degree it was Joseph's voice, and his person, in look, attitude, dress and appearance was Joseph himself, personified; and I knew in that moment the spirit and mantle of Joseph was upon him. New confidence and joy continued to spring up within me, and the subject of our finding a new home in the wilderness of the Great West was one that occupied much of my thought." (My Life's Review, page 104)

Benjamin organized an emigration company and started wagon making. The Temple was open for endowments and sealings, and about December 1, 1845, a third wife, Miss Clarinda Gleason was sealed to him. This was the only marriage that did not last. Clarinda was much older than the second wife and was not willing to take her proper place.

6 February, 1846, marked their departure from Nauvoo. They camped on Sugar Creek while the Saints gathered from Nauvoo. Benjamin found himself in midwinter without a dollar, on a journey whose length and time he did not know, with three wives, the youngest in a delicate condition, three small children and two spand of animals to care for, with only provisions enough to sustain them for a few weeks at most. Faith in the Lord brought them through many frightening experiences.

April found them in camp at Garden Grove, on the headwaters of Grand River. Here it was proposed to have a portion of the camp remain, make a crop, recruit teams, and be ready for an onward march in the coming spring. Benjamin stayed and put in a crop but left it to return to Bonaparte, in Lee County, Iowa, on the Des Moines River, where his brother Joseph E. had a good business. Thus he did not travel with the first pioneering group, and he always regretted this. They stayed in Bonaparte until October, 1847, when finally an opportunity was found to send the family on to Winter Quarters. Clarinda had gone on ahead so there were two wives and five children left in Benjamin's care. It was January, 1848, before Benjamin joined his family at Winter Quarters. There he found Clarinda with a daughter, and she reconciled with the family.

Benjamin and his family started west on July 4, 1848, in President Willard Richards' company and arrived in the Salt Lake Valley October 29, 1848. As soon as they arrived Clarinda claimed a divorce. They were nearly destitute, and winter was coming. They were invited to move in with Father John Smith. He was able to let them have a room ten by thirteen feet, built of large poles, covered with corn fodder and chinked with straw.

The Colonial Council, or Legislature of Deseret, was organized in December, 1848, and Benjamin was elected. He held membership throughout the colonial period.

The Winter of 1848-49 was very severe, Benjamin found himself much in demand as harness maker, but there was no leather or harness material in the country. He bought deer, elk, and other skins, which, after soaking, he stretched and salted, Mexican fashion. Orders were received to keep them busy, but there was no bread to be bought. Spring found them with their food all gone and their clothes worn out. They had worked day and night, with not so much as a radish or a pinch of lettuce to reward their toil. The soil they had planted their seeds in had proved to be saleratus and nothing would grow. At this low point emmigrants from the States arrived in the valley on their way to California. They appeared almost crazy with excitement about California and gold. Benjamin traded them a jack and jenny and began the making of pack saddles, rigtgig them with rawhide. Oh, what a change. He now could get flour, bacon, sugar, rice, soap, tea, powder, lead tobacco, the finest clothing, wagons, harness, an seemingly endless supply of goods, in exchange for packing outfits, which he could supply in quantities.

In the fall of 1849, Benjamin finished and moved into his new house. A daughter was born in November to Melissa, and to Mary Ann, on January 12, 1850, was born Joseph Ezekiel, son of promise. Then on March 17, 1850, Harriet Naomi was sealed to Benjamin.

In the spring of 1851, Benjamin was invited by Brigham Young to accompany him on an exploring party up the Sevier and over the mountains into Iron County. It was a memorable trip. President Young asked him to colonize the Summit Creek area now called Santaquin.

In October, 1851, he was called to a Sandwich Island (Hawaii) mission. He had ten days to arrange his business, settle his wives, and arrange to start. Three wives with eight small children and two on the way were at Santaquin. He took an inventory before he left and, counting improvements on the land, grain on hand, houses, oxen, horses, cows, sheep, wagons, stock in trade, farm tools and implements that were left at Summit and Salt Creek, this amounted to over $7000 after all debts were paid. It seemed a great hardship to be asked to leave at this time when things were going so well, but the answer came, "To whom do you owe all you are, all you possess, and all you hope for, but to God? With the Lord's help, I will go; and the cord that holds me from my duty I will cut loose from: I will with the Lord's help." (My Life's Review, page 140)

Benjamin left for his mission from Salt Creek on October 24, 1852. He had to travel south to San Bernadino and then up the coast to San Francisco, where he sailed to the islands. All this traveling without purse or script. They worked not only to further their mission but to sustain themselves. It was a momentous time with many faith-promoting events. The trip home, nearly three years later, was the same track in reverse. He arrived home March 26, 1855.

After a few days rest, he went to General Conference with two of his wives and received a cordial welcome and commendation from the presidency. Brother Kimball, taking him by the arm to his home, said, "Bennie, I always knew the lion was in you, and when I read your defense of polygamy, I could see they had waked him up." But Benjamin knew that the lion was a love for God and his Kingdom and the lion's power is that which comes through prayer and humility. (My Life's Review, page 197)

President Young again asked Benjamin to colonize Summit as the effort had fallen through during his absence. This he proceeded to do, and also again took his place with the Legislature. On February 3, 1856, Sarah Melissa Holman was sealed to him by Brigham Young at Salt Lake City. He was soon called back to the city as a delegate to the Convention to form a constitution for the State of Deseret, preparatory to asking for admission as a state.

Having been counseled to take more wives, Benjamin chose Susan Holman, the third daughter of Bishop Holman, to be his wife, and they returned to the city for their sealing. On the 4th of April, 1857 Sara Jane Spooner became Benjamin's seventh and final wife, making his family complete.

1857 saw the coming of Johnson's Army, and preparations were made to keep them from coming into the valley. When the Army finally came into the area and settled at Camp Floyd, the feelings of the people was that they would reduce everything to ashes and make the country a desert again. Many came to Santaquin area for shelter.

It was July before they were able to return to their homes. Gradually feelings temporized. The army proved itself willing to pay fair prices for goods received and trade was built up. Benjamin had built a lumber mill in the canyon and, in the fall of 1859, prospered from selling lumber to the army at Camp Floyd, just 35 miles away.

Government stock, both for freight and military service was now scattered throughout the country, and stock thieves had multiplied. When Benjamin began looking for his stock in the summer of 1860, he found many were stolen.

Sorrow struck with the death of Melissa Bloomfield, the beloved wife of Benjamin's youth. Wealth could be replaced, but, with her passing, they realized with a more perfect knowledge her value to them.

The summer of 1861 was hard on the family. Labors in the canyon told severely on Benjamin's health. The winter was even harder. Floods nearly destroyed both mills, and thieves multiplied. When the government stock was gathered for the army, all of Benjamin's stock, except a few cows, were gone. Only the sheep kept close to home, were found. Deeply discouraged Benjamin determined to sell out in the Santaquin area, and this was done in 1862. The move was made to Spring Lake, some three miles away. His brother George W., had planted the colony and had been acting as Bishop. Times were hard. The wheat crops were planted year after year in hope, and then destroyed by the locust. The spring of 1864 found the family in deep poverty, a truly trying time of testing. By the sale of Salt Lake property and some land at Spring Lake, Benjamin was able to obtain oxen and seed grain. He succeeded in raising sorghum and making syrup. This was traded for wheat, as the locust had again destroyed the wheat crop.

The winter of 1864-65 was spent as usual at Salt Lake in the Legislature. Benjamin exchanged his two city lots (now occupied by the Union Pacific Depot) with President Young for the Candland property. This was jointly occupied with brother Joseph E. and his family, and the children attended school.

The summer of 1865 was troubled by the Blackhawk War. Blackhawk, who was born at Spring Lake, stirred up Indian hatred toward the Mormons. In the early fall he came on horseback one afternoon and demanded melons. Benjamin stood in front of him, looked him in the eyes, and told him he had no melons to give to a bad Indian. He then turned to Blackhawk's squaw, shook hands with her and told her she looked like a good Indian and gave her all the melons she could carry. Blackhawk never after that made trouble in their immediate vicinity, but the war through the whole section was terrible in loss of life and destruction of property. Settlements had to be broken up, and stock was drive off. Because of the trouble, Benjamin was counseled to move his family back to Santaquin. This he was reluctant to do. The hard times there had soured him on the area. Thus he was pleased when G.A. Smith stopped at his home and asked him if he would prefer moving to southern Utah than to Santaquin. Further counsel with President Young led to the family staying in the Spring Lake area. President Young understood the hard struggle Benjamin had had in the area and promised him he would be blessed with increased prosperity. Benjamin understood that his willingness to do as he had been told had brought him this great blessing. Joseph E. came up from St. George to sell the home Benjamin occupied and to move the rest of his family to St. George. Benjamin obtained the $2,500 for him even though it left them without team or cow. They were trusting in the Lord, and the following spring found them again with teams and cows.

The Legislative session the winter of 1866-67 found Benjamin at the home of his brother, William D. It was an enjoyable time. The following year he refused re-election and suggested as his successor Albert K. Thurber. He had been returned to Legislature a total of fourteen times and now felt a desire to withdraw from public life.

In 1868-69 they prospered in their crops. Benjamin's sons were reaching an age that they were helpful. In fact they were industrious and were fast making a comfortable home. The family had successfully started a commercial canning of fruits, which by its excellence commanded the home market.

The coming of the transcontinental railroad had brought a growing outside pressure upon the people. Benjamin felt anxious to get away from its contact and made arrangements to travel south to St. George to visit family members already in the area. Family members counseled together and great hope was put in settling an area known as Rock Springs, which they renamed Johnson. In looking the area over, it seemed ideal. What they overlooked was the winter weather and the availability of water. The following spring they again traveled south with supplies, starts of fruit trees, and grape vines. All were planted with great hope and labor. The summer heat found everything dead from lack of water. Spring City seemed a paradise when they returned.

1876 found Benjamin spending the winter at St. George and attending the dedication of the Temple. This brought him great satisfaction. The presidency then decided it was necessary to send missionaries throughout all the settlements to wake up the people, to teach them their privileges and duties pertaining to them and their dead. Benjamin was called to go to visit the more northern settlements. Since it was midwinter, he greatly dreaded the mission. Nevertheless he answered the Lord's call and asked only for His blessing. They started February 10 and, although cold, with deep snow, the meeting houses were crowded, while the might of the Lord was with them in their teaching, even in things which before they had not known. Soon after their return, the people began to flock to the Temple.

On the 10th of March they went to the Temple and three of Benjamin's children received their endowments. Benjamin did the work for his brother, Seth G., who had died at Kirtland.

At a conference held in Provo, in May, 1877 Benjamin was ordained Bishop of Spring Lake Ward. They were happy in Spring Lake until the spring of 1882 when Benjamin was called to a new mission. This was the settlement of Arizona with an eye to opening up Mexico as a place of refuge from persecution. Thus at the age of 64, he again set out pioneering as he called it.

It was hard leaving the Santaquin/Spring Lake area after twenty-five years. There were memories and the graves of loved ones. There were also loved ones who stayed behind. But the Lord had called, and, as always, Benjamin answered the call.

Colonization did not go smoothly, Banjamin felt strongly the hand of the Lord in protecting and guiding them, and progress was made and many ways opened that had seemed closed. They were all greatly saddened by the death of Joseph E., who had come south to help in the colonization. He had always been Benjamin's closest friend and companion and was greatly missed. They had so looked forward to doing this adventure together. The sons continued in their labors, and things progressed in spite of set backs. Benjamin was ordained to the Patriarchal priesthood by Apostle B. Young on January 7, 1883. The Tempe Ward was organized. Benjamin and his sons started a fruit nursery and apiary. Importing the finest from California, they soon had a thriving business.

In November and December of 1884 Benjamin enjoyed a trip into Mexico to visit the Yaqui Indians with Apostle B. Young and H.J. Grant. This was followed in 1885 by a trip to Salt Lake and then down to St. George where he stayed and worked in the Temple. The underlying reason for the trip was to stay out of the area and avoid prosecution for polygamy. It was nearly two years before he dared to return to Arizona, and then it was only to leave again for Mexico.

A trip was made to Colonial Juarez and other areas, but no suitable settlement area was found and so they soon returned to the Tempe area and Benjamin to hiding from strangers. November 28, 1887 found Benjamin in court before Judge Porter. He was fined $75 and found himself a free man. He remained so until December 7, 1890, when word was brought that all who had lived in polygamy were going to be reindicted. All were advised to leave for Diaz, Mexico. This they did in the middle of the night.

It was over a year before they could return home. A move was then made to Mesa, and Benjamin lived out the rest of his days there in the bosom of his family.

Benjamin, who had always felt himself frail and unworthy, outlived all his brothers and sisters. He passed away in Mesa, November 18, 1905.

"Ever a faithful, consistent member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, and was Patriarch in the Maricopa Stake...Located the town of Tempe, Arizona, which is now a thriving railroad town...He had possibly the largest family, consisting of children, grandchildren and great grandchildren of any man now living...some 800 souls...Uncle Benji was over 87 years of age, and for years his birthday had been annually celebrated by his descendants of who he has a great number in Utah, Arizona, Mexico and Canada...He was a man much loved by both the old and the young people in his neighborhood, and his memory will long be held in loving esteem by those who knew him. "Thus read the obituary of Benjamin F. Johnson which was titled, "Funeral of B.F. Johnson, Honored Patriarch, closes Eventual Career in 88th Year." (My Life's Review, page 387.)

JOSEPH AND HIS SUCCESSORS

Inspiring Testimony of Patriarch Benjamin F. Johnson

Mesa, Arizona, August 15, 1905. The eight-seventh anniversary of the birth of Patriarch Benjamin Franklin Johnson occurred on July 28, 1905, and his children and friends prevailed upon him to be "At HOME" during the day. An announcement to that effect was made in the Mesa Free Press, and as a result probably as many as 300 people gathered at some time during the day to shake hands with the venerable patriarch and receive his hearty blessings. Preparations in the way of light refreshments had been made and the guests were treated to grapes, cantaloupes, lemonade, ice cream and cakes.

Elder F.T. Pomeroy received the guests and took charge of the gathering, and about 4:30 p.m. he called the people to order, and after a hymn and prayer, he gave a brief sketch of the life of "Uncle Benji," from his boyhood days in New York, where he received the Gospel when 13 years of age, until his arrival in Arizona many years ago. He stated that there was probably no one now living that was so intimate with the Prophet Joseph Smith during his life time. He had been the close friend and confidential business agent of the Prophet. From Kirtland until the hour of the Prophet's martyrdom, and for a number of years before his death he acted as his private secretary. Thus the lives of the two had been very close, and his mind, which today is bright and keen, is a veritable storehouse of incidents of the Prophet's life. He first met the Prophet Joseph Smith at Kirtland in 1833, and was present and participated in the events that made history for the Latter Day Saints. He was present when Brigham Young and the twelve were chosen to lead the Saints, and witnessed the transfiguration of Brigham Young.

Elder Pomeroy referred to the numerous posterity of the venerable Patriarch, numbering in all about 800 souls, and said his second wife, who was now with him, and present, was given him by the hand of Joseph Smith himself.

He further said that for one to see his family of children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and note the character of his posterity and the elements of good citizenship they possessed was ample reputation of the common estimate placed by the world upon the tendencies of polygamous marriages formerly practiced among the "Mormon" people.

Uncle Benjamin is proud of his posterity, and well might he be, for in no community do you find a finer looking, brighter lot of men and women than his sons and daughters and their children to the third generation, who are a credit to any community. His posterity possibly numbers larger than any man of his generation.

President C.R. Hakes also addressed the assemblage. He recounts vividly many of the events in the life of this good man that were a great lesson to the people. He bore a faithful testimony to the worthy life of the patriarch, and admonished his children to always remember the testimony of their father.

Uncle Benjamin then addressed the assembly and for an hour he stood up and recounted the stirring scenes of the early rise of the church. There were something majestic about him as he bore a strong testimoney to the life and divine mission of Joseph Smith and the cause that he gave his life to establish.

The Patriarch said in part:

"I know the Gospel is true. I know the Book of Mormon is true, as I know that my soul lives; and before the bar of eternal justice, before which I must stand shortly, I testify to you that these things are true. I know Joseph Smith was called of God. Though but a boy when I first saw him, I felt the presence of pure intelligence in him. I knew then and I know now, that Joseph Smith was and is the great Prophet, who talked with God, the Father, and his Son, and had revealed to him the truths of eternity that will save mankind. And I desire to bear this testimony particularly to my children, for this may be the last time.

"I speak of things of which I know. I was the business partner of Joseph Smith from my mission until the time of his martyrdom; was as familiar with him as with my brother or my father.

"Do I know that Brigham Young was the true successor of Joseph Smith? I knew it before the Prophet was martyred for Joseph had made it known. I was present when the Prophet gave his charge to the Twelve Apostles, when in council after solemn prayer, he rose up with the light of Heaven shining his countenance, related his experience with reference to the beginning of his work, the responsibilities placed upon him, the persecutions and hardships through which he had passed. He declared that God had revealed all the truth necessary to save mankind, had given unto him the keys of the kingdom, and he had carried the weight and load thus far, and then, speaking directly to the Twelve, he said, 'I now roll off the burden of this responsibility upon you. I give unto you all the keys and powers bestowed upon me, and I say unto you, that unless you round up your shoulders and bear off this kingdom you will be damned.' The majesty and solemnity of the occasion was something to be remembered by all present as they have given us the living testimony of the martyrdom of the prophet, and until the question arose as to who was the man who should be the leader, the matter was forgotten. A meeting was called. Sidney Rigdon, the most might and eloquent man of his age, rose up and said, 'I will be the guardian of the Church, holding it for Joseph.' I listened to Rigdon and weighed his claim for a short time after he closed his plea. Brigham Young arose, and when he spoke I jumped from my seat and turned around to face him, for the voice was the voice of the Prophet Joseph Smith. I looked at him and there before me stood the personage of the Prophet Joseph almost glorified in appearance. I knew then where the cloak of the Prophet fell. I remembered then what he had said, and I knew and still know that Brigham Young was a Prophet of God--the true successor of Joseph Smith, and I know that the successors to Brigham Young were the choice of Heaven."

In answer to the question as to what were Joseph Smith's feelings toward the United States government, "He was loyalty itself," was the reply of Patriarch Johnson. "How could he be other than loyal, when the Lord revealed to him this government was raised up by Him, and that He had inspired the men who brought forth the Constitution, and that it should endure and finally through it and the broad principles of liberty, religious and otherwise, it should leaven the whole earth."

At the conclusion of his address, all of the children present, about fifty, filed by and dropped a birthday present for "Father Johnson" and received his blessing. The "At Home" was an occasion long to be remembered by all and wishing "Uncle Benji" many happy returns of the day.

FUNERAL OF B.F. JOHNSON, HONORED PATRIARCH

CLOSES EVENTFUL CAREER IN 88th YEAR

Mesa, Arizona, November 20, the funeral of Patriarch Benjamin F. Johnson who died November 18, 1905, was held in the Latter-day Saints' Tabernacle. Bishop James M. Horne presiding. The speakers were F.T. Pomeroy, Noah Brimhall and President Isaac Dana, all eulogizing the noble, upright life of the departed. There was a large concourse of people in attendance to do honor to his name and his remains were followed to the Mesa Cemetery by a cortege a mile long.

"Uncle Benji," as he was affectionately called, was born in New York state, July 28, 1818. When thirteen years of age he joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, sharing its vicissitudes and remaining true to the end. He possessed a remarkably bright mind, and at the age of eighteen years he became closely associated with the Prophet Joseph Smith, and from 1842 to 1844 acted as his business agent and private secretary. He possibly was better acquainted with the Prophet Joseph Smith than any man now living and his mind was rich with reminiscences of those days, and he never tired of relating them. He was captain of the first company that left Nauvoo, at the expulsion, and in 1849 he arrived in Salt Lake City with an emigrant company. He settled in Salt Lake City first and was captain in the first military organization that was formed in Utah to protect the settlers against the Indians. When the provisional State of Deseret was organized he was chosen as one of the members to the state assembly which framed the constitution of the state and such was the service that he rendered that he was returned fourteen times to the Legislature of the territory, after it was organized. Later he settled in Southern Utah, presiding over the settling of that country. While away on a mission to the Sandwich Islands, the Walker War broke out and his entire property was destroyed by the Indians, and he has a claim now before the government for the $10,000 destroyed at that time.

In 1881 he was called on a mission with his family to pioneer the Mexico country, but while they were enroute to that country, the Yaqui Indians began a war with the Mexicans and as it was unsafe to go to that country, he was advised to settle with his family in Arizona. They located the town of Tempe, Arizona, which is now a thriving railroad town. Father Johnson later moved to Mesa, Arizona, where he resided till his death.

He has ever been a faithful consistent member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and was patriarch in the Maricopa Stake, where like Abraham and Isaac and Jacob of old, he not only blessed his own children "concerning things to come" but hundreds of others. And many of them bear testimony of his prophetic words being fulfilled on their heads.

He had possibly the largest family, consisting of children, grandchildren and great grandchildren of any man now living. His posterity and their families number in the neighborhood of 800 souls. He was beloved by all who knew him. He had the pure love of God in his heart, which was abundantly manifest in his remarkable love for his fellowmen.

"Uncle Benji" was over 87 years of age, and for years his birthday had been annually celebrated by his friends and descendants of whom he has a great number in Utah, Arizona, Mexico and Canada. For years he has been a Patriarch in the Church, and has converted many people to his faith. He was fond of telling stories of early Church history, and of the Prophet with whom he was so intimately acquainted. He was a man much loved by both the old and young people in his neighborhood, and his memory will long be held in loving esteem by those who knew him.

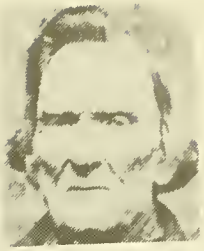
MARY ELLEN JOHNSON WILSON



Mary Ellen Johnson the eleventh child of Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson, was born February 7th, 1820 at Pomphret, New York. She grew up in a home with ten older brothers and sisters whom she loved. It was a happy humble home of her childhood. She with the family followed her father into the deep forest while he cleared the land, they gathered forest nuts, wild fruits, wild berries and flowers. Their fond memories of that dear old Pomphret home.

Mary Ellen's mother belonged to the Presbyterian Church and taught them to read and write. Mary Ellen was eight years old. A little sister, Esther Melita was born. Then Amos Partridge was number sixteen children born to this family.

Mary Ellen's oldest brother Joel took Anne Pixley for his wife and moved to Ohio. Also sister Delcena was married to Lyman Royal Sherman.

It was during this year (1829) that the first baptisms into a newly found church occurred at Seneca Lake, New York and the newspapers of the day burst forth with announcements and ridicule. Mother Julia sent a letter to her son Joel in Amherst, Ohio to warn them of the event. Great was the excitement of the Johnson home at Pomphret when a copy of the Book of Mormon arrived by mail, also a letter telling of Joel being baptized. Secretly the family read the censored literature. Mary Ellen was now about twelve years of age and was deeply impressed by what was transpiring in the home.

Joel took his brother David then 15 to Ohio with them. They were all baptized June 1st 1831, by Sylvester Smith. Mother Julia, and Lyman R. Sherman were baptized by Elder Joseph Brakenbury and soon afterward all the older members of the family were baptized. Ezekiel the father, had nothing to say about his wife and older children, but he objected to the younger ones being baptized.

The following summer Father Ezekiel once more had the urge to seek new country. He sold the beautiful homestead in Pomphret and settled in Chicago (Fort Dearborn). He cleared a quarter section and started a house and wrote a letter for the family to come, the letter was never received. The time came when the family must leave. Mother Julia took her remaining family, including Mary Ellen, 14. They settled in Kirtland, Ohio June 1833. Mother Julia preferred to stay with the church in Kirtland. He did not join the church but did not object to the family activities. His habits caused them to live apart. Ezekiel made his home with his daughters. Mary Ellen was saddened by this event. She was of a loving disposition and loved her father deeply. She continued to see him, stayed in touch. She assisted her mother with the Temple assignments the family were given toward the erection of the Temple building, and the family project of making "socks" and straw hats in order to gain a livelihood.

During these years Mary Ellen witnessed a miraculous event. Some of her family were not in good health, partly due to the climatic conditions and partly due to their poor circumstances. Elder Jared Carter came to give them a blessing for their comfort. Upon learning of Nancy's condition, from a long ago broken hip from being thrown from a horse, and could not walk without crutches. Nancy was promised relief from her suffering and to be made whole. This healing took place before the eyes of the family immediately. This made a deep impression on Mary Ellen. The remainder of her life she had implicit faith in the laying on of hands.

While at Kirtland, after David passed away Oct. 30, 1833 from consumption (now called tuberculosis). He was buried in Kirtland.

After Seth Gurnsey served a mission to help restore order at Zion's Camp. Due to sickness and privations endured Seth returned home in a weakened condition. Mary Ellen spent hours by his side as he related many experiences he had. He passed away February 19, 1835. Then just one year later, March 16, 1836 the family lay Susan away suffering the same illness as David and Seth.

Once again Mary Ellen witnessed the power of administration when baby Amos was healed.

Mary Ellen's oldest sister Nancy had ever been like a second mother to the family. She worked side by side with her mother, in the management of the home and care of the younger members of the family. She was very studious and at an early age taught school. She too was sickened with consumption. Mary Ellen felt that she had truly lost a mother when Nancy passed away October 30, 1836.

No longer did the home ring with song and laughter. With sorrow and low finance, Mother Julia moved to a small farm.

After the Temple was finished and dedicated March 27, 1836, the Saints were tested to the limit with persecution and mobbing. A group was known as the Kirtland Camp and on July 4th they left Kirtland with Mary Ellen's oldest brother Joel in charge of part of the group. Arriving in Dayton, Ohio, they stopped to do work to gain funds to continue their journey. Many were sick and here Mary Ann Hale's mother and father died, leaving Mary Ann only ten years of age. She was the age of Mary Ellen's younger sister Esther. They became close companions and depended much on Mary Ellen.

The family soon settled in Ramus (later called Macedonia) now known as Webster, Illinois, some twenty miles from Nauvoo.

Mary Ellen and her sister Delcena were baptized on March 19, 1832. Mary Ellen and George D. Wilson posted their intentions of marriage February 2, 1842. The were married February 7, 1842.

Mary Ellen sorrowed with the family at the death in Ramus of her youngest brother, Amos, who was the baby of the family, on May 9, 1848, in his fourteenth year.

The Prophet Joseph Smith visited often at Ramus. He generally remained over night with one of the Johnson family. Many of the principles of the gospel were discussed at their fireside or table. On one occasion he came for his fitting of a suit of clothes which Mother Julia had made for him. She was an expert seamstress. Mary Ellen had assisted with this work.

On one occasion he learned that Mary Ellen was gravely ill so paid a visit to her home. It was thought that she would not survive, but he placed his hands on her head and promised that she would live to bear a son. On June 7, 1843, she gave birth to a baby boy whom she named David Johnson Wilson in remembrance of her beloved brother David who had died in Kirtland.

Then came the news of the death of the Prophet and his brother Hyrum. Mary Ellen's brother, Benjamin, was now called to rent and keep open the Nauvoo Mansion. He sold all of his property including a lovely brick home in Ramus for the paltry sum of two hundred and fifty dollars. Public traffic was cut off and all business profits with it. He started a wagon making industry in the basement of the brick stable at the Mansion House. Mary Ellen's husband, George Wilson, assisted with this work. While they were about this business, the mob came to search for the bodies of the Prophet and Hyrum. The Johnson families were now all living in Nauvoo proper with Mary Ellen's father living with David and Ester Johnson LeBaron.

On June 11, 1845, Mary Ellen passed away. She had given birth to her second child who received the name of George Jacob Wilson. Mother Julia took the two little ones into her care, but the baby died six months later (December 1845).

Mary Ellen was dead, it is true, but she lived on in the soul of her son, David. Her husband, George D. Wilson and her brother, Benjamin, left Nauvoo with the Saints of the first group. At Council Bluffs, George D. Wilson volunteered for service in the Mormon Battalion, but due to illness he returned to Pueblo with the W.W. Willis detachment where they spent the winter of 1846-47. They arrived in Salt Lake Valley a few days after the first company of Saints.

When Benjamin Johnson left Nauvoo, the care of the Mansion House and Temple was placed in the hands of George W. Johnson and David LeBaron (Esther's husband). Mother Julia with young David J. Wilson, made their home with them until after the burning of the Temple, October 9, 1848.

Sometime in 1849, the family made their way to Council Bluffs, where Joseph Ellis Johnson and Almon W. Babbitt edited the newspaper "The Bugle" and operated a store. George W. Johnson left for Utah in 1851, but the David LeBaron's remained in Council Bluffs. Julia and David remained with them.

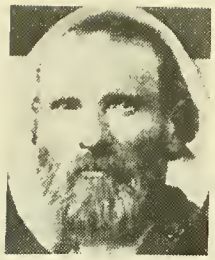
After the arrival of George D. Wilson in the Valley, he made preparations to return to the east for his son, David, but Mother Julia had become so attached to the boy that he returned without him. Then on May 30, 1856, Julia Hills Johnson passed away at Council Bluffs, Pottawattamie County, Iowa, and young David came west to be with the LeBarons and Babbitts.

Following the martyrdom of the Prophet, Father Ezekiel Johnson laid aside his lifetime weakness of drink and became a dedicated one man protector of the Saints in Nauvoo. On several occasions, he and his old gun thwarted the mob while certain of the Saints escaped from their wicked intents. He soon became a marked man and was eventually caught, tied to a wagon wheel and whipped into a state of unconsciousness. He was now nearing the age of seventy-five years. On January 13, 1848, he passed away and was buried in Nauvoo in the old Mormon Cemetery.

Mary Ellen's son and husband were reunited here in Utah and David spent some of his time with him (George D. Wilson) and his two aunt's homes (LeBaron and Babbitt) were his also for periods of time.

Mary Ellen's brother, Benjamin, said this of her: "She died full of the assurance of the reward for the pure in heart of womankind. None could approach nearer to angelic character in childhood, girlhood, or womanhood, nor was there ever known from her associates one unkind word or feeling by all who knew her."



AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF GEORGE W. JOHNSON

I was born in the Township of Pomphret County of Chautauqua, State of New York on the 19th day of February 1823. My father's name was Ezekiel Johnson. My mother's maiden name was Julia Hills. Of my father's ancestors I know but little. His father died when he was quite young and his mother married a man by the name of King and moved to Canada. My father and mother were born and married in the State of Massachusetts and in the year of 1812 with seven children moved to the western part of New York. Then a new country where they settled and raised a family of 16 children and nine (9) sons and seven (7) daughters. My mother was a devout Presbyterian and raised her family in strict observance of the precepts laid down in the Bible. She was loved and respected by all who knew her. She died at Council Bluffs, Iowa a firm believer in the doctrine taught by Joseph Smith.

During the winter of 1831 my brother Joel and a young man by the name of Almon W. Babbit came from Ohio and brought the Book of Mormon. Other elders soon followed and the result was that my mother and some of her children were baptized. About this time Elder James Brackenbury then on a mission was taken sick at our home and after a short illness died and was buried at Lamoni. Two of my brothers (Seth and David) felt an impression that the corpse would be disturbed and determined to spend the night there at the grave. On arriving near they discovered two men opening the grave which they had nearly accomplished. As soon as they were discovered they fled but my brothers pursued them and caught one of the men but nothing was done to bring them to punishment.

A little previous to this time my oldest sister (Nancy) was thrown from a horse and her hip bone broken so near the hip joint that all the doctors near decided that it could not be set and told her she would never have the use of that limb again or be able to walk without crutches. When the Elders began to preach miracles many people said, "when Nancy is healed and throws by her crutches we will believe." In the spring of 1833 we moved to Kirtland, Ohio where the saints were then gathering. Here we became acquainted with the Prophet Joseph Smith and all the authorities of the church and witnessed the falling of the stars (meteors) on the night of November 13, 1833.

The building and dedication of the Kirtland Temple. Here I with many others attended the Hebrew School in the Temple. Here I with my brother William on the 9th day of April 1836 were baptized by Samuel Bent and confirmed by Joseph Smith Jr. and received our first Patriarchial blessing under the hands of the First Patriarch of the church, Joseph Smith Sr. Here also my sister Nancy who had never walked a step without her crutches for several years was healed by the laying on of hands through the Priesthood and never used her crutches after until her death. Here after a tedious illness we buried four (4) members of our family, one of whom (Seth) accompanied the Prophet to Missouri in what was known as Zions Camp. Their names were Nancy, Seth, David, and Susan. Here we passed through all the hardships, trials, and persecution resulting in the expulsion of the saints from Kirtland, Ohio.

In the spring of July 1838 we started for Missouri in what was known as the Kirtland Camp comprising all the poor still remaining in Kirtland and all who were able and willing to help them. Our company consisted of about eight hundred (800) souls nearly all in poor circumstances with sixty (60) wagons. Our trip was very hard and tedious with much suffering for want of food and sickness in our camp. At Dayton, Ohio we stopped for a while to work on the National Turnpike and give our sick a chance to rest and to recover. While here my mother and my brother Joel made the trip to Cincinnati, Ohio to visit my mother's sister and other kindred living there. During our stay at this place threats were made that we should not pass through Mansfield alive (a little town on our route). But when we were ready we traveled along in close procession. The women driving the teams and men walking along side of their wagons. On nearing the town we were met by two (2) horsemen who rode down each side of our train seeming to be counting our wagons and as they passed along after satisfying themselves they returned to the town where a large crowd of men were collected firing canon, beating drums, and seeming to be much excited but we passed through and were not molested. We afterwards learned that the horsemen had given the crowd assembled a very exaggerated account of our numbers and armament. On reaching Springfield, Illinois Samuel Hall died leaving a sick wife and an only daughter in our care. Here a council was held and it was decided to leave the sick here for the present. My brother Joel and Joseph and the rest of our family (except Benjamin) were detailed to remain and take care of them.

Through the winter following there was much sickness. My mother and myself were very near dying with Typhoid Fever. Sister Hall died leaving a daughter (Mary Ann) whom my mother adopted. We remained at Springfield nearly two years during which time the saints were drive from Missouri and had commenced settling a place called Commerce (afterwards Nauvoo) in Hancock Co., Illinois on the rapids of the Mississippi River.

In the spring of 1839 we again started westward to gather with the saints, but when we arrived within 20 miles of Commerce it was thought best to remain there and build up a town at a place called Perkins settlement. Land was soon purchased and a town laid off and called Ramus (from the Hebrew A brance). It was afterwards changed to Macedonia. We remained here about four (4) years during which time my youngest brother (Amos) died. My sisters Mary and Esther, my brother Joseph and myself were married also my sister Almera was sealed to the Prophet Joseph Smith.

While here I assisted the building of the Nauvoo Temple and was present at the dedication. Here I was ordained an elder under the hands of Brigham Young and Heber C. Kimball while on a visit to our place and later at Nauvoo by Moses Martin into the twenty fifth quorum of Seventies.

During the year of 1843 the mob broke out, burned houses, destroyed property and drove the saints from place to place. Joseph and Hyrum Smith were imprisoned in Carthage Jail and on the 27th of June 1844 were murdered by the mob while under the pledge of the State for protection.

On April 14th, 1844 I was married to Maria Jane Johnston and with my brother-in-law moved to Crooked Creek, but the mob were so troublesome we were obliged to move to Nauvoo and in the forepart of June following we started, but was delayed by the mob until after the 27th when we drove into Nauvoo to find all in mourning and confusion on account of the death of the Prophet and I remained here until the Spring of 1846 when on account of poor health I concluded to go to spend the summer in Tennessee with my wife's kindred where I arrived safely after a tedious journey of several weeks. While in Tennessee our first son was born on September 25th. (Amos Patridge). I remained there through the summer and about the first of October started to return to Nauvoo where I arrived the latter part of the month. My health continued poor and not being able to labor, I concluded to return to Tennessee. I again spent the summer there in the mountains and returned to Nauvoo in October following. Taking with me my wife's sister and her husband. During my absence the saints at Nauvoo had been much persecuted by the mob and after a severe battle had been driven from their homes and all theri possessions at Nauvoo and all the settlement around and were settling in the western part of Iowa.

My father had died on the 13th of January 1848 and the times looked very dark and gloomy. The next summer and following winter I remained at Nauvoo. In connection with my brother-in-law, D.T. LeBaron exhibiting the Nauvoo Temple to strangers until it was burned, which happened on the night of November 19th, 1848 and as a very incorrect account of its burning has been published I will here insert my account of it.

During the year 1848 David T. LeBaron and myself were engaged in exhibiting the Nauvoo Temple to visitors. He attended it one day and I the next. On the 18th day of November I was taking a party through. We had been to the top and returned as far as the second story when I heard voices below. Leaving my company, I ran down to the main room below where I found the door partly open and two men sitting in the pulpit talking. One of them was telling the other what a host of money and lives the building had cost. How much suffering and sorrow. When I entered and invited them to leave, which they did. He was then boarding at a public house north of the temple, across the street kept by a man by the name of Slocum. After the Temple was burned, he was heard to boast that he saw the fire when it did not look larger than a man's hand. His room was facing the Temple. The fire started late at night when all were supposed to be in bed and asleep.

Now add to this the fact that the west basement window on the south side which led to the stairway had been taken out and was sitting against the wall of the building showing that no key was used to enter the building and the fire was started in the upper story now it is supposable at least that if a man saw the fire when it did not look larger than a man's hand at that time of night he must have been looking for it. And all these facts do away with the Agnew theory that he went from Aponoose on horseback with a false key went through the door and set the fire. There are some now living who can corraborate these statements.

In the spring of 1850, I again started westward to follow my kindred and friends who had gone before me. On arriving at Kanesville, Iowa I found my brothers Joseph and William and many of my friends and acquaintances and concluded to stop there for a time and by the urgent request of many of my friends, I commenced the practice of medicine. This proved to be a great cholora year and consequently a year of great suffering and distress and my calls were so numerous that for months I would get but little chance to take off my clothing to sleep. This was also a great year for emigration to the mines in California.

In the spring of 1851 I concluded to follow my brothers Joel and Benjamin to the Rocky Mountains, but the waters of the Elk Horn and Loupe Fork were so high it was almost impossible to cross them so it was decided by the emigration to take a new route which had never been explored to cross the head waters of these streams. So on the 13th day of June 1851 I started with my family and many others on this unexplored route and the hardships and suffering we endured was more than I can describe on paper.

We traveled many days over sandy deserts almost without food, water, or fuel. Cattle and horses stampeding left many without teams to pull their wagons which had to be left behind with much property. After a journey of several weeks, we arrived on the old road on the Platte River. In crossing the bottoms for several miles we passed through a herd of buffalo which extended as far as the eye could reach each way and as we traveled on they parted right and left to let us pass through. About 10 miles before we reached the Platte River my son, Milas Edgar was born on the 31st of July 1851. On that night we had the hardest storm I ever remember in my life. Thunder, lightning, and rain, but the sun shone bright in the morning and we continued our journey under more favorable circumstances the rest of the way.

We reached Salt Lake City about the first of October. We remained in the city a few days visiting with old friends and on October 1st was sealed to Eveline Burkick. We started for Summit Creek, Utah Co. where my brother Benjamin was about to establish a colony. Here I built the first cabin and remained here a short time and then removed to Springville, where I built one of the first cabins on the city lots. Here I remained until the Black Hawk War broke out and Summit Creek with other small settlements were abandoned. All my buildings were torn down and all moved into the fort. I was appointed Post Master in the fall of 1851. In the fall of 1853 I was called to go and assist in building up Iron Co. and learn the Piede Dialect where I went in the fall of 1853. Here in connection with my nephew, Nephi Johnson we compiled and published the Piede Language in pamphlet form. In the winter of 1855 I went to Salt Lake City and got it printed and on our return we were snow bound in the mountains and suffered much from cold and hunger being four (4) days without food and leaving wagon and the horse on the road. I remained in Iron County about two (2) years. The most of my time among the Indians and exploring the mountains. I was called back to assist in rebuilding Summit Creek. This proved to be a grasshopper year or year of famine. We spent the summer at Summit Creek and as we raised nothing, concluded to return to Iron County for the winter where I earned grain enough for flour enough to load a team and in the spring returned to Summit Creek (now called Santaquin) taking with me flour enough to last my family and some others through the famine.

During the summer of 1857 I was appointed counselor to Bishop James S. Holman and ordained a high priest under the hands of Bishop Blackburn at Provo, Utah Co.. I was also appointed Clerk of the Branch, also Post Master which positions I held until the fall of 1859 when I was called to make settlement at the Uinta Springs in Sanpete County where I soon built a cabin and prepared for the winter. The next summer I got the land surveyed. Laid off a town I called Fountain Green and prepared to build up the place. In the fall settlers began to come in and many cabins were built and during the winter we built a school house. I was then appointed Bishop and also Post Master. Everything went on well for a time but domestic difficulties arose and a part of my family left me and I then returned to Santaquin where I remained until 1863. When I removed to Spring Lake where by brother Joseph had settled. Here I again fitted up a home for what remained of my family.

In the spring of 1864 I started for the Eastern Country on business, taking my oldest son, Amos P. with me. Our trip was pleasant and rapid from Salt Lake City to Council Bluffs. Nothing occurred of interest until we reached the Platte River opposite Tulesberg. Here we found the river overflowing its banks and many emigrants waiting to cross. Here we met a Negro with 13 yoke of oxen who offered to take us over safely for ten (10) dollars per wagon. This we promised to pay him and he hitched onto two wagons and started out. The cattle found bottom until they got within about two hundred yards (200) of the other shore where they struck deep water and then the leaders turned around and all wound up like a ball and we had a lively time cutting them loose but never lost an ox. But we lay in the water until after dark before we could get the wagon out and then we found we had lost everything except my trunk and its contents and one set of harness which were made fast to the wagon and one buffalo robe. But we soon bought a few supplies from the emigrants and was on our way at ten o'clock the next morning.

The rest of our journey was accomplished without anything occurring worth relating. We had made the journey of twelve hundred (1200) miles inside of 30 days from home. At Council Bluff City I met with a few of my old friends and acquaintances of 13 years ago and all seemed glad to see me and offered me courtsies etc. But the place had changed wonderfully.

We remained here about a month. I got fitted up and loaded three ox teams with merchandise for Utah and about the middle of July we started on our return trip. We had considerable bad luck for a few days losing our cattle, breaking wagons, etc. But soon our luck changed and we got along without accident. We had not traveled far before we began to hear rumors of Indian difficulties ahead and soon heard that the Sioux Indians had taken the war path and were killing and destroying all that came in their way and we soon began to meet the ranchers coming into the settlements for safety and when we reached Fort Kearney we were stopped with all the emigration for six weeks by the U.S. troops at that place.

About the first of September we were released and in company of one (100) wagons that had gathered there we continued our journey through scenes of desolation and destruction. Ranches destroyed, buildings burned, people murdered by the Indians and everything abandoned to them and the wolves. The last part of our journey was through storms and snow. We lost much of our stock and left part of our loads. We arrived in Salt Lake City about the last of November, having suffered everything but death and when we arrived home I was completely worn out and sick and confined to my bed nearly all winter.

But in the spring I recovered my usual health. The next summer I was called to go south to assist in opening up new sections of the country and make new settlements. I sold out my property at Spring Lake with the intention of going south in the fall. When the company would start I sent my stock ahead by my brother J.E. and I moved to Spanish Fork to fit for the trip and remained there through the summer.

In the fall I fitted up teams preparatory to starting and returned to Spring Lake to finish my outfit and wait for a company. While here an accident happened to my family which hindered me starting until winter. So I concluded to wait till spring and go over to Fountain Green and to spend the balance of the winter where some of my children were living. Here I had a long and severe spell of sickness which lasted the most of the winter and I was obliged to sell one of my wagons for bread. The winter was so severe that much stock died of starvation and amongst this I lost five (5) head of horses from my team and all of my horned stock. I had left but one cow. When spring came I found myself in very poor health and in very poor circumstances and undecided what to do for a team or food for my family.

1866 I finally decided to move over to Willow Creek in Juab County and try to get a team and go south as soon as I could. I hired a man to haul me over. The town of Mona had just been surveyed and I got me a city lot and commenced building, thinking to sell out for a team. But no such chance occurred. I built a house, set out an orchard and made what improvements I was able. My improvements were about the first on the plot.

During the summer of 1867 I was appointed Post Master at Mona and I soon built an office and commenced the seed business and furnished garden seeds to all the southern settlements to be sold on commission. During the summer of 1870 it was thought best to have a reunion of the Johnson family and an invitation was circulated throughout the territory for all to meet at St. George that fall and spend the winter at that place. So about the first of October of that year I fitted up two teams and started taking with me my wife and family on our way we met with many old friends and had a very pleasant journey until we reached St. George.

Here I met with four (4) brothers and one sister and many more of our kindred. Also Brigham Young, George A. Smith and many more of the authorities of the church who had gathered to spend the winter with us. We had a very pleasant time visiting with our kindred and friends.

During the winter we had a general gathering in the St. George hall. All of our kindred and many others were present including Brigham Young, George A. Smith and others of the authorities of the church and their wives. Two tables the length of the hall were loaded with the choicest of food. After partaking of the sumptous repast the rest of the night was spent in dancing and other amusements and we had a time long to be remembered.

During the winter we went to Kanab and also to a little stream 12 miles above which we called Johnson. Here we made arrangements to colonize the Johnson family, but did not succeed in getting there. On returning to St. George I learned that two of my horses had got drowned in a large spring. It was now about time for our returning to our northern homes, so I fitted up one team and we were on our way bidding the sunny south with our kindred and friends goodbye. We had a very pleasant trip home and found everything about as we had left it. Soon after my return the Nebo mines excitement broke out and I then commenced keeping boarders and later to making trunks which I followed until 1882.

Then a difficulty broke out in my domestic affairs which terminated in all leaving me for New Mexico except my youngest boy Charles Edwin who remained with me. We remained at Mona until January 1884 to settle up business and get rid of the Post Office. Then we took the cars for Castle Valley where some of my children were living. Here at Huntington with the help of my children who were there we built a cabin and prepared to try to make a living and start anew as I had done several times before, but I found that hardships, exposure, and age had done their work and I nearly done mine. My family did not like New Mexico and returned in 1885. Two of my children stopping at Grand Valley. The remainder came to me at Huntington, Emery County, Utah. In the fall of 1886 with my boy Charley I went to Grand Valley to spend the winter with my children. We had a very pleasant visit with them.

Through the winter and into March we returned to Huntington where we remained until November 1888 when we went to Manti, Sanpete County to do some work in the Temple for our dead. There on the 14th of November I was married to Clarrissa Robertson by Daniel H. Wells. While over there we went to Fountain Green to visit with my children there and had a very pleasant trip until we reached home Nov. 18, 1888.

For a few years past I have been in the habit of amusing myself by writing poetry, some of which has been mislaid and lost. A few pieces were published in pamphlet form at St. George by Charles E. Johnson called, 'Jotting'. By the way, since my health has failed me I have spent some time in collecting and copying them in a book and also printing a few more pieces myself in pamphlet form. Also in hunting out genealogy in which I accomplished a great work. Much of my time for the last four years has been spent in this way.

This is February 18, 1893, should I live until tomorrow, my years of life will be three score and ten and still able to do some good. In my researches in genealogy, I have accomplished a great work in tracing out the Dalton and DeGraw families. All traces of which had been lost. All work had been done for the dead of those families that could be until I commenced a research and have found about two hundred (200) to work for. And on the 30th of June 1893 we started for the Temple at Manti where we met others of the kindred amounting in all to 22 and accomplished the work for about 50 of that number. I was quite sick most of the time, but we had a gathering long to be remembered. Here I met many old friends and acquaintances. A number dating back 50 to 60 years. All contributing to our comfort and happiness. We remained here nearly two weeks. When we parted company and I then went to Fountain Green and spent two or three very pleasant days with my children and then returned home feeling that our time had been well spent and the Lord had prospered us in our work. We arrived home on the 21st of July.

Since then to the present time, November 24th, I have spent the most of my time in writing. I have received three (3) patriarchial blessings at different periods of my life under the hands of different Patriarchs of the church. One under the hands of Joseph Smith Sr. A copy of which I never received. He was the first Patriarch of the church. The next under the hands of John Smith (his brother). The third under the hands of William McBride. The last I will copy here as I did not put them in their proper place.

A patriarchal blessing given under the hands of John Smith patriarch upon the head of George Washington Johnson, son of Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson. Born February 19, 1823 in Pomphret, Chautauque County, New York.

Brother George, I lay my hands upon thy head in the name of the living God to seal a Father's blessing upon thee for thou art a lawful heir to the blessings sealed upon the heads of thy father and to their posterity even the sons of Joseph to be to thee and thy seed forever and I ask my heavenly father to preserve thy life and give thee health and strength for many years until thou shalt accomplish every purpose of thy hearts desire. That thy name may be held in honorable remembrance throughout all generations. Thy posterity shall be as numerous as the stars in heaven which cannot be numbered. Thou shalt be a saviour upon Mount Zion and stand with the hundred and forty four thousand clothed in white. Thou shalt have power to go from land to land and from sea to sea. From island to island and from planet to planet and visit the prisons where the spirits of the departed droll. Proclaiming salvation through all thy course and mighty power and success which cannot now be described. The number of thy years shall be according to thy faith even to see the curtains of Zion spread over all the continent of America with all the beauty and glory thereof. Thou shalt have thine inheritance with thy brethren in time and in eternity and thy companion and thy children with thee possessing all the riches of heaven and earth to thy full satisfaction if thou art faithful not one word shall fail for I seal it upon thee by the authority of the Priesthood and I seal thee up to eternal life. Amen.

John Smith Patriarch

Excerpts taken from the personal history of Joseph Ellis Johnson which he wrote.

My father, George Washington Johnson, had two families, my mother's children being as follows: George Washington, Amos Patridge, Ezekiel Albert, William Oliver, Milas Edgar, Maria Jane, Julia Ann, Joseph Ellis, Nancy Lauretta Johnson, and Don Carlos, and Robert Lewis, Woodward by her second husband, James Woodward Sr. My mother's name was Maria Jane Johnston Johnson.

My father and his second wife, Evelyn Burdick Johnson, had these children: Joseph Horace, Margaret Ellen, Mary Evelyn, Charlotte, George Washington, Lora, David Almond, Jeanette, Ernest, Minnie, Ester, and Charles E. Johnson.

About the year 1859 my father, in company with James Holman, was called and went into Sanpete County where a few settlements had been started, and bought of old Indian Joe and others that was known as the Uinta Springs, out of which Fountain Green has since grown This was a beautiful spring of water coming directly out of the (San Pitch) mountains, at one place flowing down about three miles, spreading out and making some lovely, green meadows, also heavy willow bunches, etc. This land was held by a band of Indians who camped there at times and held the grass for pasture.

My father and James Holman bought this little tract of land and the spring and settled there, thinking it would supply a few families, to which place my father moved my mother in the fall of 1859. He and the other family remained at Santaquin.

It is said that my father neglected my mother in some ways, and so at length my mother became dissatisfied, and finally, a separation was the result in 1862. My mother, then with a helpless family and no means, and in a new settlement, passed through some very trying days, but she, being brave as she was, and strong and willing, with the aid of my older brother Amos, (since the first boy George W. had died) we survived the dark days and kept on.

Deseret News, February 2nd, 1900

Moab - Close of the a grand career. Funeral of George W. Johnson Sr. His Pioneer Life and Labors. January 25th--Yesterday the citizens of this quiet town turned out en-mass to attend the funeral services over the remains of George W. Johnson Sr. who departed this life at 11 o'clock a.m. January 22, 1900, after an illness of four or five days; the cause of death was an attack of Bright's Disease. He was born in the town of Pomphret, Chatauqua County, New York. Feb. 19th 1823, and was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on the 9th day of April 1836 by Elder Samuel Bent and was confirmed by the Prophet Joseph Smith, with whom he was intimately acquainted. He shared in the mobbings and drivings, and the pioneer work of the Church from that day until the present. He was a member of Zion's Camp. In 1839 he helped to found the place called Perkins settlement, afterwards called Ramus and later named Macedonia, at which place he was married to Maria J. Johnston on April 14th, 1844. While at this place he assisted in the erection of the Nauvoo Temple, and was present at the dedication. Here he was ordained an Elder under the hands of Brigham Young, and one year later at Nauvoo was ordained a seventy and set apart as a member of the Twenty fifth quorum under the hands of Elder Monro Martin. In the summer of 1848 he, together with his brother-in-law David T. LeBAron, remained at Nauvoo after the exodus of the Church exhibiting the Temple to strangers until it was burned on the night of Nov. 19, 1848. He started westward in 1850 and stopped at Kanesville, Iowa, where he began the study and practice of medicine, and during the great epidemic of cholera took an active part in its suppression. On the 13th day of June 1851 he started westward for the valley of the Great Salt Lake, suffering many privations and loses on the way. When about fifteen miles north of the Platte River crossing, a child was born to them on the 31st day of July 1851. On the 1st of October 1851 he arrived in Salt Lake City. He married Eveline Burdick. He went to Summit Creek (now Santaquin) Utah County, where he built the first and acted as postmaster until the breaking out of the Walker War, when he moved to Springville and built one of the first houses in that place. He remained here until the fall of 1853, when he was called to go and assist in building up of Iron County, and to learn the Piede language. There in connection with a nephew, Nephi Johnson, he compiled and published a dictionary of the language in pamphlet form, and did a good work among the Indians, and explored the then unknown mountains of southern Utah. He was then called back and settled at Payson, where he remained one year; this was the noted grasshopper year. He then returned to Iron County for the winter. In the spring of 1854 he returned to Summit Creek. In 1857 was appointed councelor to Bishop James S. Holman and acted as clerk of the ward and as postmaster which position he held until the fall of 1858, when he was called to build a settlement at Uintah Springs in Sanpete County, where he laid out the town of Fountain Green. At that place he was set apart as Bishop and appointed postmaster. Here he remained until 1863 when he removed to Spring Lake Villa. In 1866 he was called to go on a mission to help to settle up the south, but on account of sickness in the family he spent the winter in Fountain Green.

In the spring of 1867 he went to Mona, Juab County, where he built a home and during the summer he was appointed postmaster which office he held January 1868. The winter of 1870-71 he spent in St. George and afterwards helped establish the town of Johnson in Kane County where the family made calculations to colonize. On returning to Mona he established a trunk factory at that place. In 1883 he moved to Huntington, Emery County, where he built a home, set out an orchard and nursery. On the 14th day of November 1883, he was married to Clarissa Robertson. Some time in that year he wrote and published a series of poems called "Jottings by the Way." In 1884 he moved to Moab Grand County, where he resided until his death.

JOTTING BY THE WAY

My mind has been wandering backwards
    Far back to the land of my birth
When tidings first reached us that angels
    Again had come back to the earth
And brought the glad news that Jehovah
    His latter day work had begun
And brought back the priesthood to Joseph
    This was in eighteen thirty-one

With joy we read the glad tidings
    That God by his servants had sent
And gave them a home and a welcome
    While they preached to the people repent
And as we believed in the message
    We down to the water did go
To follow the steps of our Savior
    This was in eighteen thirty-two

We next up to Kirtland did gather
    The Saints then in numbers were few
But Joseph the Prophet was with us
    And our hearts were all loyal and true
He taught us that if we were faithful
    Triumphant we always would be
Our enemies never would conquer
    This was in eighteen thirty-three

The Elders were sent to the nations
    To spread the glad tidings abroad
And the Saints were beginning to gather
    To build up the Kingdom of God
It was then we were taught by the Prophet
    That God would require of our store
A tithing to build up the Kingdom
    This was in eighteen thirty-four

He taught us to love one another
    And never be haughty or vain
And leave off our pride and contention
    And from all bad habits refrain
We then to Gods name built a temple
    And all for his blessings and strive
And in it received our annointing
    This was in eighteen thirty-five

We then were endowed with his spirit
    The gifts to the Saints were restored
And many received revelation
    While the tidings were scattered abroad
The Saints were increasing in number
    But Joseph with others did fix
To strengthen the stake in Missouri
    This was in eighteen thirty-six

Our enemies gathered around us
    Deserters arose in our band
The Prophet with many more left us
    For Missouri our fair promised land
With the poor Saints we soon followed after
    By mobs from our homes we were driven
We traveled through sickness and sorrow
    This was in eighteen thirty-seven

We next found ourselves left at Springfield
    To care for the sick and the dead
While many continued their journey
    Altho without money or bread
But God gave us friends in our troubles
    Who watched with us early and late
Until we had from sickness recovered
    This was in eighteen thirty-eight

Then the Saints from Missouri were driven
    From all their possessions to roam
And the leaders had crossed o'er the river
    At Commerce to find a new home
Then again we were traveling westward
    To finish our former design
To dwell with the Saints and the Prophet
    This was in eighteen thirty-nine

At Commerce the Saints then did gather
    To build up the city Nauvoo
On the banks of the great Mississippi
    A beautiful city soon grew
For the Saints that were scattered did rally
    To build them new homes soon begun
For awhile they grew rich and did prosper
    This was in eighteen forty-one

We then built a town called it Ramus
    (A branch) twenty from Nauvoo
Where often we met with the Prophet
    Who taught us some things that were new
It was there that we learned the great secret
    That then was revealed to but few
Many wives we should marry if faithful
    This was in eighteen forty-two

Dissenters soon sprang up among us
    Like Judas their prophet betrayed
Among them were those he had trusted
    And placed in high places to lead
They scattered the seed of dissension
    But soon from our midst they did flee
To stir up the ire of the gentiles
    This was in eighteen forty-three

We again built a temple at Nauvoo
    By toil it was finished at last
But traitors and mobs gathered round us
    And the Prophet in prison was cast
Then Joseph and Hyrum were murdered
    Their blood stained the Carthage Jail floor
To come up in judgement against them
    This was in eighteen forty-four

Then our enemies poured in the city
    To pillage and plunder and rob
And many crossed over the river
    And left everything to the mob
Then Brigham was chosen our leader
    As the mob were determined to drive
With a few he crossed over the river
    This was in eighteen forty-five.

And many were left unprotected
    By the mob they were sorely oppressed
But they kept crossing over the river
    To find a new home in the west
At Kanesville and Old Winter Quarters
    They stopped and for winter did fix
In the Spring to continue their journey
    This was in eighteen forty-six

The Saints still remaining at Nauvoo
    Were leaving as fast as they could
To follow their friends to the mountains
    When they could get clothing and food
They scattered about in the country
    In winter by mob they were driven
To find a new home in the mountains
    This was in eighteen forty-seven

The traitors set fire to the temple
    Which quickly burned down to the ground
To serve as a witness against them
    In the day when the trumpet shall sound
But the few that remained in the city
    As the seasons was getting so late
Concluded to winter at Nauvoo
    This was in eighteen forty-eight

When I think of the sad desolation
    We met with in with in pausing around
The beautiful city in ruins
    The temple burned down to the ground
The Prophet and patriarch murdered
    Destruction before and behind
The Saints driven out on the desert
    It was thus in eighteen forty-nine

In the spring we moved forward to Kanesville
    But found them in sorrow and gloom
The cholera swept through the country
    And many went down to the tomb
But we toiled on through sickness and sorrow
    Till the time of departure had come
To follow our friends to the mountains
    In eighteen fifty-one

When our long weary journey was over
    Our trials of travel was passed
We had reached our dear home in the mountains
    To dwell with our brethern at last
Since twenty-nine years we have labored
    In building up Zions stronghold
In the year eighteen hundred and eighty
    The church is just fifty years old

And where are those brave valient heroes
    Who have followed their leader so long
And found the good fight for the kingdom
    When the battle was raging so strong
A few are remaining amongst us
    The most of them sleep by the way
They have fallen brave martyrs of Jesus
    To come forth in the great coming day

It soon will be my turn to follow
    And lie down a season to rest
To arise with the Saints and the Prophet
    In that far brighter land of the blest
Then I'll claim the bright promise he gave me
    With hands on my head long ago
A kingdom a crown when I'd finished
    The work I on earth had to do.

MY MOTHER

Oh how my heart yearns for a Mother's carresses
As when in my childhood by sickness laid low
When she swept my wan face with her dark silver tresses
And printed a kiss on my feverish brow
How firm and untiring she watched by my pillow
Till the long weary night with it's shadow had flown
And the day God ascended o'er mountain and billow
And releaved her night vigils so patiently borne

How kind was her accents, how gentle her chiding
How sweet was her smile and how fervant her prayer
Her love so unselfish so pure and abiding
How patient her toiling how watchful her care
The love of a mother abideth forever
To cling to the heart when all other have flown
In all of earth's trials forget it no, never
No love like a Mother's love ever was known

PRAYER

We thank thee Oh God for the spring time
That spreads the green leaves on the trees
And scatters bright verdure around us
And fragrance on each swelling breeze

We thank thee for beautiful summer
That scatters the flowers on the plain
And brings gentle zeffers to fan us
And gives us bright sunshine and rain

We thank thee for fruit laden autumn
The season of harvest and toil
When we lay up in store all the riches
We have gained by the fruits of the soil

We thank thee for stern hoary winter
The season that nature must steep
And lay up the snow in the mountains
That again we a harvest may reap

We thank thee that Thou hast provided
A place for they children to hide
While the scourges pass over the nations
Who will not thy counsel abide

We thank thee for every blessing
So bounteously scattered around
Oh may we in meekness receive them
And serving thee ever be found

THE SURPRISE PARTY

'Tis pleasant to meet with our sisters and brothers
And friends for awhile to converse with each other
To throw off all cares and be children again
For awhile to let pleasure and happiness reign
To pass off an evening in joke or in song
Or in innocent sport that will make the heart young
To dance or to sing and to feast when we will
There is pleasure about it I dearly love still

Though time has made wrinkles that makes me less fair
And snowflakes are scattered all over my hair
Tho my sight may be dim and my limbs growing cold
Yet the heart is still young when the body is old
Then away with dull care let us live while we live
And enjoy every pleasure life to us can give
Let us toil when we should bear our sorrow and pain
But often find time to be children again

MOTHER'S BIRTHDAY

Dear Mother we are happy to meet here again
Neath the old cottage roof where so oft we have been
In pleasure and joy may the time pass away
And may it be to you a happy birthday

We have thrown away care a few moments to come
Our kindred to meet in the old cottage home
Then let us have joy while together we stay
May happiness reign on our Mother's Birthday

May pleasure and happiness fill every heart
And each in the joy of the evening take part
In the years that may come tho we've wandered away
May each one remember our Mother's birthday

REALITY

At the schoolhouse below on each Saturday night
The young folks all gather who wish to do right
To learn to be moral and honest and wise
To shun all bad habits contention and lies.

They will tell you to shun all your chums on the street
No more on the storesteps or corners to meet
But study good books and find pleasure at home
And learn to be wise when you older have grown

They will tell you to always be true to each other
Be true to yourselves to your father and mother
They will tell you to honor your parents and then
They'll be proud of their sons when they come to be men.

They will tell you to shun all contention and strife
To shun bad companions and lead a new life
To be kind to the poor and to all in distress
It will make home a Heaven it cannot do less.

They will tell the young ladies to ever be true
Be faithful and kind in whatever you do
Do in actions and words all the good that you can
And you'll get for a husband some good honest man.

There is one thing remaining to make it complete
A schoolhouse and meeting house built on the street
They will bring the fulfillment of promise given
And you will not go far to find you a Heaven.

There are two paths before you, in one you must go
One leads to dishonor, perdition, and woe
The other will lead you to honor and fame
And among honest people an untarnished name.

THE MILLENNIUM

This world is not so bad a world
     As many people take it
'Tis just as good and just as bad
     As we poor mortals make it

If all the people in this world
     Would do unto each other
As each would like to have them do
     And treat each like a brother

This world would then be full of joy
     And sorrow would be banished
And hatred would be turned to love
     And all our troubles vanished

The time that now is spent in crime
     Would then be spent in labor
And each one then would be as rich
     And happy as his neighbor

The time that's spent in hunting crime
     The time that's spent to do it
The time that's spent to punish the crime
     And that's wasted through it

If it was spent in honest toil
     And doing good to others
We'd all be rich and all be wise
     And live like honest brothers

One half the world now follow crime
     For wealth or pride or passion
The other half with honest toil
     Support them in that fashion

It will be thus until the day
     Of final separation
The wicked then will be destroyed
     The righteous rule the nation.

TIME IS PRECIOUS

Time is precious use it wisely
Idle not the hours away
Years are made of little moments
Grasp and use them while you may
Time is fleeting every moment
Let some noble deed be done
When 'tis past 'tis gone forever
Years are flying one by one

Every moment there is something
That your hands may find to do
That will lighten someone's burden
And a blessing bring to you
There are always those around you
That may need your help or care
Sinking hearts are always near you
For the poor are everywhere

Feed the hungry, clothe the needy
Kindness to the poor impart
Gentle words that cost you nothing
Often raise the sinking heart
Never falter in well doing
Labor with your hands and brain
Kind words spoken to the erring
Sometimes brings them back again

When the years of life are numbered
And your sun is nearly set
Leave no stains in life behind you
That will cause you sad regreat

MOAB

Another Pioneer Summoned

Father George W. Johnson, called to his rest in the great Beyond Jan. 25th. Slowly but surely those old pioneers leave us. On Jan. 22, Elder George W. Johnson, one of the earliest members in the Church, passed to the other side. Brother Johnson was one of those characters that reminded one of the saying "Still waters run deep." A man of not many words, but apparently a great thinker; to know him was to become interested in him, which led to deep respect. His entire aim in life apparently was to do good to his fellow man, for him to be in possession of anything that was good, seemed to fill him with a determination to share or impart it to others. Father Johnson leaves a large family of many sons and daughters, some who have filled important positions in our State, and have commanded the respect of those people who desire to see truth prosper. The funeral was held at the ward meeting house on the 24th. Many of his relatives being present. Among them were his seven sons who acted as pallbearers.

WILLIAM DERBY JOHNSON

William Derby Johnson was born on October 27th 1824, in Pomphret, Chautauqua, New York. He was the 14th child of Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson.

Not much is told of the early childhood of William Derby Johnson Sr. except that he moved from place to place with his parents and the large family. He lived a normal average life of a boy of that day and age.

His mother joined the church when he was a very small lad and moved to Kirtland, Ohio with his mother in April 1833 when he was only 10 years old. He was baptized there by Samuel Bent on April 9th, 1836. After stopping several years in Springfield, Illinois, they moved to Nauvoo.

They went west with the Exodus in 1846 but returned and came in 1849. Because his father did not join the church at the time his mother did, there was quite a bit of confusion and difficulties in the home, and a large family to support. They stopped in Kanesville, where they lived for several years, before coming to Utah.

In 1848, he signed a petition to Pottawotamie County, Iowa, to secure a Postoffice in that county.

Sometime near 1847, he met Jane Cadwalledar Brown, who was the daughter of Abia William Brown and Abby Cadwalleger. She was born in Birmingham, Miami County, Ohio on 5th June 1832. There is very little known of her early childhood days, her parents were Quakers, and she was a quaint sweet little Quaker girl, very small real black hair and eyes. William Derby fell in love with her and they were married on the 9th November 1848, probably in Nauvoo, when she was just 16 years old and he was 24.

He adored her, she was his queen all his life. Nothing was ever too good for her, he got her the best of everything, the finest, most convenient homes thatmoney could buy and the best that could be built at that time, and nearly always had hired help for her.

In 1848 while Joseph E. Johnson (a brother) was in Kanesville, Iowa; he opened and operated a General Merchandise Store as well as his printing store and medicine making and sales. When Joseph E. Johnson was gone on other pioneering explorations and journeys and business with the Indians, William Derby Johnson Sr. was left in charge of the business. If Joseph E. Johnson was gone long he sent letters of orders and couneil to William Derby Johnson Sr. his brother, also Deputy Postmaster.

Where ever William Derby Johnson Sr. settled he carried on with the making of medicines with herbs etc. as well as merchandising.

When Joseph E. Johnson moved to Wood River, William Derby Johnson Sr. was making medicine there too. His wife, Jane at this time had a streak of ill health. Joseph E. Johnson took charge of doctoring her as well as making and giving her medicine to her.

They came to Utah in 1861 and settled in Salt Lake City, where they built their first home and store, which was located on the spot that the Union Pacific Depot now stands. It seems that wherever he went he had a store where he sold some sort of merchandise. He had operated a store in Florence, Nebraska, for a year prior to his coming to the Salt Lake Valley. He was also the postmaster in Florence for two years.

The home they built was of adobe structure which was built on a ten acre plot. During his life while in the mercantile business he made trunks and sold them, he sold such things as drugs medicine (much of it made at home) handled jewelry and bakery goods (pies and cakes and bread were by Jane).

They also owned a large herd of dairy cows, which they milked by hand. It was the duty of two of their children (Girls) to milk and make fifty lbs of cheese each day. They didn't do all the work themselves, but over saw it all. They often had Indians work for them.

In the fall of 1870 they sold the Salt Lake place and moved to St. George, Utah and from there they moved east to what was to become Johnson, Utah. This town was named Johnson for William Derby Johnson and his brothers Joel, Joseph, George W. and Benjamin F. who came there intending to make a regular Johnson town there. Pres. Brigham Young had advised them to settle this place which had been called Hay Canyon before that time a very nice place. Sixtus E. Johnson a nephew of William Derby was appointed as Jr. Supervisor there, till he moved to Arizona, about 1889. He was presiding priest and had no counselors. William Derby's wife Jane served as Relief Society President there in April 19th, 1877. William Derby made some very fine improvements, had a fine garden, flowers, orchard, park, fish pond and everything in first class condition.

While the family were living in Johnson his family tell of his fish pond and ducks. William Derby was so fond of his fish he even had names for many of them, as he would throw feed to them and call them by name they'd swim up to get the food. His children said one of his peculari-ties was at meal time, he insisted on eating his desert, pie or cake at the beginning of his meal, as he always said if he had to leave off anything it would be the potatoes and gravy, and not the cake. His family also said a long sincere prayer, and when the children were hungry this seemed long indeed, but they always knew that when he came to the part of asking the blessing on the potatoes and gravy, that the prayer was about over.

The Johnson Ward was not fully organized until 7th August 1877, a part of the Kanab Stake. It was a small ward and when most of the Johnson Brothers and their families went to Mexico the little ward soon fell apart and was disorganized on the 8th June 1901. However some of the old land marks are still there.

William Derby went to Arizona in 1888 and later in 1889 moved on to Diaz, Mexico.

A letter appearing in the Desert News (15 Jan. 1889) says: Bishop Peter A. Lofgreen of St. David Ward in Graham Co., Arizona, in the St. Joseph Stake that William Derby was one of the counselors at that time. A note in church history relates that William Derby was re-baptized 13th, August 1881, by his son William Derby Jr. and was re-confirmed that day by him. William Derby Jr. went to Mexico in the early 1880's to live and was made bishop of the Diaz Chihuahua County, Mexico ward in 1886.

William Derby Sr. went to settle in Colonia Diaz, Chihuahua County Mexico where his son lived in 1889 or 1890. His wife sold their property for 50.00 dollars and joined him there, where they built a fine home (his notes Diaz, Mexico, 21st September 1890)) the finest home in the colony.

In the winter of 1887-88 a factory was established by Bishop William Derby Sr. and several thousand pounds of candy were made from Mexican sugar. By 1894 a properous candy business was reported.

He was a quiet, stern man and complied with his wife's every wish, one of which was that he did not go into polygamy though he did have one other girl sealed to him, he never lived with anyone except his beloved wife Jane. They were a very energetic couple and very generous. No one ever went hungry or without a bed around him. He was very humble man and never wanted his good deeds talked about at all.

Both he and his wife were very quiet, ambitious and busy at all times. He made trunks, letter boxes, small chests which he sold and gave many to the relatives. He also did much mixing of herbs and making medicines and remedies for people, also drugs which he sold. As he once owned and operated a store and drug department.

On May 5th William Derby Sr. gave a talk and told the origin of May Day from the Bible. They always celebrated May 5th as May Day. They went out in the grove near Diaz, with lunches and had fun with programs. William Derby was very sociable would go around to the different tables of lunch to visit and get a bit of what ever any one else had different from his own lunch. The talk was very interesting to all.

An interesting experience he tells while coming from Council Bluffs, Iowa, with a load of merchandise for his store either in Salt Lake or Parowan. He had left Council Bluff traveling along the dirt road, it was mid-day when he came across a man walking along the road. William Derby stopped and the man climbed up beside him. The stranger said to him, you are planning on camping at this certain spot to-night and he told William Derby not to camp there as he had planned to, but to change his plans as there would be trouble with the Indians that night. He also gave him some other advice. The stranger got down from the wagon, he bid him good day. He then turned back to the stranger to inquire as to his name or where he had come from or where he was going, but to his amazement he was no where in sight. He had disappeared as suddenly as he had come. Later he found out that the very spot he had planned to camp himself that night, but following the stranger's advice had camped elsewhere. The immigrants who had camped there that night were all slaughtered and burned out by the Indians.

William Derby Sr. was ordained a High Priest in Diaz, Mexico on 27th March 1894. He was ordained a Patriarch the 22nd December 1895 by Francis M. Lymon in Colonial Diaz, Mexico. He was given a most wonderful patriarchal blessing by John Smith on 4th March 1844. The original copy is in family.

Carl A. Fredrickson was a mill right by trade. He worked out his apprenticeship in Germany. He went to Mexico where he met William Derby Sr. and built him a home. William was a man who loved beautiful flowers, trees and home surroundings, the school was across the street from his home, he often got after the children for getting in his flowers, as they would come to his place for drinks of water, from the outdoor pump and well.

William Derby was a very honest man and his friends knew it when Mr. Fredrickson built his home he did not even take a note for his expenses, and it was all paid to him. He had a South and East door to his home as it was built on a corner lot. He adored his wife, treated her wonderful and always hired girls to help her out with the house and large family.

William Derby Johnson Sr. was a leader in building up the communities in which he lived and tended strictly to his own business. He was in the lead when it came to helping with church, building, paid his tithing and church donations very faithfully, yet they never wanted to be called on to speak in church. He taught his family to be strictly honest and kept his word always. He was very strict about being on time and when he told his children to do a thing, they knew he really meant it.

He died in Colonial Diaz, Chihuahua, Mexico on 13th April 1896 of stoppage of the kidneys and old age, at the age of 72. Everyone in the town was at his funeral. He was buried in Diaz, Mexico.

William Derby Johnson Sr. expressed the desire that he did not want to be buried in a casket covered with cloth, as he wanted a stained wood casket. But when he died they were unable to find such a casket or wood to take a stain; so they covered it with a black velvet.

ESTHER MELETA JOHNSON LEBARON

Esther Meleta Johnson was born January 12th, 1828 (her father's birthday) at Pomphret, Chautauqua County, New York. The fifteenth child of Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson. She was next to the youngest of sixteen children born to this couple, in typical pioneer surroundings. Her parents were born in Mass. Their first son was born at Grafton, Mass. This family began a series of long treks and short stops. The next stop at Northbourough, Mass. Then to Royalton, Mass. Next to Westford, Vermont. They stayed at Westford for seven years. Her father cleared timber from farm land, built cabins for new settlers then moved to Pomphret. Here all their food, clothing were produced by their own hands. Flax was grown and made into clothing. Butter and cheese was made and stored for winter. Lye was made from ashes for making soap, candles were made for light. The children helped their father pile and burn the brush. When the ground was ready they dropped the seed. Nuts and wild fruits were gathered and prepared for winter. It would be very interesting to peek into their rustic, pioneer home and watch them spend the evening hours around the winter fire after the toil of a busy day.

When the family moved to Pomphret, where they lived longer than any other home. It was a brown cottage with several rooms, a kitchen with a fireplace with a pot of appetizing food.

Esther's mother took her family to the Presbyterian Church where the children learned to read the bible. When Esther Meleta was only four years old the family first heard about the new Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Her mother Julia and all the children over eighteen years of age were baptized. Later the rest of the family (with the exception of the Father Ezekiel and baby Elmer Wood) were baptized into the church. This family joined the church in just one year after its organization, June 1st, 1831. When Esther was still a child she moved with her family to Kirtland, Ohio and became acquainted with the Prophet Joseph Smith.

They operated a sawmill and burned brick and made shingles for the Temple building. It was here that two sister's Nancy and Susan, and two brothers Seth and David took sick with consumption and died within a few years. They had all worked on the Temple. Mother Julia and older sisters, Elmera, Delcina, Mary Ellen and an adopted sister Mary Ann Hales, did sewing and making hats, a Temple project.

The Prophet often stayed at their home. He married Esther's sister, Almera, the first plural marriage in the Church. About this time Esther's parents separated because her father did not join the church. Esther loved her father and lived with him to make a home for him.

The summer of 1840, Esther's mother Julia and family moved from Springfield, their goal was Nauvoo which was accepted as the gathering place of the saints. It was a one hundred mile trek across the prairies, it was a beautiful journey, flowers and greenery along the way. Mother Julia hoped that her family could make a settlement all their own. Brother Joel knew of a place called Perkins about twenty miles from Nauvoo and Julia decided it was just the right place. A tiny hamlet was laid out and named Ramus. Esther Meleta's family became very active in building of Nauvoo and Ramus, being postmaster and other business such as print shops and drug stores. They had sawmills and brick yards and carpenters to help build the beautiful Nauvoo Temple. Esther's brother Joseph E. built a house for Mother Julia. She stayed at times with Joseph E. When Esther Meleta was seventeen years of age she was married to David Tully LeBaron March28, 1844. David was twenty-two at the time, five years her senior. He was born November 23, 1822 at Leroy, Gennessee County, New York. He was the son of Lydia Batchelder and David LeBaron. David's father died when he was seven years old. As a child David was interested in sports, such as swimming, hunting, boating and fishing. He heard the gospel message and joined the church in his youth and joined the saints in Kirtland and Nauvoo. David was well acquainted with the Prophet Joseph Smith. He gave him money at times. Being a boatman had taken the Prophet up and down the river when his enemies were after him.

The days of tribulation were approaching, just as the Prophet so often told us, so it came to pass. The mob with all their power, they began to make a party strong enough to destroy the Prophet.

Esther Meleta was present at the meeting at Nauvoo when the garment was presented to the church. The Prophet held it up before them and siad it was the exact pattern of the one the angel showed him, and was called "The Garment of the Holy Priesthood," and must be worn all through life, and would be a protection to them against all physical and spiritual dangers if they were always faithful to the covenants they made with the Lord. He explained all the features pertaining to it, and told them it should never be changed from that pattern. She was so impressed that she made union suits for her children to wear.

The Prophet Joseph was often in our homes, sometimes over night. Many of the principles of the gospel were discussed at their fireside or table. Mother Julia as an expert seamstress made a suit of clothes for the Prophet Joseph.

Esther Meleta and her family was in deep mourning at the Martyrdom of the Prophet Joseph and Brother Hyrum. He was a member of their family and their friend. This caused a great break up of the beautiful Nauvoo. Arrangement must be made to care for the Prophet Joseph's property. Esther's Brother Benjamin was in charge of the Mansion House, and started a wagon making in the basement.

Esther and David was assistants to Brother George W. as caretaker of the sacred Nauvoo Temple, they lived in the Mansion House and witnessed the burning of the Beautiful Temple and the key was in their possession.

Esther was at the meeting in August 1844, when Brigham Young was transfigured before the audience. She said Sidney Rigdon had spoken long and tried to convince the people that he was the rightful leader of the Church, until they were tired and disgusted. When Brigham arose and began to speak, he was changed so that he looked exactly like Joseph, and his voice and manner of speech was the same so when the saints saw this change there was no doubt as to who should lead the Church, viz. the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles with Brigham Young as its President.

Esther's father was still living apart from Mother Julia and he still resisted joining the Church. He was friendly with the people and battled for them during the final days at Nauvoo. Through it all he never accepted the gospel message. The cruel death of the Prophet now brought a new feeling and spirit over him. He greatly sorrowed that he had ever been his enemy. He cursed his murderers and would gladly have assisted in bringing them to justice and this feeling never left him. The saints were being persecuted in many ways being forced to leave. Ezekiel learned the mob was marching in a sneak attack, took his double barreled shotgun which he called "Old Bess" stood behind a tree and ordered them to halt. He defied their entrance. They tried another entrance but Ezekiel was there and stopped them. This caused a delay for the saints, the mob held a parley and withdrew. Not a shot was fired. As his family was now moving west he lived with his daughter Esther and David LeBaron and son George W. Father Ezekiel was recognized by his enemies, some of the militia gave him a terrific beating which he never recovered. Before his death he had ceased the use of ardent spirits. He knew the Gospel was true and had asked for baptism, but his sudden death deprived him of the blessing. He died January 13, 1848 at his daughter's home in Nauvoo, Illinois. President Wilford Woodruff said he was one of the first martyrs of the Church. (This story of Ezekiel turning the mob is told in the previous histories.)

David and Esther and others of the family left Nauvoo stopping at Council Bluffs, Iowa. Mother Julia lived much of the time with Joseph but she had her own home. At times she stayed with the LeBarons. Some of her children lived in the vicinity, Julia and Almon W. Babbitt, Delcena D. Sherman (Lynan R. had died and was buried in Kirtland), William D. and Jane, and Reuben and Almere Barton. Almera and Reuben parted company.

Mother Julia suffered severely some weeks before her death May 30th, 1853 in Council Bluffs, Iowa. She was truly a matriarch, but a benevolent one, the entire family was under her sway. She has gone to receive the crown that was prepared for her.

Esther and David T. and family came to Utah in 1852. He took part in the activities of the people when Johnston's Army came to Utah, and was a helper whenever and wherever his help was needed in those trying times. The family went south and were among the first settlers of Santaquin, and lived at Payson and Spring Lake and returned to Salt Lake about 1857 making their home in the 15th Ward. "In those days they had to make use of all the edible plants and animals, as well as what we had in the way of clothing and other things. One of Esther's greatest desires was that her children should have an education and she did all she could. Many nights she would stay up very late mending and fixing their clothing over, that they might be neat and clean as possible to attend school and church.

In January 1874 Esther Meleta went to spend her birthday at Spring Lake with her Brother Benjamin. Her birthday was the 12th of January, which was also the centennial anniversay of their father's birth, his marriage, and his death. They spent an enjoyable and happy time together, but the clasp of hand, the adieu of this dearest sister on leaving, was the last. She sickened on her return home, lingered in weakness until March 7th, and while reclining in the arms of her son fell quietly asleep in death. Death March 15th, 1876 of pneumonia, in spite of tender care, nursing faith and prayers. She was buried in the Salt Lake Cemetary. The youngest of the children was 4 years, the oldest was married. They helped with the children, all feeling keenly the absence and loving care of their mother in the home.

THEIR CHILDREN

1. Julia Ann, born 28 March, 1846, at Macedonia, Illinois; died young.

Each of these children who lived and married has descendants in Canada, Mexico and United States.

AMOS PARTRIDGE JOHNSON

Amos Partridge Johnson was born 15th January 1829 at Pomphret, Chautauqua County, New York. He was the sixteenth child and the ninth son of Ezekiel and Julia Hills Johnson.

Amos grew up in the same surroundings as his brothers and sisters. The lovely wooded forest surrounded by Lake Cassadaga that flowed into Lake Erie.

It was a well established home, the brown cottage, the orchard, and field and wild wood, the garden, the barn and the well and spring, the brick yard, the maple trees were tapped for syrup. Flax was raised for spinning and weaving for their clothes. Apples, fruits and nuts gathered for winter. Cheese making and candles and soap to be made.

The kitchen fireplace was a gathering place when the days work was done with a pot of hulled corn.

This was a well knit, affectionate family. The mother was cherished and loved, the father was well spoken of and respected.

When the family heard the gospel and were baptized they moved to Kirtland, Ohio where they helped with the Temple building. The family became intimate with the Prophet Joseph Smith who became a member of the family as he was married to Amos's sister Almera, as his plural wife.

When the saints were forced to leave Kirtland, they moved west to a place twenty miles from Nauvoo called Ramus (later Macedonia). Again this family helped to build the Nauvoo Temple. The mother and daughters made hats and other sewing to help.

While living at Ramus the family sorrowed at the death of Brother Amos, who was the baby and pet, bright and loveable, who had always been delicate and had suffered from sciatic rheumatism or rheumatic fever. He passed away on May 9th, 1848 in his fourteen year. Buried at Ramus, Illinois.

In the "J.E.J. Book" Trail to Sundown opposite the AUTHOR'S FOREWORD are these paragraphs:

ABOUT THE EZEKIEL PORTRAIT

It was related by his daughter Rosemary the JEJ, reading one day in some Civil War material, came upon the portrait of Wm. H. Seward, Secretary of State in Lincoln's cabinet. He exclaimed upon its resemblance to his father, Ezekiel, saying that it was a startling likeness, more like his father than any picture he had ever seen.

Rosemary's daughter Maude recalled this at a reunion of the Johnson Family when the question was raised as to the availability of an Ezekiel portrait for genealogical records. Maude discussed the problems and the story with her sculptor husband, Avard Fairbanks.

Avard studied the Seward portrait, then examined all the pictures of Ezekiel's descendants available to him, noting the characteristics that persisted from generation to generation, sketched from life when practicable and so developed a composite portrait which we can accept with confidence as a close likeness of Ezekiel.

Deep appreciation to Avard Fairbanks is here expressed in behalf of the family of Ezekiel Johnson for the time, talent and effort expended in this labor of love.

The Author
(Rufus D. Johnson)

I have heard a rumor that somewhere somebody has a photographic portrait of Ezekiel. If it is true, nobody has come forward with it. I am skeptical that such exists. Although it is not impossible, I believe it to be highly improbable. It is to be remembered that photography began with the Daguerreotype process which was made practical in 1839-in France. Ezekiel was probably 66 years old; he died in 1848. America did not see the process before a year later, and only in the East Coast cities, almost certainly not in the obscure frontier settlement of Nauvoo, Illionis, where Ezekiel was living through those years. So it would have to be in this narrow window of time that such a picture was made by an itinerant Daguerreotyper with the courage and hardihood to brave the frontier with the cumbersome paraphernalia required, with the prospect of a rather paltry return for his efforts and crafts. About 1853 at Council Bluffs Julia and her granddaughter Mary were Daguerreotyped; in 1852 JEJ sat for his likeness in Washington, D.C., but I have not been able to unearth anything of the kind of any earlier date. Therefore, until a verifiable portrait of Ezekiel turns up, I am pleased to accept the Avard Fairbanks composite construction portrait as a more nearly authentic likeness of Ezekiel than any we could acquire in any other way.

Although we must concede that it is somewhat conjectural, the conjecture is solidly two-footed. On the one foot we have the testimony of Joseph that the portrait of Seward most strikingly resembled Ezekiel; on the other, we have the unimpugnable skills and eminence of Avard in his art, together with the motivation and opportunities that come from having a wife and twelve sons who are all descendants of Ezekiel, with access to uncles and cousins of various degrees of relationship as models for study and analysis of their persistent facial heritages.

There, I encourage you to use the Fairbanks portrait on your forthcoming publication - along with the explanation of how it was derived - as an acceptable likeness of Ezekiel in the prime of his life, for genealogical applications. Using it is entirely optional with anybody. It is not proposed as an official portrait, although as far as I am concerned, I believe it qualifies, and should be incorporated in the BIG BOOK. It can then be copied for any use by photography, reduced for Books of Remembrance, enlarged for other purpose. Any one who objects to its presence in the book is at perfect liberty to remove it.

Now that I have completed this divergent assignment I will get back to JEJ's biography for you.

Sincerely yours,

C. Ellis Johnson
